

MR. HARRINGTON WINS

Verdicts for $2000 Against D. A. Long for Libel

Jury Returned Sealed Verdicts Last Evening — Suit Growing Out of Milk Wagon Accident in Pawtucketville on Trial Today

The jury in the cases of John H. Harrington vs. Dennis A. Long, for libel, this morning announced two verdicts, awarding the sum of $1500 in one case and $500 in the other, both aggregating $2000.

The jury retired about 10.45 o'clock yesterday forenoon and returned a sealed verdict shortly after 7 o'clock last evening. The verdict was opened and announced at the opening of court this morning.

Jury Goes to Charlestown

A jury was empaneled in the cases of William H. Sexton and Morris O'Brien, for personal injuries, against the Boston Elevated company. The men employed as blacksmith and helper, respectively, in the repair shop of the defendant company in Charlestown at the time of the accident, and while in the employ of the company and in the exercise of due care they, catching their hands, causing in one case the loss of two fingers and in the other the loss of one finger. P. Hunt of Boston and John J. Harvey of Lowell appear for the plaintiffs, and Lawrence Sears of Boston for the defendant. The jury upon being empaneled was taken to Charlestown for a view of the premises.

Pawtucketville Accident Case

The case of Fred M. Reed, a minor, through his father, Henry B. Reed, and O'Brien, for personal injuries, against the Boston & Northern street railway was then opened. The plaintiffs claim that on the morning of November 15, 1907, while the boy was driving his father's milk wagon along Mammoth road, and was turning out of the car tracks he was run into from behind by an electric car in such a manner as to drive the wagon into a telegraph pole with force sufficient to cause the wagon to stand against the pole in a perpendicular position. The boy brings suit for personal injuries while the father sues for the injuries to the horse and wagon. F. B. Garland appears for the plaintiff and Trull and Wier for the defendant.

IN POLICE COURT

Several Interesting Cases Heard by Judge Hadley

There are too many cases being settled out of court, according to Judge Samuel P. Hadley of the municipal court, and this morning when Alfred Moehenger, charged with the larceny of $15 from Wilfred Blouin, announced that he had settled the complaint preferred against him, and refused to enter a plea of guilty, the court ordered the man to be remanded to trial.

The only witness heard was the complainant, and at the conclusion of his testimony Judge Hadley ordered the case continued until more witnesses could be secured.

According to the testimony offered, Blouin conducts a grocery store at 404 Moody street, and recently Moehenger called at his place of business and represented himself as an agent of the American Cash Register Co. The defendant, it is alleged, sold a cash register to the complainant, the latter giving the defendant a check for $25, and in return the defendant gave the complainant $10 in cash, the $15 being as the complainant supposed a deposit on the cash register which he was to receive.

The cash register, however, was not delivered, according to the testimony of the complainant, and while it was not brought out in the testimony that the check for $25 had been cashed, the police claim that the check was cashed.

Inasmuch as the defendant would not enter a plea of guilty in order to make a settlement, as had been suggested to the court, Judge Hadley ordered the case continued till Saturday.

Arrested in Dover

Antonio Trapatias was charged with the larceny of an overcoat, watch and pair of shoes belonging to Costas Exarhos, the alleged larceny having occurred on October 13. The defendant entered a plea of not guilty despite the fact that the latter admitted that the coat in question had been found in his room.

According to the testimony offered by the complainant, the goods were taken out of his room at 1 Cottage street. He learned that the defendant, whom he claimed to know, took the articles, had gone to Dover, N. H., and reporting the matter to the police the latter sent Special Officer John Regis to Dover and Regis located Trapatias and going to his room found the overcoat, but failed to find the watch and shoes.

The defendant informed the court that a man had given him the coat and that he knew nothing about the watch and shoes.

Case Again Continued

The case of John H. Brady, charged with breaking and entering and larceny of two coats from the store of Peter H. Donohoe in Church street, was called, but continued until Thursday, the prisoner being held under $500 bonds.

Suspended Sentence

Jasper Weth is a heavy drinker, according to the testimony of his wife. She claims that he starts drinking Saturday, continues to do the same on Sunday and then on Monday he has to sleep it off. She says that she does not receive one cent of his pay. Despite the fact that she entered a complaint against him and a trial against him she recently fainted when the court announced to the husband that he was sentenced to two months in jail, the sentence to be suspended and he to be placed in the hands of the probation officer for one year. She did not understand the meaning of the suspension.

Sent to the Farm

Ferdinand Drake, a good looking man who is "down in his luck" admitted that he was a vagrant—a person without a home or visible means of support. The court asked the man if he did not have any employment or means of employment and the defendant said that he was a shoemaker, but was unable to receive employment. Owing to the man's apparent intelligence Judge Hadley stated that he did not like to send the prisoner away as a vagrant, but the lack of ambition shown by the man and his reticence in talking about himself caused the court to carry out the wishes of the man. Drake asked to be sent to the state farm for the winter and his request was granted.

Other Offenders

Patrick B. McCarthy was charged with drunkenness and a fine of $5 imposed. Annie Donahue was sentenced to two months in jail.

SKETCH SHOWING HOW EUGENE B. ELY FLEW FROM THE DECK OF THE CRUISER BIRMINGHAM IN A CURTISS BIPLANE

The dotted line shows the course of the flight, the aeroplane gliding off the bow of the ship, plunging down to the water, then rising in successful flight.

Eugene B. Ely Makes First Flight From Deck of Ship

FORT MONROE, Va., Nov. 15.—

Aerial navigation proved yesterday that it is a factor to be dealt with in the naval tactics of the future. From Hampton Roads, where 45 years ago the first ironclad relegated to the back waters in one battle all the wooden navies of the world, Eugene B. Ely rose from the deck of the cruiser Birmingham in a Curtiss biplane and, skimming across the lower end of Chesapeake bay landed on the shore opposite this fort, five miles away. Weather conditions were unfavorable for flying. Intermittent rain throughout the day, several small hail showers and a continuous fog almost compelled the aviator to postpone his attempt. But he was determined to prove, as he said afterwards, that he could accomplish more than had been expected of him. Furthermore, he did not wait for the Birmingham to get into motion, which would have aided him greatly in rising, but seizing an opportune moment between showers, he was off before those on the ship were aware that he was ready for his flight, the first of its kind the world has ever seen.

Ely proved yesterday that it is possible to fly safely from a ship and after having done this, asserted with emphasis that it would be an easy matter for an aeroplane to alight on a vessel, either while the latter was moving or standing still.

Naval experts who witnessed the flight expressed their belief that the navies of the world in the future must take the aeroplane into consideration.

Captain Washington I. Chambers, who has been detailed by the navy department as chairman of a board for aeronautical investigation, declared that the flight was more impressive than he had expected and he is confident that the time is near when all scout cruisers will be equipped with a number of aeroplanes. They would not be for all battleship use, he believed, but for supplementary scout work in connection with navy cruisers.

"When Mr. Ely flew with such ease from a standing ship," he said, "it showed beyond doubt that his task would have been simpler if the Birmingham had been moving." Startling out from the Norfolk navy yard at 11.30 o'clock yesterday morning on the Birmingham, closely followed by the swift greyhounds of the navy, the two torpedo boat destroyers Roe and Terry and by the torpedo boats Badley and Stirlingham, it was fully four hours later before Ely's machine was working to his full satisfaction.

The Birmingham was lying in the Roads only a quarter of a mile from the Hotel Chamberlain, but in making his flight to Willoughby's point, Ely flew in a curve, so that although the exact distance could not be determined, it was believed he covered almost five miles.

It was 3.16 o'clock when he took the air. Five minutes later he was safe on the solid soil of Virginia a few miles north of Norfolk. Brought back on a launch and placed aboard the Roe, Mr. Ely said he was not fond of the water, but he had conquered his fears long enough to remain over it in a fog and accomplish his purpose.

When he struck the water on diving off the 83-foot platform erected on the bow of the Birmingham, a propeller blade was broken and salt water dashed into the aviator's face and goggles, so that he could not see for several minutes in which direction he was going. He had planned to take a somewhat different course from that which he actually followed and land a little further to the north. The highest altitude he attained was estimated at about 600 feet. His striking the water, he said afterwards, was due to a slight miscalculation. The damage to the propeller blade did not appreciably affect the machine.

Ely went back to Norfolk immediately after the flight and if weather conditions are favorable, will attempt today a flight over the city. Tomorrow he is away to show his prowess at Raleigh.

It is understood that Ely, by his flight yesterday, has won a $5000 prize offered by John Barry Ryan for the first flight of a mile or more from any ship to land.

Further experiments of a similar nature, it is expected, will be conducted in the near future by the navy department.

The opinion was freely expressed yesterday that the aeroplane must be taken seriously in naval warfare of the future.

FUNERALS

COUGHLIN—The funeral of Edward Coughlin, son of Edward and Winnifred, took place yesterday afternoon from the home of his parents, 634 Broadway and was largely attended. There were many beautiful floral tributes, including a large pillow inscribed "Good Bye, Teddie," from the parents; spray of chrysanthemums, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Walker; spray of chrysanthemums inscribed "Teddie," from Aunt Ann; spray of pinks from Uncle Joe. Burial was in St. Patrick's cemetery in charge of Undertakers J. F. O'Donnell & Sons.

Lynn Man is Charged With Murder

SALEM, Nov. 15.—Vahan Nalbandian, the Lynn Armenian, charged with the murder of his room-mate last year, is in a serious condition in the Salem jail. His trial is set for the present term of court here, but physicians who have attended him express doubt whether he will be able to appear in court, and state that it is possible that he may not live to be tried since he was brought back from Bulgaria, to which country he fled after the alleged murder. Nalbandian has fainted rapidly and the physicians say that he is a nervous wreck.

COAL LAND CLAIMS

Pinchot to File Brief in Relation to Patents

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—President Taft, responding to the request of Gifford Pinchot, former forester of the United States, and his brother, Amos Pinchot, for permission to submit a brief on the question of issuing patents in the Cunningham Alaskan coal land claims, has informed Mr. Pinchot that he may submit such a brief, and advised him to forward it to the executive office before December 1.

Mr. Pinchot was thus informed in a letter authorized by Pres. Taft written by the secretary to the president, Charles D. Norton, and made public today. The letter is in reply to the recent communication to the president from Mr. Pinchot and his brother, expressing fear that the interior department will recommend the patenting of the Cunningham claims. Following is the text of the letter.

Nov. 9, 1910.

"Gentlemen:

"I am directed by the president to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of November 7 and to reply as follows: "On the first of June last the secretary of the interior invited the attention of the president to the Cunningham coal claims, consisting of thirty-three coal entries in the Juneau land district of Alaska, of approximately 100 acres each, and suggested that in view of the unusual character of these claims and in view of the public interest relating to the disposition of these claims the president direct that no final action be taken by the general land office looking to the issuance of patents therein without first advising the president of the action contemplated. Under date of June 8, 1910, the president issued the direction recommended and on June 8, 1910, this order was communicated to the commissioner of the general land office and that official issued orders to his subordinates in accordance with this direction. The president further directs me to say that if you desire to submit a brief on the question of issuing these patents you may do so and forward the same to this office. He is not advised when the evidence will be submitted to him, but he thinks it would be well if your brief were presented before the first of December.

"Very truly yours,

(Signed) "Charles D. Norton,

"Sec'y to the President.

Mr. Pinchot's letter to President Taft and the reply of Secretary Norton constituted the only exchange of communications between the White House and the former government forester since the executive action dismissing the latter.

SEVERAL MIRACLES

Lame and Blind Visit Syrian Church in Boston

BOSTON, Nov. 15.—Drawn by stories of the several miraculous cures wrought at the little church of Our Lady of the Cedars of Mt. Lebanon, 66 Tyler street, South End, during the novena to St. Anne, which has been going on there for the past week, a large number of people visited the church last evening. The lame, blind, paralyzed and otherwise afflicted came to the little church and knelt in prayer before the shrine of the saint, repeating the prayer ordained for the occasion and at the same time, doubtless, adding one of their own.

One man, grievously afflicted with paralysis that rendered his whole right leg useless, his right leg crippled and bent, his right arm withered and disfigured and the traces of a shockingly painful written upon his face, knelt at the very back of the church and repeated the prayer many times in a half audible voice. Another man, aged and pale, whose wrinkled visage showed his suffering in all, hobbled into the church between a pair of crutches and knelt before the altar rail in prayer.

A blind man, carrying a light cane and led by a small boy, a woman whose strained facial expression and right-angled, timid movements betrayed all too plainly the fact that she was deaf, a tiny boy whose spine was crooked and whose back was pitifully hunched and twisted were also among the supplicants.

There was a man, however, who knelt in one of the front pews, a look of happiness lighting his face. Inquiry developed the fact that he was John J. Duggan of 441 Dudley street, Dorchester, and at the end of the services he was quite willing to relate how he had been cured of an affliction by making the novena.

"I was a traveling salesman," said Mr. Duggan, "and had dealt in most every line of goods. I was happy and fairly prosperous. Then, one day, suddenly, and without the slightest warning, I completely lost the use of my voice. Last Tuesday I recovered my power of speech.

"I have always been a church member, attending regularly every Sunday. I was attracted to the Maronite church

PRICE OF MEATS

Has Taken a Big Drop in Chicago and Other Cities

CHICAGO, Nov. 15.—The prices of beef and pork are falling. Within the last week the price of beef has been reduced between four and five cents a pound by the meat packers. The price of pork has declined about three cents from the price of 18 and 20 cents a week ago and wholesale meat dealers say that mutton and veal and other products of the packing houses may take a downward turn within the next few days.

"Prices of the first grades of beef have been falling for about a week," said Frank A. Froehling. They did not go off all at once, but the packing houses have been coming down about half a cent at a time until now the price of prime beef is between four and five cents lower than it was last week at this time and that of the best grades of pork are two to three cents lower. This applies of course to the finer roast beef and steaks, for the ordinary quality has not fallen off and I do not think it will."

PORK SHOWS GREAT DROP

are reflected by similar reports from local dealers. They say the decline has already begun, the wholesale price of beef having gone off on an average of 34 cent in the last week. This was regarded as significant by them, since no such price cutting has been experienced in the last year.

One of the leading dealers said that sirloin steak that had brought 24 cents a pound was now selling at 22 cents. Porterhouse steak, he said, was down three cents a pound, from 28 cents to 25 cents. Fresh pork products, however, show the greatest drop, the market dealers selling cuts for roasting at 13 cents a pound that have within a short time been bringing 22 cents. Lard is down two cents a pound, the price yesterday being 15 cents. The best grades of ham and bacon, on the contrary, show hardly any change. The dealers say that the stocks of cured meats are very light and it will naturally be some time before the increased production of hogs offsets this condition.

The market men attribute the relief from high prices to the enormous corn crop and the consequent low price in the cereal. Low prices of feed, combined with the past high prices of pork, they say, have resulted, as was to be expected, in an increased raising of hogs.

by seeing a notice of the novena, and having heard of the miraculous cures wrought by St. Anne at other places, I determined to make the novena. When I first came here I tried vainly to make Rev. Fr. Gabriel Karkemas, the pastor, understand me by means of signs, a form of communication with which the clergyman was not very well acquainted.

"As I knelt in prayer before the altar, in front of the shrine of St. Anne, I wept, as I thought of the happiness of speech, of the joy of being able to communicate with my fellow men. Being unable to talk I could not, of course, secure a place as a salesman, and in consequence my lot has been anything but an easy one. For one thing I have a large family—a wife and six children. But it is useless to talk of that now, for I am cured, and am once again able to return to my work, and win back the happiness that will soon be sweet after the miseries of the past few years.

"I came again to the novena the next night. Fr. Karkemas by this time understood that the seat of my affliction was somewhere in the throat or mouth, and as I knelt before the altar rail he gently rubbed the relic of St. Anne across my throat. It is useless to ask what my feelings were at that time. I don't know that I was conscious of any. I had but one thought, to be able to speak. Again I bowed my head in prayer.

"My devotions made, I arose and passed through the church. Fr. Karkemas was standing near the door and asked me how I felt. Many times in the past few years I have tried in vain to speak. Something prompted me to try again, then and there. I did so. And I was able to answer, not in a perfect manner, it is true, but still to answer in an intelligible manner. And I said that I was better.

"I spoke truly. I have made the novena every night since then, and every night I can detect an improvement in my speech. Fr. Karkemas told me of his efforts to organize a society to St. Anne, and I have my name inscribed among the first to join. Those who have never known what it means to lose their power of speech cannot realize for a moment what I have been through, and the joy that I feel at my recovery. There is not the slightest doubt in my mind but that the application of the relic and the prayers of this novena were the active factors of my recovery."

"The church was founded in this city through the efforts of Archbishop Yashuk, some years ago, and at that time has been renovated by Fr. Karkemas, the present pastor. The sanctuary and the shrines of St. Anne and Our Lady of the Cedars of Mount Lebanon are but recently installed. The last named shrine is the only one of its kind in the world, and is especially revered by the Syrians, who never forget the wonderful cures that line the valleys of their native land.

The novena will end tonight when prayers for the heavenly protection of St. Holiness, the Pope, and Archbishop O'Connell will be said. Tomorrow morning there will be a high mass at the church, celebrated by Fr. Karkemas in the Syrian fashion, the mass being chanted in the Syro-Chaldean with a cantor participating.

The newly formed society of St. Anne has already enrolled nearly 100 members, many of whom are Americans. Miss Downes is at the head of the organization.

Petition Filed by Boston Teachers

Examinations for Teachers in the Philippines

In this city, Dec. 28 and 29, civil examinations will be held for teachers (male and female) and assistants (male only) for the Philippines. The announcement of the examinations has been made by the civil service commission.

The examinations will cover two days, and for teachers will be on the following subjects: Thesis (not less than 300 words), penmanship, arithmetic, geography, physiology and hygiene, English, history and civil government, nature study and drawings, science, experience, training and fitness. For assistants the branches to be examined in are: Thesis (not less than 500 words), correction of rough draught manuscript, mathematics, history and civil government, general history and geography, colonial government and administration, political economy, education and experience. The salaries attached range from $300 to $1200 a year.

In the petition there are several reasons for this request for more money among which, besides the "great increase in the cost of living," are "the increase in the course of study, which necessitates an added expenditure of time and energy in the preparation for their fulfillment, and the public acknowledgment of his honor the mayor, the members of the school board and the superintendent that the assistants are at present underpaid."

Boston business men appeared at the school committee meeting last night to hear what the business men's advisory committee had to offer in regard to the site for the new High School of Commerce. Bernard J. Rothwell, of the advisory committee, also president of the chamber of commerce, spoke at length on the proposition and won the endorsement of every speaker who followed him by standing firmly for the selection of a downtown site for the building.

COUNT TOLSTOI

Is Very Ill In a Railroad Station

TULA, Russia, Nov. 15.—Broken down by the hardships of a winter journey, mental strain and a rupture with his family, Count Leo Tolstoy lies with a high fever in the little railroad station at Astapova, barely eight miles from his home at Yasnaya Polyana.

COUNT TOLSTOI

Tolstoy is attended by Dr. Makovetsky, who was his sole companion when he left his peasant house a few days ago and who carried along with him medical instruments for just such an emergency. Tolstoy's daughter Alexandra is acting as his nurse.

Telegraphic reports of his condition are far from favorable. Indeed, they are considered extremely pessimistic. His temperature is 104. Indicating probably a serious congestion, and of itself an alarming symptom in one of Tolstoy's years. Moreover, the mental anguish of the patient handicaps the efforts of the physician to reduce the fever. Even if he recovers, there can be no question of his continuing the journey to the Caucasus, where he planned to live his life among the Tolstoy colony on the shores of the Black sea.

The count had hoped to escape notice after his hasty departure from Yasnaya Polyana, and spend a quiet week of farewell with his sister Marie, a nun in the ancient cloister of Shmarden, in the province of Kaluga, but he insisted upon leaving immediately he found his retreat had been discovered. He drove in a carriage on Sunday evening from Shmarden to Kozelak, accompanied by his daughter Alexandra and Dr. Makovetsky, in order to cover his movements, and announced that he was going to Moscow, where he has a house. Later, however, the party changed cars and boarded a slow local train proceeding in the direction of the Caucasus. Tolstoy with his two companions made his way to an unventilated third class compartment, which already was crowded with peasants. The atmosphere was stifling and he developed such a fever that Dr. Makovetsky thought it unwise to attempt to reach Dazkov, the first town of any considerable size along the route. They left the train at Astapova, which is merely a flag station. There is no hospital there, and only a few peasant huts. The count was taken into the station building, where he remained during the night.

He Has Seen Much of This World, and He Declares He Hopes to See More—Tells How He Kept Well.

Old Mr. Josiah Zeitlin, of 136 Lexington Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y., hasn't much time to think about how he has lived to be 106 years old. He is too busy planning what he shall do for many more years. He laughs at those who decry drinking and smoking, and points with pride to the fact that he has always done just what he pleased, and has never had a sick day in his life.

"I don't let anything worry me, though," he says. "There isn't enough time in the world for worry, and besides it makes people old. I don't think there is anything worth worrying over, anyhow. What I say is: If you want to eat, eat, and if you want to drink, drink."

"Although I was 106 years old on July 3d last, I still feel that I am good for several years. I was born at Lodz, in Poland, and after a lengthy business life in the old land came to this country in 1882 to reside with my daughter. I have used Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey for many years and find it very beneficial. It invigorates and gives me strength. I feel that it has helped me to live the 106 years. Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey is the very medicine old people need to restore their failing health and strength."

MINORITY LEADER

Opposed to Extra Session to Re- vise the Tariff Law

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—"The chances are 100 to 1 against an extra session of congress," Grover Cleveland once complained that he had a "congress on his hands," and I guess the only reason why President Taft would not say the same thing is that he is too good natured to do so."

Champ Clark, minority leader and the most formidable of the democratic candidates to succeed Speaker Cannon, who arrived yesterday, thus dismisses the talk of an extra session of congress to revise the Payne-Aldrich tariff law. Moreover, he sees little prospect for any move in this direction at the coming short session of congress.

Even if an agreement could be reached in the house to pass an amendment to the Payne law lowering the rates on wool, to which Mr. Taft is half-way pledged, the Missouriian believes that it would be difficult to get the bill through on account of personal opposition that might be encountered in the house or senate.

Mr. Clark is of an open mind on the method of revising the tariff. He believes that the country has demanded a revision. Just how to bring this about he has not decided.

"It may be wise," he says, "to have a general bill lowering duties on special tariff bills, they call them. Again, it may be, the sliding scale of duties, like the law of 1890, might prove to be the best. There is no one man who can take the initiative and formulate a program, neither I nor anybody else. This will have to be decided by a consensus of opinion of both houses."

"The democratic party is responsible. This is the party's golden opportunity, and the party will have to decide what course is best to pursue. I for one favor the lowering of duties so that we can collect some revenue from the tariff, and I believe if the democratic party is to keep the confidence of the people it will have to redeem the promises it made in its platform. "There is one thing that cannot be made too plain. No man of any sense of any party wants to do anything whatsoever that will injure the legitimate business of the country in the slightest degree."

In the coming session of congress Mr. Clark expects to see the time fully occupied with the 14 appropriation bills. The calendar Wednesday adopted as a rule in the last session will bring in other legislation which will take up some time.

Mr. Clark recalls that the ship subsidy crowd has attempted to pass a subsidy law in the short sessions and he is on guard to top such a bill should it be brought on the floor of the house.

As for the rules of the coming congress, Mr. Clark is saying nothing. It will be a democratic house, the democratic party is responsible, and the house will make its own rules," he said. He was asked what stand the democrats would take if the insurgents proposed to take the power of appointing committees from the speaker.

"That will have to be decided in caucus or in conference. I cannot decide for the democratic side and will not attempt to do so. That will be taken up when the time comes."

NEW YORK PASTOR MURDER CHARGE

Says Drinking Among Women Increases Against Football Player Is Withdrawn

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—That drunkenness among men in this country is decreasing, and that the growing habit of drinking among women is the real danger, was a statement made Sunday night by Rev. Frederick Lynch in Pilgrim church, Madison avenue and 121st street. His subject was "The Growth of the Drink Habit in New York."

"Once it was a rare thing," said Mr. Lynch, "to see women drinking at dinner. One seldom found them drinking in hotels, and a woman would not think of entering a saloon. All this has changed to an alarming extent."

"Women not only drink cocktails before dinner in New York, but they drink much champagne and strong wines. It is no uncommon thing to see them so flushed with drink that they lose all sense of modesty and say loose things that are bad enough for men, but are horrible coming from a woman."

"At a dinner given not far from here, the company being made up of persons whose names you would recognize and who attend church, one woman drank so much that she tried to climb a pillar in the room, while the drunken guests cheered."

"A woman member of one of our most prominent families gave dinner for her women friends in this city. Half intoxicated and smoking a big cigar she hurled a plate at the butler's head, which nearly cost her dearly."

"A hotel steward told me that I could not believe the amount of drunkenness among women and the shameful sights that took place. I myself have witnessed the growing habit among women of drinking cocktails."

"Our New Year's eve has become a perfect orgy at the hotels and restaurants. The event has become a by-word throughout the nation and is a stain in the nostrils of decent people."

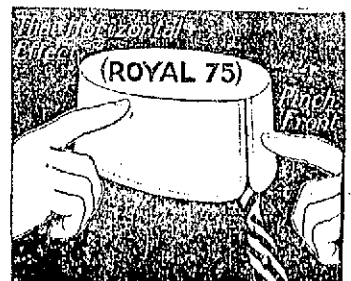

"It is advertised that only champagne will be served, and tables are engaged weeks in advance. Wine flows in rivers. A guest at one New York hotel saw one woman after another carried to carriages."

"It is a disgrace to our city. Drinking seems to coarsen women and weaken her moral strength."

"A greater menace to our civilization does not exist than this increasing habit of drinking among women."

MURDER CHARGE

Against Football Player Is Withdrawn

WHEELING, W. Va., Nov. 15.—The inquest held by Coroner W. W. Rogers last night into the cause of the death of Captain Rudolph Munk of the West Virginia university eleven during the game here Saturday with the Bethany college team, resulted in a verdict by the jury that Munk came to his death by accident. A warrant for the arrest of Thomas McCoy of Canton, O., the Bethany player charged with causing the injuries that resulted in death, will be withdrawn at the instance of the coroner.

McCoy was not present at the inquest, nor was his father, but they were represented by attorneys from Canton.

The wording of the verdict was as follows: "That the evidence in this case is conflicting; therefore, we believe that Rudolph Munk came to his death November 12, 1910, by colliding with Thomas McCoy in a game of football played in Ohio county, state of West Virginia."

"That means accidental death," said Coroner Rogers, "and ends any prosecution of McCoy."

The most important testimony came before the jury in the shape of a special delivery letter to the coroner from Homer Young, the old Michigan player, who testified. On Sunday he had given testimony tending to show that McCoy had intentionally struck down Munk, and it was on the strength of

HIS LIFE DEPENDS ON DESTROY- ING PUDD'NHEAD WILSON THEORY

CHICAGO, Nov. 15.—Thomas Jennings never read "Pudd'nhead Wilson," and now he regrets it. A jury declared he killed Clarence Miller, and Jennings' only chance to escape the gallows is the faint hope that his attorneys will secure enough experts to satisfy the higher courts that a man's finger prints can be duplicated. Miller was chief clerk in the freight office of the Rock Island railroad in Chicago. Jennings, according to the prosecution, entered Miller's home and killed him. For weeks the police battled with the case, but gained no headway toward convicting the accused man. William M. Evans, son of Captain Michael E. Evans, head of the identification bureau, took up the mystery. On a porch post at the Miller home he found some finger prints. These were photographed with care, and the finger prints of the accused man were taken and compared. Evans declared they are exact duplicates, and the jury agreed with him. Judge Kavanaugh since the conviction of Jennings is not so sure. A doubt has been raised in his mind that perhaps a man's finger prints can be duplicated notwithstanding the opinion of the experts. The attorneys for the convicted man are asking that people interested in justice bend in prints of their finger marks. By sending thousands of finger prints they hope to show that a man's finger marks can be duplicated. Jennings is due to be hanged during the first week in December.

his version that the man who murdered Jennings followed in his tracks before the coroner's jury last night. Young says: "I cannot state with absolute positiveness that McCoy struck Munk, although it appeared to me that he struck at him about the head. I cannot state with absolute positiveness that the act was done intentionally, although there may have been circumstances from which it may be inferred that there was intent and deliberation to strike."

Three doctors who examined Munk before and after death testified that there was an injury at the back of the head, where a blood clot had formed; also that there were evidences of a former blood clot from an old injury. Death was due to the more recent injury.

P. H. Rudy, of Millersburg, O., left half back of the Bethany eleven, testified that McCoy struck Munk with his forearm across, and not with his clenched fist as had been alleged. He was struck in the breast, not in the back, said Rudy, and the wound at the back of the head must have been inflicted when he fell. Munk staggered and fell about him as he toppled.

Robert L. Ramsey, prosecuting attorney of Brooke county, West Virginia, a spectator at the game, testified to hearing McCoy say "they have been slugging me all through this game, but I got him (Munk) that time."

PASSENGERS ON FERRYBOAT

KITTERY WERE FRIGHTENED

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., Nov. 15.—The ferryboat Kittery, which plies between this city and Badgers island in connection with the Atlantic Shore street railway line, lost her steam on the 8 o'clock trip last evening when in midstream and was swept by the tide up against the Portsmouth and Kittery bridge.

The boat was berthed at the bridge in such a manner that her passengers, about 50 in number, men and women, were enabled to reach the pier.

None of the passengers was injured, although all were given more or less fright.

The ferryboat hung on at the bridge until about 10:30 last night, when, with the assistance of the steamer Alice Howard, she was towed back to her berth at Badgers island. The boat, as far as can be ascertained, was not injured.

It is regarded as a narrow escape for both the boat and her passengers, as had the tide been running at full strength a serious disaster would have taken place.

ANNUAL REUNION

REGIMENT

At the annual reunion of the Sixth Massachusetts regiment, U. S. A., held in Faneuil hall, Boston, Col. Edward J. Gibson was re-elected president. The veterans met in the armory of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery company, and later the annual meeting and election of officers were held.

The banquet followed, and on the right and left of Col. Gibson were many officers who were conspicuous with the regiment at Porto Rico, and who are now occupying honorable positions in state, civic and militia stations of the country.

The first speaker was Congressman-elect Murray, who entered the service at the age of 16, in the signal corps, and he met with a cordial reception, as did also Maj. Gen. William Stouffer.

Among the other speakers who were heard were Lieut. Harold W. Fales and Capt. Gardner W. Pearson.

RED CROSS FUND

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—New York has taken the lead in the movement to provide an endowment fund for the Red Cross. It was announced yesterday, subscriptions in this city to the amount of $329,300 having been received.

The endowment fund is being raised through committees appointed by President Taft in all the larger cities of the country. Each committee is to raise its share at the rate of 10 cents per capita of population, and New York's share is $500,000.

Mrs. E. H. Harriman has given $50,000.

J. P. Morgan has promised $100,000 subject to the condition that $400,000 be first collected.

HARVARD'S GREAT RIGHT END AND NIFTY DROP KICKER

CAMBRIDGE, Nov. 15.—Selecting ends for an All American football team is a hard task this season owing to the wealth of material. Under the new rules big, powerful ends are essential. The most successful teams—Harvard, Michigan, Minnesota, Yale and Princeton—all have ends weighing 180 pounds. Little ends get bruised up and aren't so successful in boxing tackles, so dodging backs can make end runs. Harvard has two great ends in Lewis and L. D. Smith. All season the pair have shone resplendently. Experts here say that outside of Kilpatrick of Yale none compares with Smith or Lewis. In addition to playing the regular duties of their positions as few ends ever have, the pair are mighty nifty drop kickers.

JEWELRY STOLEN

From the Home of a New York Importer

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—Samuel Kubie, an importer of crude rubber, who lives in a three-story house in the Waverest section of Far Rockaway, reported to the Rockaway police the loss of jewelry valued at $3355, which had been taken out of a safe in his home. Two servants disappeared from the house shortly before the loss of the jewels was known.

Two weeks ago Mrs. Kubie went to an employment agency in search of a butler and a cook. The proprietress, who called herself Mme. August, according to Mr. Kubie, told his wife that she had a man and wife who would fill her wants. Unfortunately, the people for whom the couple had last worked were out of the city, but Mme. August would vouch for the characters of Isaac and Ida Delette. Belgians. Isaac was a good butler and Ida was an equally good cook, Mrs. Kubie was told.

The couple were employed. Ida Delette was a very poor cook, said Mr. Kubie, and last Friday she went to his wife and told her that she was conscience-stricken, that she realized she shouldn't have taken employment in that house, and that she only wanted to go away. The husband protested against her leaving, went on Mr. Kubie, and finally said that even if the cook left, he would stay until their places could be filled. He would be butler and cook combined, he said.

Early Saturday night Mr. and Mrs. Kubie got ready to go out. The butler prepared a light luncheon for the family. A son stayed in one of the rooms on the first floor reading; Mrs. Kubie's 15-year-old daughter went to her room on the second floor, two floors away from her mother's bedroom. About 11:30 o'clock the daughter heard some rummaging around in Mrs. Kubie's bedroom, but she thought it was the butler setting the room in order after Mrs. Kubie's dressing. The reading-room, in which the jewelry safe is kept, is on the floor at the front of the house, three doors away from Mrs. Kubie's bedroom. But Miss Kubie did not hear any one in that room.

Yesterday morning it was discovered that the butler had disappeared in the night. Mrs. Kubie went to her room. She found that a few inexpensive trinkets on her dresser had been taken, but the key to the safe was in its place in the back of one of the dresser drawers. Mrs. Kubie opened the safe and found that it had been emptied.

The safe had not been opened before in five months. Its lock is an old-fashioned piece of mechanism, and one would have to know a good deal about locks or be very lucky to open it even with a key.

Among the jewelry taken was a Masonic lodge badge, set with diamonds, and valued at $500, which had been given by Centennial lodge of New York city to Mr. Kubie's father, who was 40 years a member of that lodge.

Mr. Kubie went as he told the detectives about that loss. Some of the other jewelry taken was a diamond Lavalier valued at $100, a pearl necklace $300, a woman's gold watch $150, a man's gold watch $125, and three pearls and diamond scarf-pins $500. Mr. Kubie estimated the total value of the jewelry was $3355.

The police sent out a description of all the jewelry stolen, and also of Isaac and Ida Delette.

BOOK-A-MONTH CLUB

The members of the Book-a-Month club met yesterday afternoon at the residence of Mrs. William A. Markee at 29 Wilton avenue. Inasmuch as the president of the club was absent, the vice president, Mrs. William H. Pepin, occupied the chair.

One of the features of the meeting was at the roll call when each member responded with a quotation from Tennyson, in connection with this subject. Mrs. Pepin gave an interesting paper on the life and work of the poet.

Mrs. LeDell Kibball gave an interesting paper on the geographical features of southern California, and Miss Josephine Keizer gave a paper on the topics and onyx. Mrs. George Hatch read a paper on cut work, the second paper to be given on lace. Mrs. George L. Fowler had charge of current events.

At the close of the meeting refreshments were served by Mrs. Markee, assisted by Mrs. C. E. Abare and Miss Sadie Jardine.

Lectured on the Indian Missions

The Indian Missions of the Oblate order in the Canadian Northwest was the subject of a very interesting address by Mgr. Breynat, O. M. I., bishop of Athabaska and Mackenzie, at St. Jean Baptiste church last night. The church was crowded, and the bishop's story of the hardships endured by the missionaries who are doing the Master's work among the Indians of cold regions of the north. The little band of missionaries in charge of Mgr. Breynat is made up of 20 priests who work among 7000 Indians who are scattered over miles and miles of territory. The journey between missions which are very far apart is made mostly on sledges drawn by dogs. The hardships borne by these faithful servants of God are almost unendurable.

MATHEWSON SIGNS

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—Christy Mathewson, star pitcher of the New York Nationals, signed a contract with the club yesterday for the seasons of 1911, 1912, 1913. This is the first time that he has ever signed a contract for more than one season.

The Belvideres Won

The Belvideres and Y. M. C. U. of the Catholic league met on the alleys last night and the former team won by a margin of 15 pins, but won only one of the three points, the Y. M. C. U. taking the first and second strings, each by the margin of two pins. Harrington of the Belvideres was high man.

In the game between the Wamecets and Uncle Sam's—well it is a shame to write about it. Just look at the score and then you will not blame us for not going into detail. The scores:

GET DOWN

Let's get down to business—As business is the foundation of all things, politics, religion, society and the various organizations would starve without business. Somebody must do the work. Talking about work, my special work is supplying the people of Lowell with the choicest products of mine and forest. Buying my coal at the mouth of the mines, from the best collieries in Pennsylvania, that means the best in the world. Buying my wood standing in the trees, hiring my own choppers. I don't want you to class me as a middle man or a retailer. I am simply your agent. I get a little better than a living out of a life's experience and a life's savings. When you want coal, wood or coke, and expect honest and courteous treatment and as prompt delivery as the weather will permit, telephone or mail your orders here.

LIBERAL MEMBERS

Warned to Expect Dissolution of British Parliament

LONDON, Nov. 15.—Public attention is engrossed by the political crisis. At the political clubs last night there was feverish excitement over the prospect of an immediate dissolution of parliament, for which both parties are actively preparing. It is said liberal members have been warned by the government to expect dissolution Nov. 23, two weeks from yesterday, and the first borough pollings would come on Saturday, Dec. 3.

Election prophecies credit the liberals with a gain of 20 seats. The most sanguine Tories only claim that they will reduce the present liberal majority in parliament by that number. In any event Redmond will hold the balance of power.

No political leader ever before got the advertising that the Tory papers, hoping to arouse anti-Irish prejudice, are giving John Redmond. His arrival in London last night was preceded by editorials acclaiming him as the absolute dictator of British politics returning from America with $200,000 to extract home rule from the fears and self-interest of the ministerial party.

It is evident that, in default of any other slogan, the conservatives intend to "hound" vigorously the anti-Irish note. Already they are predicting humiliation and disaster for Great Britain in consequence of Redmond's power to compel the cabinets to obey his behests.

When seen last night, Mr. Redmond smiled at the violent diatribes of the conservative press, and said: "The truth is that in this crisis the interests of the British and the Irish democracies are entirely one. They are both resolved to gain their political liberty by ending the dictatorial pretensions of the house of lords."

"I have seen no one yet and am incompletely informed of the facts in the situation, but I can say that the Irish party is for an immediate general election on every ground. There is no reason why the crisis should be allowed to drag on. We are ready for an election in Ireland any moment."

The Irish party will meet today in Westminster to decide upon a course of action after hearing Chief Premier Asquith's statement.

Lord Knollys, the king's political secretary, conferred two hours yesterday with Premier Asquith, who was deciding upon the form in which he shall

HUNTING BILL

New Measure in Vermont Legislature

MONTEPELLIER, Vt., Nov. 15.—The Vermont legislature adjourned last evening with an evident determination of putting in a solid week's work before the Thanksgiving recess. Although the time for the introduction of bills except through committees expired last week, the revision committee still has in its hands more than 100 bills that will come in during the present week.

About 20 of these were introduced last evening. Senator Darling of Rutland county put in one authorizing the trustees at Waterbury to erect a building to be used as a criminal ward at an expense not to exceed $20,000.

Mr. Bowles of Woodford introduced a bill which again touches on the Sunday hunting question. It provides for a fine of $100 for hunting or discharging firearms within 100 rods of a church on Sunday.

Mr. Fletcher of Cavendish introduced a measure which raises the salary of the bank commissioner from $2,000 to $3,000 and provides that the commissioner shall devote all his time to the duties of his office.

Mr. Burbank of Cabot introduced a bill which establishes a state agency for distributing, intoxicating liquors for medical, chemical and mechanical purposes. This bill follows very closely the South Carolina dispensary law.

Mr. Hunt of New Haven, one of the champions in the house for female suffrage, does not believe in taxation without representation. He introduced a bill last evening which provides that unmarried women 21 or more years old shall not be required to pay taxes if they are denied the right to vote.

Mr. Stafford of Brattleboro introduced a bill which appropriates $10,000 for the use of the several agricultural fairs of the state.

FIGHT WITH DOG

Brooklyn Man Choked Brute to Death

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—Thomas Meehan, 28 years old, of 126 Wyckoff street, Brooklyn, is in a serious condition at the Long Island college hospital as the result of a fierce battle with a big bull terrier early today. After being frightfully bitten on the hands and throat, Meehan strangled the dog to death. There is no indication that the dog was suffering from rabies, but a thorough examination of the body has been ordered.

Meehan was on his way home, when he came upon the dog gnawing a bone directly in his path at the corner of Bond and Hoyt streets. He kicked at the terrier, who sprang at his throat. Meehan beat the dog off, but was bitten on the hand. Again the animal sprang at Meehan's throat, but was beaten off again, after tearing the man's other hand.

The brute made another leap for Meehan's throat, this time fastening its teeth in the flesh. In vain did Meehan try to shake the dog off, and finally he realized that his only chance was to choke the terrier to death. He clasped both hands about the terrier's throat and with the strength of desperation finally strangled the animal to death.

Meehan was found unconscious, the body of the dog beside him. Meehan was soon restored to consciousness at the hospital, and the physicians said that he would probably recover unless rabies developed.

WOMAN PASTOR

SHE WAS SAVED BY A SIGNAL IN WINDOW

BOSTON, Nov. 15.—Lying in a semi-conscious condition on the kitchen floor of her home on Windemere road, Malden, the Rev. Mrs. Elizabeth M. Bruce, pastor of the Wayside chapel in Marlborough, was found by Mrs. Silas M. Spencer, a neighbor, early yesterday. Her attention was attracted to the house by a prearranged signal, the manipulation of a curtain. Mrs. Bruce was found suffering from a fracture of the right hip, caused by a fall about 3 ft. in height when she arose to fix the fire in the house where she lives alone.

The woman lay on the floor for five hours, suffering excruciating pain, but managed to arrange the curtain as a sign of distress before she became too weak to move. Each morning Mrs. Spencer made a practice of looking from her window to see if there was any signal from Mrs. Bruce, who is 81 years of age.

Doctors found Mrs. Bruce in a serious condition, owing to her advanced age.

HEARING HELD HORSE DISEASE

On Receivership for St. Jean Baptiste Union

PROVIDENCE, Nov. 15.—A hearing was begun in the superior court yesterday afternoon in the receivership proceedings against L'Union St. Jean Baptiste d'Amerique, the largest French-Canadian organization in the country.

The society is an insurance and fraternal order, with a membership of 85,000 throughout New England and New York. Recently the association was severely censured by the insurance commissioners of Massachusetts for irregularities in its insurance business. The resignation of Supreme Secretary J. Adair Caron of Woonsocket and the appointment of a temporary receiver followed.

The corporation is now cited to show cause why a permanent receiver should not be appointed, on the petition of John B. Hindamour, a member of the finance committee, which found deficits in the accounts of several of the supreme officers, and as both sides have engaged able counsel a stubborn legal contest is expected.

A movement has been started to hold a new convention to annul the proceedings at the last meeting in Manchester, N. H., at which the supreme officers were elected. In the face of the charges against them, in order that a scandal might not be stirred up by the investigations of new officers.

It is also planned to change the headquarters from Woonsocket to Providence, Boston or Worcester. While the organization is supposed to be a Roman Catholic society, it is not recognized as such by the church authorities.

THE RIVER SEINE

Is Rising at a Rapid Rate

PARIS, Nov. 15.—The Seine rose at the rate of 12 1/4 centimeters an hour today. The official statement that the maximum flood would be reached on Thursday night has not reassured the riverside dwellers in this city and in the suburbs, who see the waters advancing slowly in the streets bordering the stream and fear another disaster.

The return of flood conditions has convinced the government that the raising of the parapets is but a makeshift measure and accordingly it will push the big project of a canal to divert the waters in times of flood. The building of this canal will be a matter of years.

BASEBALL DEAL

Fogel Says He Got Best of It

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 15.—Dick Hoblitzel, star first baseman of the Cincinnati Reds, will play with the Phillies next season, and Mike Doolan, the fast shortstop of the Phillies, will go to Cincinnati in exchange, is the statement made by an authority that hardly may be questioned.

According to the statement in circulation, Pres. Fogel of the Phillies "put something over" on Pres. Herrmann of the Reds when he agreed to the eight-man trade.

Fogel explained to Herrmann that the right of the matter was all on the Philadelphia side of the fence and that if Herrmann did not agree to allow Hoblitzel to come to the Philadelphia the trade would be blocked. After much argument Herrmann is said to have agreed.

Fogel today broke into print with a statement regarding the Phillies-Red deal, in which he said in substance that he believed the Phillies had all the best of Herrmann, but that he did not propose to be ignored, and if Herrmann had not recognized him in the deal he would have called the whole trade off.

Pres. Fogel's statement in part follows: "When I blocked the original deal of Grant, Ratter, McQuillen and Moran for Lobert, Paskoff, Rowan and Beebe, I did so because I had not been consulted and had not given anyone authority to make the trade. Mr. Herrmann contended, however, that as the trade had been made public, it must stand. After Mr. Herrmann had explained matters to me and I had done the same to him, the way was paved for an amicable agreement between us, but not until he had assured me that he had never stated that he would force this case before the national commission or ever sold anything about 'syndicate ball' and the ownership of the Philadelphia club to anyone in connection with this matter."

"While I have this opportunity I want to, for the hundredth time, to hope the last time, to assure the public that Charles W. Murphy does not own a single share of stock in the Philadelphia club and hasn't a dollar invested in it, directly or indirectly."

$100 Reward

For information leading to the arrest and conviction of the man claiming to represent the Riker-Jaynes Drug Stores, and who is canvassing homes in outlying towns about Boston, selling some blood and nerve remedies, which he calls Dr. Bowman's New Blood Remedy and Dr. Hilton's Pure Blood and Nerve Remedy.

This person, evidently acquainted with the well-known Riker-Jaynes method of guaranteeing every preparation bearing our label, represents himself as an agent of ours, claiming that he is selling these preparations for us, that we guarantee satisfaction, and in case the remedies do not give satisfaction that we will refund the purchase price.

We take this opportunity of stating most emphatically that we do not employ this method of selling our goods. We never have had, nor will we ever have, anyone representing us selling goods through house canvassing. All of our goods are sold from our retail stores only.

The man has been described as about 40 to 45 years of age, 5 feet 10 inches in height, stockily built, about 165 to 190 pounds; carries bag; hair black or dark brown, and mustache cut short; appears either on foot or in buggy; fluent talker, and generally invents some plausible story to suit the occasion.

Has been seen in Whitman, Hanson, North Woburn, Woburn and South Weymouth.

THREE DOLLARS PER YEAR. TWENTY-FIVE CENTS PER MONTH

Sworn to by John H. Harrington, proprietor, Martin H. Reidy, business manager, and Alfred Pilotte, pressman, of The Sun, before me, January 1, 1910. J. JOSEPH HENNESSY, Notary Public.

This is by far the largest average circulation of any newspaper in Lowell.

Tolstoi's philosophy does not seem to be doing him much good in his last days.

These festive occasions that wind up in a fight with deadly weapons should be permitted only under police supervision.

With the two Lynn bandits on trial at Salem, it would seem that only the legal forms are to be gone through in order to impose the severest penalty of the law.

The silence of Roosevelt is getting extremely intense. Can it be that he contemplates following Tolstoi into retirement? That would be contrary to the record of his past life.

One of the world's greatest artists has passed away in the death of John La Farge at Providence, R. I. He was one of the most versatile painters this country has produced.

The feat of flying an aeroplane from the deck of a warship has been performed, and for the first time by an American, thus demonstrating the practical value of aircraft in naval warfare.

THE VACUUM STREET CLEANER

When will the vacuum method of cleaning smooth-paved streets be available in Lowell? This has already been adopted in many cities to the delight of the people along the streets who no longer see the old revolving sweeper raise the dust and rubbish in the air, spreading the germs in all directions. The success of the vacuum carpet cleaner proves that on a large scale it would be admirably adapted for cleaning smooth-paved streets.

AVIATION MEETS UNPROFITABLE

The aviation meets in different parts of the country are not proving as successful as was anticipated. That just held at Baltimore has been a disappointment financially and otherwise. The wind on Friday was too high to permit the aviators to give even a decent exhibition. The managers of the Baltimore meet state that they will go deeply in the hole financially on this meet. One of them, speaking of the results, said: "Our present deficit is about $60,000, and we expect to take in $20,000 today and tomorrow." That was on Friday. It is safe to say that such reports will not encourage others to rush into the aviation business. The meet held at Squantum this fall was the most successful ever held in this country. The aviators demand such large amounts for entering prize contests or for giving exhibitions that there is little chance to make money on them.

THE GREAT BARRINGTON ROBBERY

That robbery near Great Barrington shows that men who carry large sums of money about in public will have to be more careful. Where a man, even in company with a deputy sheriff, is known to carry the payroll of a mill along a highway at a fixed hour every week, he is taking serious chances by continuing the practice regularly. It would be well to employ an auto and to go at irregular periods. The perpetrators of this crime were not as desperate or as reckless of human life as were the Lynn highwaymen. The latter came up behind Landrigan and Officer Carroll, killing them instantly. The Great Barrington robbers did not shoot to kill but simply got the money and made their escape.

The robbery was well planned and in all probability the highwaymen were members of the gang employed on the electric railway near where the robbery occurred. They wore masks and were clad as workmen and they spoke as foreigners of whom the railway gang was composed. They may have been able to join the gang which went as a searching party and pass undetected. It is quite probable that some member of the gang knows who the robbers are.

SOME PRESIDENTIAL POSSIBILITIES

Much curiosity is felt over what course Mayor Gaynor of New York will take in the politics of the state and nation. Since the attempt upon his life he has been freely mentioned as a candidate for the presidency, but on this question he has not indicated his intentions in any way. In another quarter he is being boomed for the United States senate to succeed that political nincompoop, Chauncey Depew. There was a time when Depew could make a good speech or tell a good story, and that was his highest accomplishment. There never was much behind his speeches as he apparently paid more attention to the rhetoric than the ideas expressed or the stand taken upon public questions. It is time he was retired to give the place to a man of force and ability who will stand up for the people's rights.

There are men in New York who would like to take Gaynor out of the presidential contest by shelving him in the United States senate.

The presidential possibilities to be found among the reactionaries are Foss, Dix, Harmon, Wilson and Baldwin. These are all able and modest men. Their election has brought to the front in the democratic party a band of men whose names will command respect and wide support for any office to which they may be advanced.

It is not likely that Bryan will be considered in relation to the presidential contest in 1912, nor is it probable that Governor Folk of Missouri will be a leader in the race, although first in the field.

The result of the recent election has greatly strengthened the democratic party and improved its chances of electing a president in 1912. The eastern states are strong in presidential timber. Governor Foss of Massachusetts and Governor Dix of New York can bring strength to the party. Foss could carry the state as candidate for president, something that only a political cataclysm can make possible.

SEEN AND HEARD

"That intelligent looking boy there," said the pedagogue to the top-hatted parent he was showing over the school premises, "is Smith." "I am proud of Smith. I have inculcated in him the love of learning to such an extent that he now prefers study to play. I feel that at this moment he is writing Timmin's Latin prose on that sheet of paper there, while all the other pupils are at play. I will ascertain."

"Smith," he said, "let us see the result of your industry."

"I'd rather not, sir," blushed Smith. "Note his modesty," whispered the schoolmaster. "Come, Smith, let me see what you have been writing."

Still the boy demurred. But the schoolmaster insisted, and forcefully appropriated the paper. And there, in neat imitation of feminine handwriting he read the following:

"Please excuse my son James from school today. He is wanted at home."

BURNING LEAVES

Such scented censer smoke—it weaves Up from the burning autumn leaves And trails away in aimless style While lazy breezes loiter on! And though each wondrous golden white Of all the summer-time is gone, We do not sigh as one who grieves When drifts the scent of burning leaves.

It is as cinnamon and musk, And mint and myrrh that scents the dusk, And pungent clove, and nutmeg, too, And allspice buds, all daffily blent And intermingled through and through With berries of the Orient— So do we stand and know all these As echoes of our memories.

So does the smoke that drifts away Bring back each singing summer day, And make us see the wide blue sky, With ivory clouds that slowly sail Across the sea that is on high, With soaring birds to give them hail— And forest shades and laughing streams, And all the wondrous stuff of dreams.

And as the smoke-wreath lifts and veers, It takes us down the path of years, Through other summers, other springs, Until we live again the days That had been with forgotten things, Until we tread again the ways Along since grown dim as is this dusk Where drift the spice and mint and musk.

Such scented censer smoke—it weaves Up from the blazing autumn leaves, And yonder trees become tall spires, And streets become cathedral aisles, Illumined by fitful altar fires. That light our retrospective smiles, And through it all there glints and gleams The glory of our olden dreams.

STEAMER THAT MET WITH AN ACCIDENT AND WAS VERY MUCH DELAYED

"What did Mr. Locke say when he found himself safe after those hours of danger?" asked a friend of the family of another friend who had accompanied Mr. Locke on his journey. "He never says the ordinary thing."

"No," said the other, with a smile, "he didn't that time. I said to him, 'James, we ought to make something more of a living from having been spared to us in this way.' For I felt pretty solemn, I can tell you. I've no doubt James did, too, but what he said was, 'William, a good share of the rest of my life will be spent in explaining to Theodora how I happened to choose that steamer when there were dozens of others that reached home without any accident.'"

THE JUNGLE FOLK
The jungle folk were waiting as they crouched around the fire. "What news?" they asked the monkey on the telegraphic pole. He raised his head for silence with his ear against the wire: "The zee grow so excited that it sat upon a coal."

"What news?" they asked the monkey as he gibbered on the staff. "What news?" the doddle echoed as he kicked the leaves about. "By jinks!" the monkey chattered with a shrill and sudden laugh. "They've jumped upon the colonel and they say they've smoked him out!"

They're dancing 'round the jungle with the hippo in the lead; The springbok and the rhino, and the little beasts and all, They're singing and they're shouting—they have all forgot to feed; And the big and tawny lion shouts the loudest of 'em all! —Cleveland Leader.

PHANTOM SHIP

Said to Haunt Conception Bay

ST. JOHNS, N. F., Nov. 15.—A new "Flying Dutchman," a schooner of mysterious lights that suddenly illuminated the surrounding waters, only to vanish and leave nothing behind, haunts Conception bay. The story is not a myth—its truth is solemnly maintained by Captain Smith and every one of the crew of the schooner Victor, according to Captain Humby, a fellow skipper, who arrived here yesterday from Bay of Bulls.

The phantom ship was seen as all such ships should be seen, on the mid-watch of a dark night. Captain Noah Ralph, who was on duty for the story, says that a few nights ago while on Conception bay, his lookout saw two lights ahead. They were apparently schooner's lights and appeared to be stationary. The lookout called the mate's attention and he in turn called the helmsman's notice to the strange light which was dimly lined against the sky. As they watched, a third light appeared and while they wondered, other lights sprang up in unexpected places. The mate thereupon promptly called the captain and hardly had the skipper tumbled on deck than a galaxy of mystery became ablaze with a galaxy of brilliant illuminations.

Skipper Ralph fears nothing that shows a light, and bearing down on the stranger he ordered his men not to halt anyone on board and to approach as quickly as possible. If the "Flying Dutchman" were going to invade Conception bay, the ship was going to show it the stuff of which a New Foundland crew is made.

Silently the Victor crept up to the schooner of many lights. Figures in oil skins moved silently about the stranger's decks. It was plainly seen that the men were looking at the ship. The tense gaze of the keen-eyed New Foundland fishermen could see nothing of the form that a moment ago was within hail. Not a man on the Victor could sleep that night. The light of day was welcome.

COURT MIDDLESEX

WILL OBSERVE ITS ANNIVERSARY JAN. 20

A well attended meeting of Court Middlesex, Foresters of America, was held last night in Foresters hall, Chief Ranger Charles J. Martin occupying the chair. A class initiation of ten candidates was held and there were many visitors from the other local courts in attendance. The degree staff which performed the work was composed of the following: Obligator, John H. Condon; instructor, James J. Dunn; defender, Patrick F. Kennedy; lecturer, William J. Warley; color bearer, John J. Maguire; guides, John B. Kenefick and Terrence Quinlan; captain of guards, John J. Higgins; soldiers, John W. Downing, John H. Farley, James J. Savage, Thomas Magee, Michael H. McNiff, John P. Hannigan, Patrick J. Flynn, William J. Keenan and John J. Tourque; Indians, James H. Healey, Charles J. Martin, Frank Brick, Frank Donovan, and Daniel H. Quinn; planist, Henry Scanlon.

The committee appointed to revise the by-laws submitted a number of amendments which were acted upon. At the conclusion of the business meeting refreshments were served. The 27th anniversary of the organization will be observed on January 20, 1911.

DEMOCRAT WON

BOSTON, Nov. 15.—As a result of the recent in ward 24 yesterday Boston's republican representation in the next lower body of the general court will be eight out of a possible 10. While Leonard G. ROOSEVELT TO BREAK SILENCE

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—Col. Theodore Roosevelt is expected to break his post-election silence when he comes to his editorial office in this city from Oyster Bay on Thursday. It will be his first trip to town since the day before election. Since that time he has been trying to rest, but his correspondence will not permit much lounging. Since election day, he estimates that he has received 15,000 letters and several hundred telegrams. Some were pertinent and others contradictory.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 15.—After an illness extending over a period of several months, following a minor operation performed in New York last spring John Lafarge, the artist of New York and Newport, died at the Butler hospital here last night. He had been at the hospital since last July but it was only within the past two weeks that he had been confined to his bed or even to his room. Death was due to a general nervous breakdown and a complication of diseases.

Mrs. Lafarge was with her husband when the end came last night. The couple had seven children.

No arrangements have been made for the funeral.

GRAND OPERA SEASON

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—The fall New York social and musical seasons came into bloom last night when the Metropolitan Opera company, an institution which now belongs alike to Chicago, Philadelphia and New York, rendered Christopher Gluck's opera "Armide" written over a century and a quarter ago and never produced in America before. The first performance of the year brought a brilliant audience to the Metropolitan and the great "golden horseshoe" sparkled in social splendor.

"Armide" is the first Metropolitan offering since the ending of the four years' war with the Hammerstein forces, and last night's production showed that the standard of production was in no wise affected by endings of competition. An all-star cast interpreted the graceful old world melodies of Gluck.

SENATOR LODGE

WAS ARRAIGNED BY REV. ADOLF A. BERLE

BOSTON, Nov. 15.—Declaring Senator Henry Cabot Lodge had exerted a "most immoral influence over the Bay State for the last 20 years," Rev. Adolf A. Berle arraigned the Massachusetts senator in an address last night before the South End Congress at the Shawmut Congregational church.

"His re-election would mean a continuation of the degradation, debauchery and wallowing in the mire of politics which have been in vogue," added Dr. Berle.

The meeting was called for a public discussion of the subject, "Shall Senator Lodge be Re-elected?"

But one of the speakers of the evening defended the senator.

TILLIE WHITNEY, COMEDienne AT THE MERRIMACK SQ. THEATRE.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

Weston's merry makers, a band of 10 youngsters, give a very comical sketch at the Merrimack square theatre this week. The school day pranks played on the old German teacher, Joe Weston, will be enjoyed by everybody, but especially by children. The act has many catchy dances by the young people, who are well trained.

The other acts present a variety that is calculated to please the most fastidious. Master Benford is a wonder as a vocalist, singing some difficult selections with an appreciation worthy a vocalist of mature years and training.

The Van Cooks present a musical sketch that has many comical features as well as good music extracted from all kinds of instruments and even from clotheslines.

Miss Tillie Whitney is apt to keep an audience guessing. She is, in ordinary parlance, "smart," both in her stage presence and her monolog. She can also do all sorts of things to a piano, and does them, much to the satisfaction of the audience and gives imitations of a Dutch serving maid. It is all quite original, snappy and highly entertaining. Miss Whitney bids fair to be one of the particular favorites of the bill.

Fleming is a comedy cartoonist, with an act along the usual lines but better than most. He draws about everything and everybody, including some member of the audience chosen at random. It is an excellent act of its kind. The moving pictures are uniformly good, and present some especially pleasing features in the dramatic order.

The bill will be presented continuously each day this week from 11 until 10:30 o'clock. The box office opens daily at 10 a. m.

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

"Quincy Adams Sawyer," with Miss Ida Marie Rogers, a Lowell girl, taking the leading role, attracted a large audience to the Opera House last night. Miss Rogers is the same clever little woman that she was a few years ago, when she entertained us by "The Dazzler." She was at her best last night and the audience gave her a grand reception when she made her first appearance on the stage. Her comedy work evoked roars of laughter and throughout the entire action of the play she was applauded.

The story of the play is familiar to all theatregoers. Most of us have read the book and many have seen the play. Nothing funnier has been seen than the "Prof. Obadiah Strout," the "almighty selfish critter," while "Almer Stiles," "Sam Hill," with aspirations, "Mrs. Hensbald Putnam," who was "lost out with to women of other people," and "Samantha Green," the "aggravating brat," are all very entertaining.

"Quincy Adams Sawyer" will be given this afternoon and evening, and undoubtedly the house will be crowded.

JACK JOHNSON

The golden smile of Jack Johnson, the world's heavyweight champion who will appear at the Opera House tomorrow night is almost a by-word, but it must be seen to be appreciated. That smile is the index of his whole impetuous nature. It is not the contented smile of physical superiority either, but the confident, gracious smile of a man with a heart that is pleased with everything who sees joy in living and happiness in life, and who feels that every man is his friend and has the need of the smile and can appreciate the nature of the smile.

Thrilling battles where every muscle was brought into full tension, either in aggression or defense, that smile never lagged or slipped. In days of trouble that smile was ever present as if confident that the best was still in store, and it beams daily at all times, one continuous golden asset.

GRAUSTARK
Grace Hayward's dramatization of the popular novel of George Barr McCutcheon, "Graustark," adapted by Geo. D. Baker will be the attraction at the Opera House on Monday, Nov. 21.

"Graustark" is entitled to its high among the romantic dramas of the present day stage. It is replete with a strong human interest, is full of life and spirit, and the comedy element is much and enjoyably in evidence. The hero of the play, Grenfell Lorry is a rich young American who pursues a mysterious "Miss Guggenlocker" across two continents to her home in the little country of Graustark, where the attractive young lady is a reigning princess. The princess is about to marry a man for whom she has a natural antipathy, in order to free her country from a burdensome and oppressive debt. The rich American, however, after having saved the life of the young ruler, comes to the rescue and saves the nation from bankruptcy and insolvency by paying the debt. As a matter of course the accommodating American is enabled to induce the princess to banish all ancestral prejudices and to become his wife.

The company presenting this romantic play has been engaged by Messrs. Baker & Castle from the ranks of the very best people in the profession, and the scenery and equipment has been acknowledged by press and public to be the best ever seen in the theatres of the entire season.

181 EAST MERRIMACK ST.

COLONIAL THEATRE

One of the most attractive bills ever offered at the Colonial is being presented this week. Morin and Morin, in their clever act as the "down and Parisian Doll," certainly make a hit. Bessie Morin, who acts the part of the doll, is exceptionally clever. Her toe dancing is a revelation and her baby song is catchy. Geo. Morin as the clown is exceedingly funny and with his two dogs he makes a hit. The Morins belong in Lowell.

On this bill also is a mystery in Valdes the Masked, who performs many mysterious feats. Florence Mann in the illustrated songs has a good voice and pleasing appearance and is well received.

The pictures are of the same high quality as heretofore. Performances at 2 in afternoon and 7 and 9:30 in evening.

EMPIRE THEATRE

At the Empire Herr Deblado and his troupe of trained animals, including sheep and pigs, are winning great applause.

The owner of the wonderful animals claims that they constitute the only act of its kind in the world, and it is certainly the only one of its description that has ever appeared in Lowell.

"Louie," the little pig is unconsciously a clown, keeping the audience in a roar of laughter from the moment he trots on the stage until he is taken off. The part that pleases the children most is when "Louie" squeals like the child crying for his bottle, and when the bottle is given him, he takes care of it just as a baby does. Yesterday this diminutive porker kept constantly roaming around under the end of a see-saw on which the sheep were performing. In spite of the continued warnings of Herr Deblado, "Look out Louie, you'll get killed," Louie calmly kept his place under the plank and when it descended, he very gracefully retreated, just escaping by a hair-breadth from a heavy squeeze. Another star of the troupe is the butting ram who keeps things lively for a few moments.

Clare Sydney in some very pretty numbers proved most enjoyable, and Weston Bros. in their burlesque boxing were a scream from start to finish. For the benefit of the school children who wish to see "Louie" and his funny capers we will give a performance of these funny animals, and some splendid moving pictures on Tuesday and Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, the regular performances as usual beginning at 2 o'clock.

The entire balcony reserved at 5 cents.

THEATRE VOYONS

The sons of Bonnie Scotland will be greatly pleased with the scenic subject, "A Trip Through Scotland," shown today at the Theatre Voyons. It is one of the most beautiful travel pictures ever given and covers quite a variety of scenes. "A Mexican Legend" tells an old legend of Mexico in a way that is well liked here. The staging and effects are wonderful and the mysterious spirit of the picture is carried through every bit of it. "The Secret of the Cellar" is a fine dramatic subject, well acted and telling a new story. The two comedies are real laugh-producers and especially so is "The Masquerade Can." The musical program is exceptionally good.

MURRY LIVINGSTON AND COMPANY AT THE HATHAWAY.

HATHAWAY THEATRE

Hathaway's theatre is supposed to be a vaudeville amusement house, and it is in every sense of the word, but those who attended the performances yesterday afternoon and evening were of the opinion that they were getting two shows for the price of one admission. Prior to the last act an excellent bill was presented, and then came "The Photo Show" with sixteen people in the case and those Photo girls certainly made their act look like a musical extravaganza on a big scale.

"The Photo Show" is the title of the piece. It is presented by Jesse L. Lasky and is called a snappy musical comedy (and it is if you take it from the writer). The book is written by Edward Clark, the music is contributed by Karl Hoschka and the lyrics by Otto Heuerbach.

Charles J. Sline and Mamie Fleming are the principal characters in the act and what they do not know about the show business is not worth knowing. Sline is the avowed hero of the show—or in other words he is the heavy man, despite the fact that he hands out comedy while Miss Fleming is the girl behind the counter, and if the latter has not got the gift of the gab and the comickick it is hard to find out where her retorts could be improved upon. Besides her talk, singing, etc., she shows something that is worth the price of admission alone—dresses.

There is much catchy music, beautiful costumes, well rendered songs and pretty girls and men. Mr. Eugene Redington as "Count De Chapeau," and a whole bunch of other names which he has attached to his real name, does some very clever acting and amuses the audience.

But for the girls and the male members who assist them—there are six girls and six men in the chorus. "The opening chorus is 'It's a Very Busy Day' and then comes 'The Photo Show,' which is one of the best numbers of the show.

There is another act on the bill which is something out of the ordinary. It is entitled "These College Boys" and Shriver and Willis do the work which brings forth the applause.

They have the git-up-and-git which makes a hit and what one cannot do in the singing line and the other cannot do in the tickling of the ivories is not worth mentioning. The two boys are all to the merry, they do a clever stunt have an excellent appearance and get the applause. What more is wanted?

Murry Livingston & Co. give a very clever interpretation of "The Man From Italy," a one act comedy playlet by William Bonelli. The play has to do with the heart feelings of a young man and a young woman who are living in the slums of New York and the man who comes from Italy and finds that the girl who protected him from the abuse of boys, by calling him into her house, is his daughter. The acting is very clever. Mr. Livingston portrays the part of the Italian while Miss Helen Harriet takes the part of the daughter, and Birdie Lewis is the "tough kid" who is in love with the daughter. Then there is Ole Young and April—Oh you classy college clothes, what is it, a case of Harvard and Radcliffe? Well leaving all joking aside, the man and woman do a stunt which is certainly a novelty. They do some very clever stunts with hoops, but their manipulation of the hoop on the cord, known as diabolos, is certainly interesting.

Brown and Brown are down as "Just Kids." They are all to the merry and do a very clever stunt, while Arthur Stuart and Hazel Kelly present a class dancing novelty.

Larry Sharkey, who is touted as "The Irish Wit" is very clever and tells many funny stories which bring forth much applause from the audience.

The show winds up with moving pictures. Performances will be continued every afternoon and evening during the remainder of the week.

BRITISH PARLIAMENT

Lords Will be Asked to Accept Veto Resolution

LONDON, Nov. 15.—Parliament re-assembled today, but in the absence of Premier Asquith, the proceedings lacked the acute interest that had been anticipated and the political crisis is delayed until tomorrow. By that time the premier will have seen King George again and laid before his majesty the decisions reached by the cabinet at today's session, which was unusually prolonged.

The fact that the ministers were in conference for two and a half hours was taken to indicate that two or three of them were favorable to the plan of asking the lords to accept or reject the veto resolution before the dissolution of parliament. These members are said to have made a hard fight in support of their views.

PUSHING THE WORK

Twenty Additional Teams on the Walker Street Crossing

The Plain street bridge will be ready for travel in a few days and in Lincoln street the roads will be put to grade and the water pipes laid so that everything will be in readiness for the iron when it arrives.

The last plank for team travel was laid on the Plain street bridge yesterday and all that remains to be done is to lay the walks which is but the work of a day or two.

The iron for the Lincoln street bridge, as was the case in the Plain street bridge, is late in arriving and the contractors have been hampered in other ways. The people in that vicinity, too, are tired of the delay and they will be a happy people when the job has been done with.

The work of driving piles in the quicksand for the Lawrence street bridge was begun last Saturday afternoon. The sands obtain for a depth of 20 feet after which a good foundation is found. While both the Lawrence street and Congress street bridges cross Hale's brook, the foundation at the Congress street bridge was so soft, all that could be done was to drive the piles in the Lawrence street bridge quicksand and hold the boards.

Twenty additional teams were set to work on the Walker street grade crossing job yesterday morning. City Engineer Dowers says that with so big a force he believes that one side of the crossing will be graded at the end of the week.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC

A big show for little prices is the rule at this popular playhouse for the coming week. There are four big acts of vaudeville and four reels of the latest films.

Anderson and Evans give a clever playlet, "On the Rocks," depicting the trials and tribulations of two stranded actors. The sketch is interspersed with plenty of bright comedy. Duffy and Sawtelle present a comedy act including some of their own songs.

The great Rosetta and company give a rare musical act and give some clever imitations of different musical instruments and several fine solos.

Kavanaugh Brothers are clever entertainers and do fine stunts in juggling and oriental tricks. The pictures include a dramatic biograph feature. The matinees at the Academy are becoming very popular with the ladies.

NIGHT EDITION

HIS FRIEND'S LETTER

Got Clarence J. Cornell in Bad
With His Wife

There was material for a farce-comedy writer in the session of the probate court for contested cases before Judge Lawton, this morning, although there was nothing farcical about the case itself nor the evidence introduced.

The case was that of Mrs. Ruth Cornell, who is suing her husband, Clarence J. Cornell, for separate maintenance and which was opened before Judge Lawton, at the last session of the probate court in this city.

It seems that just before the Cornells separated the wife found a letter on the floor which had fallen from her husband's coat. The envelope was her husband's business stationery and it was addressed to a "Miss" in Boston.

Mrs. Cornell drew forth the contents and the first words that greeted her eyes were "My Darling." The letter went on to state that the writer hoped to see her in Boston the following Sunday and he enclosed the munificent sum of $1 for "refreshment money."

The letter was signed by three initials, not her husband's, but was written on a typewriter that she believed to be her husband's.

The letter of course was a conspicuous exhibit in the case.

Mr. Cornell on the witness stand today explained the whys and wherefores of the letter and the explanation is what would make material for a play.

After all the evidence had been heard the court stated that he would allow Mrs. Cornell the custody of her two children, aged six years and four years, and would take the matter under advisement relative to the amount of money that Mr. Cornell should pay his wife, Francis W. Qua, appeared for the wife and John G. Leggett for the husband.

Couldn't Stop Hopner

The troubles of little Julius Hopner and his wife and pretty daughter which have been bobbing up periodically from time to time in the probate court since last Easter, came up for another airing before Judge Lawton today and as usual something of an amusing nature developed.

D. J. Donahue appears for Mrs. Hopner who seeks separate maintenance from her husband while Max Waldo Cohen of Cambridge has always appeared for Hopner. This morning Mr. Cohen did not put in an appearance and the court decided to continue the case until the third Tuesday in December.

In the meantime," began the court, "you will pay your wife each week, $8—." He got no further for Hopner started off with the usual "Che, Oh, oh" and then went at it in broken English in record time.

"One moment, one moment," mildly interrupted the court, and for a second Hopner ceased.

"As I was saying," calmly remarked his Honor, "you will pay to your wife each week $8—."

"Che, but," and at the sound of the six away goes Hopner with another volcanic eruption of language.

"Don't interrupt," cried Judge Lawton in stentorian tones.

"Very well," said Hopner.

Once more his Honor attempted to finish his statement, but as soon as he pronounced the mystic "8" Hopner was off again.

"Stop talking!" thundered the court, while a court officer made a dive for little Julius and shook him into submission. Hopner was then led to the witness stand while the court finished his order to the effect that Hopner should pay his wife $8 per week until the case has been decided.

Hopner burst forth from the spectators' seat with a protest, whereupon the court officer hooked arms with him and led him to the corridor. Here he talked some more until the court officer finally escorted him to the outer corridor where he couldn't be heard in the court room.

BARGE WAS SUNK

Captain and Crew of Five Lost Their Lives

BOSTON, Nov. 15.—The whalback barge Baroness, in collision off Fire Island on Thursday night with an unknown steamer, was sunk with her captain and crew of five aboard. The barge, which was commanded by Captain Soderberg, was being towed from Newport News to Providence by the steamer Bayport, whose captain reported the disaster in this city today.

It is stated that the reason that the vessel which sunk the Baroness did not return to the scene of the disaster was that she was square rigged and could not put back toward land as the wind was blowing off shore. Captain Soderberg of the Baroness hailed from East Boston. Two of his five men were negroes.

Friday night Captain Fred Keen of the Bayport gave up the search and proceeded with the other barge to New London.

DEATHS

MAGUIRE—Mrs. Mary McGuire, aged 56 years, died yesterday afternoon at the home of her sister, Mrs. John Cunningham, 746 Central street. Besides his sister, she leaves two sons.

George F. and John. Her remains were removed to the undertaking parlors of T. J. McDermott, St. Peter's parish and was greatly interested in the church work.

The family have the sympathy of their many friends in their sad bereavement.

DIV. 8. O. A. H.

HELD A WELL ATTENDED MEETING

A largely attended meeting of Division 8, O. A. H., was held last night at which two candidates were initiated and seven applications for membership received. Reports were received from the different committees conducting the social on Thanksgiving eve and all were encouraging.

After the meeting the military company of the division went through the regular drill under the direction of Capt. Fitzgerald.

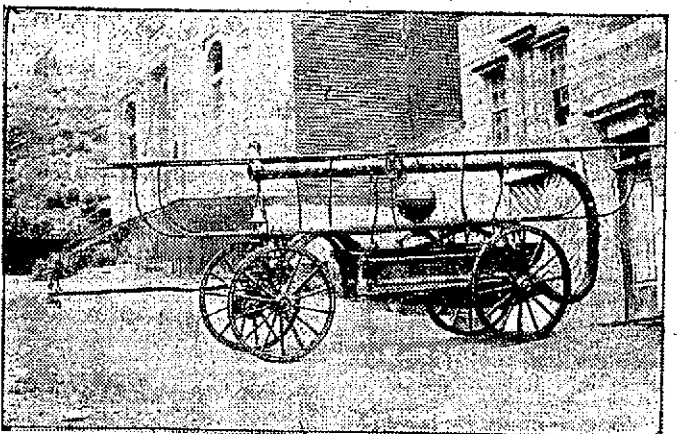

The next drill will be held one week from Sunday. At the regular meeting of the division on Nov. 23 the committee appointed will report the list of candidates for the different offices.

THE BUTLER VETS

Purchase New Tub from Pacific Coast

THE NEW HAND ENGINE OF THE BUTLER VETERAN FIREMEN.

Is a "Button" Machine and of Perfect Construction—Hose
Coupling Contest at Butler's
Dance Tomorrow Evening

If you happen to attend the annual dance of the Butler Vets tomorrow evening just call one of them aside and quietly inquire about their new "masheen" if you want to get an earful about hand engines and what the Butlers intend to do next year if they live.

The Butlers are now the proud owners of a new machine, now coming from the coast which promises to put the kibosh on anything in the east. The Butlers have had scouts all over the country looking for the real article and they finally located the machine that looked good to them and by coughing up good money for the tub and equally good for freight rates across the continent they will have safely housed at their quarters a tub that will make all competitors look like stationary engines next year.

The new tub is one of the celebrated Button machines and a duplicate of the Eureka, Gardner & Newton and the Fountain of South Hadley which in four months won $325. It was built by Button in 1873, but strange to relate has never been used and hence is practically brand new. It has a 10 inch engine 10-16 inch cylinders, a double air chamber, 5 inch suction hose which is carried as in other Button engines, connected to engine and in sleeve on top. It has 24 foot brakes, longer than most Button engines have. It has a crane neck, has springs back and forth, three outlets, iron tongue, two fancy signal lanterns, bell, and in fact all the latest improvements on Button engines. It cost $3600 to build and was built one year after the Eureka of Hudson-Portsmouth and is similar to the Eureka in almost every detail. The engine has never been used and is today as good as it was when it was built. Soon after it was built it was tested and found perfect but has never been used since.

Early every engine purchased for mucker purposes has required an outlay in some instances greater than the cost to put in proper condition. As this engine has never been used its constructive parts are of course perfect and new leathers, packing, etc., are all that will be required. It is as good as if it left the shop recently as concerned. The members found after scouring the country that it was the only first class mucker engine that could be purchased. Of course being new it has no record but the Butlers will make a record for it even as they did for their old machine and judging from the records of other machines of similar make the new machine will have one to be proud of next year.

A feature of the annual ball of the Butler Vets at Associate hall tomorrow evening will be a hose coupling contest within the hall which from the rules governing it should be interesting, to say the least.

Here are the rules:

Two men to a team. Men to be in bed; jump out of bed at sound of alarm. Put on pants or overalls, rubber boots, coat and hat. Connect 50 foot length of hose to hydrant. Put gate on opposite side. Go back and connect pipe to hose and drop pipe to line on threads. Time to be taken from sound of alarm to the dropping of pipe, or second man over the line fully dressed—or whichever happens last; both men over the line.

Hydrant. The hydrant must be a back and front.

Every contestant has the privilege of raising or lowering the bed. Every contestant shall lie flat in bed with head on pillow; shoulders flat on bed, and legs on straight. Every contestant shall lie with feet toward front of hall.

Couplings. All catch couplings except the gate. This the judge will screw on tight, then give one turn back; no cross threads.

Judges. There will be four judges: two at the beds, one at the pipe, and one at the hydrant.

Time-keepers. There will be two time-keepers.

Time not exceeding five minutes, will be allowed each team to get ready.

All questions and decisions to be settled by the judges.

The prizes are first, $15, 2d, $10, 3rd, $5. The contest begins at 8 o'clock sharp.

Strange to relate, there isn't a team entered from Lowell, although eight teams are coming from other places. The teams entered are as follows: Ervin V. Gay and John J. Cook, Hose 2, Abington, Mass.

Charles Sweet and Will Brooks, Stoneham, Mass.

W. H. Hammond and Thomas Hammond, Hose 1, Woburn, Mass.

Joseph Tansey and Fred Newhall, Stoneham, Mass.

Ernie Simonds and Warren Gowing, Hose 3, Woburn, Mass.

Daniel H. Kerrigan and James H. Hammond, Hose 1, Woburn, Mass.

Bachelder and Winchester, Engine 1, Peabody, Mass.

Henry Hilt and John J. Hincley, Gloucester, Mass.

VETOED BY MAYOR

Plan to Sell Fayette St. School

Mayor Meehan has vetoed the order to sell the Fayette street school property. He recommends selling the school and retaining the land for playground purposes. His message of veto is as follows:

To the City Council, City of Lowell.

Gentlemen: I hereby return without my approval the joint order entitled "Requesting the mayor to dispose by sale of the Fayette street school property."

I have given this matter careful consideration and I feel that it would be for the best interests of the city to sell the school building and retain the land as a public playground. This property is located in a congested section of the city where a playground is absolutely necessary in order to safeguard the health and lives of the children. I heartily recommend a new order to this effect.

Respectfully yours,
John F. Meehan, Mayor.

MOON ECLIPSE

Will Take Place Tomorrow Night

There will be an eclipse of the moon tomorrow evening, beginning at 5.44 o'clock and continuing until 8.55 o'clock. The eclipse will be total at 6.55, and the moon will remain wholly in the shadow of the earth until 7.47 o'clock. The eclipse will be plainly visible from all parts of the city if the weather is clear.

The average distance of the moon from the earth is about 239,000 miles. The average length of the shadow of the earth is 857,000 miles. At the time of the total eclipse, the moon passed through that part of the earth's shadow which is 6700 miles wide, or about 2-3 times the diameter of the moon.

If it were possible to see the earth's shadow, it would be seen tapering off to a point about 618,000 miles beyond the moon. Sight being impossible, however, the inference of the shadow of the earth is inferred from its effect upon the moon.

About half an hour before the moon reaches the shadow of the earth, its eastern limb will be darkened and the edge of the shadow will seem black when contrasted with the bright surface of the moon. The outline of the shadow will look sharp to the naked eye, but is indistinguishable when a telescope of high magnifying power is used.

When the moon is completely within the shadow it probably will have a copper-colored light, due to the sunlight bent around the earth into the shadow by the refraction of that part of the atmosphere of the earth which lies within ten or fifteen miles of the earth's surface.

To anyone on the moon observing the eclipse, the earth would seem to be surrounded by a narrow ring of sunlight, colored with the same hues that a sunset, but with double power, because the light has traversed a double thickness of the earth's atmosphere.

The spectator on the moon would see a glow at every point on the edge of the earth, at which the sun was rising or setting. It would look like a great fire to him, great enough to be seen 239,000 miles away. At other points the light would be of red or yellow tints, more faint, but compelling the circle about the globe.

If the weather happens to be clear tomorrow, the moon will appear strongly illuminated. The dark markings on its surface will stand out against the background of copper, even when it is passing through the densest part of the earth's atmosphere.

On the other hand, the weather is stormy at the portions of the earth where the sun is rising or setting, the clouds will cut off nearly all the light and the moon will be invisible to the naked eye.

CITY HALL MEETINGS

The city hall meetings scheduled for this evening include a regular meeting of the board of aldermen, a meeting of the board of charities and a water board meeting. The aldermen will have quite a list of business to consider including the mayor's veto of the joint order to sell the Fayette street school property and his recommendation for a temporary foot bridge in Lawrence street until the bridge now under construction has been built.

MR. HARRINGTON WINS

Verdicts for $2000 Against D. A. Long for Libel

Jury Returned Sealed Verdicts
Last Evening—Suit Growing
Out of Milk Wagon Accident in Pawtucketville on Trial Today

The jury in the cases of John H. Harrington vs. Dennis A. Long, for libel, this morning announced two verdicts, awarding the sum of $1500 in one case and $500 in the other, both aggregating $2000.

The jury retired about 10.45 o'clock yesterday forenoon and returned a sealed verdict shortly after 7 o'clock last evening. The verdict was opened and announced at the opening of court this morning.

Jury Goes to Charlestown

A jury was empaneled in the cases of William H. Sexton and Morris O'Brien, for personal injuries, against the Boston Elevated company. The men employed as blacksmith and helper, respectively, in the repair shop of the defendant company in Charlestown at the time of the accident, and while in the employ of the company and in the exercise of due care they claim an air hammer fell on them, catching their hands, causing in one case the loss of two fingers and in the other the loss of one finger. F. Hunt of Boston and John J. Harvey of Lowell appear for the plaintiffs, and Lawyer Sears of Boston for the defendant. The jury upon being empaneled was taken to Charlestown for a view of the premises.

Pawtucketville Accident Case

The case of Fred M. Reed, a minor, through his father, Henry B. Reed, and of the father personally, against the Boston & Northern street railway was then opened. The plaintiffs claim that on the morning of November 15, 1907, while the boy was driving his father's milk wagon along Mammoth road, and was turning out of the car tracks he was run into from behind by an electric car in such a manner as to drive the wagon into a telegraph pole with force sufficient to cause the father's personal injuries while the father was for the injuries to the horse and wagon. F. B. Garland appears for the plaintiff and Trull and Wier for the defendant.

Case is Settled

The case of Louisa Lafond, admx. vs. Boston & Maine to recover for the death of her husband, Joseph R. Lafond, which went to trial yesterday morning was settled out of court during the noon recess.

CITY SOLICITOR

Gives Out Opinion on the Laws of Settlement

The following opinion by the city solicitor and addressed to the superintendent of the Chelmsford Street hospital is self-explanatory:

Office of City Solicitor,
Lowell, Mass.
November 14, 1910.

Mr. Martin F. Conley, Superintendent of Chelmsford Street Hospital, Lowell, Mass.

Dear Sir:—I have your request for an opinion as to whether the city can refuse pay for relief furnished an individual and thereby prevent such person from attaining a settlement.

As I understand this particular case it is that of a woman whose husband (since deceased) had a settlement in the town of Westford and the woman herself now resides in Lowell.

Under the provisions of Revised Laws, chap. 80, sec. 1, cl. 6, "A widow who resides in any place within this commonwealth for five consecutive years, shall thereby acquire a settlement in such place."

But sec. 2 of said chapter provides that "No persons shall acquire a settlement, or be in process of acquiring a settlement, while receiving relief as a pauper, unless within five years after the time of receiving such relief, he reimburses the cost thereof to the city or town furnishing the same."

Therefore, in this particular case until the person referred to has repaid the city for relief furnished she cannot acquire a settlement here. Upon her offer of payment, however, the city has no alternative but to accept the same as under our law, with one or two exceptions which are not material in this case, a woman may acquire a settlement wherever she pleases.

Very truly yours,
Wm. W. Duncan,

case resulted in the acquittal of Sharp. Colonel Cooper and this defendant were found guilty in the first degree. The supreme court affirmed the case of Col. Cooper, but as to this defendant there was a reversal.

Judge Nell then stated to the jury that in view of the statement of the attorney and in view of the fact that there is no further effort being made to prosecute the case the jury would return a verdict of not guilty, which was accordingly done.

STATUS OF TAP LINES

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—The status of the hundreds of so-called tap lines, short railroads connecting with interstate common carriers in all parts of the country, will be fixed as the result of a hearing which the interstate commerce commission arranged today to be held at New Orleans, Dec. 1.

6 O'CLOCK IN POLICE COURT

Several Interesting Cases Heard by Judge Hadley

There are too many cases being settled out of court, according to Judge Samuel P. Hadley of the municipal court, and this morning when Alfred Moehenger, charged with the larceny of $15 from Wilfred Blouin, announced that he had settled the complaint proffered against him, and refused to enter a plea of guilty, the court ordered the man to be remanded to jail.

The only witness heard was the complainant, and at the conclusion of his testimony Judge Hadley ordered the case continued until more witnesses could be secured.

According to the testimony offered, Blouin conducts a grocery store at 404 Moody street, and recently Moehenger called at his place of business and represented himself as an agent of the American Cash Register Co. The defendant, it is alleged, sold a cash register to the complainant, the latter giving the defendant a check for $25, and in return the defendant gave the complainant $10 in cash, the $16 being as the complainant supposed a deposit on the cash register which he was to receive.

The cash register, however, was not delivered, according to the testimony of the complainant, and while it was not brought out in the testimony that the check for $25 had been cashed, the police claim that the check was cashed.

Inasmuch as the defendant would not enter a plea of guilty in order to make a settlement, as had been suggested to the court, Judge Hadley ordered the case continued till Saturday.

Arrested in Dover

Antonio Trapnais was charged with the larceny of an overcoat, watch and pair of shoes belonging to Costas Exarhos, the alleged larceny having occurred on October 13. The defendant entered a plea of not guilty despite the fact that the latter admitted that the coat in question had been found in his room.

According to the testimony offered by the complainant the goods were taken out of his room at 1 Coolidge street. He learned that the defendant, whom he claimed to know, took the articles, had gone to Dover, N. H., and reporting the matter to the police the latter sent Special Officer John Regis to Dover and Regis located Trapnais and going to his room found the overcoat, but failed to find the watch and shoes.

MURDER TRIAL

Jury Went to Scene of Crime

SALEM, Nov. 15.—The jury in the trial of Wassill Ivanowski and Andrei Ipsen, charged with the murder of Thomas Landregan and James H. Carroll in a sensational holdup in Lynn last June, went to Lynn today on a special trolley car to view the scene of the crime. They were expected to return early in the afternoon.

Edson Lewis of Salem, who was chosen foreman of the jury yesterday, was relieved from former service today because of illness. Herman Perkins of Amesbury was chosen to fill his place on the jury, and Herbert B. Batchelder of Haverhill was appointed foreman.

SKETCH SHOWING HOW EUGENE B. ELY FLEW FROM THE DECK OF THE CRUISER BIRMINGHAM IN A CURTISS BIPLANE

The dotted line shows the course of the flight, the aeroplane gliding off the bow of the ship, plunging down to the water, then rising in successful flight.

Eugene B. Ely Makes First Flight From Deck of Ship

FORT MONROE, Va., Nov. 15.—Aerial navigation proved yesterday that it is a factor to be dealt with in the naval tactics of the future. From Hampton Roads, where 45 years ago the first ironclad relegated to the back waters in one battle all the wooden navies of the world, Eugene B. Ely rose from the deck of the cruiser Birmingham in a Curtiss biplane and, skimming across the lower end of Chesapeake bay landed on the shore opposite this fort, five miles away.

Weather conditions were unfavorable for flying. Intermittent rain throughout the day, several small hail showers and a continuous fog almost compelled the aviator to postpone his attempt. But he was determined to prove, as he said afterwards, that he could accomplish more than had been expected of him. Furthermore, he did not wait for the Birmingham to get into motion, which would have aided him greatly in rising, but seizing an opportune moment between showers, he was off before those on the ship were aware that he was ready for his flight, the first of its kind the world has ever seen. Ely proved yesterday that it is possible to fly safely from a ship and after having done this, asserted with emphasis that it would be an easy matter for an aeroplane to alight on a vessel, either while the latter was moving or standing still.

Naval experts who witnessed the flight expressed their belief that the navies of the world in the future must take the aeroplane into consideration.

Captain Washington I. Chambers, who has been detailed by the navy department as chairman of a board for aeronautical investigation, declared that the flight was more impressive than he had expected and he is confident that the time is near when all scout cruisers will be equipped with a number of aeroplanes. They would not be for all battleship use, he believed, but for supplementary scout work in connection with navy cruisers.

"When Mr. Ely flew with such ease from a standing ship," he said, "it showed beyond doubt that his task would have been simpler if the Birmingham had been moving." Starting out from the Norfolk navy yard at 11:30 o'clock yesterday morning on the Birmingham, closely followed by the swift greyhounds of the navy, the two torpedo boat destroyers Roe and Terry and by the torpedo boats Bailey and Stringham, it was fully four hours later before Ely's machine was working to his full satisfaction.

The Birmingham was lying in the Roads only a quarter of a mile from the Hotel Chamberlain, but in making his flight to Willoughby's point, Ely flew in a curve, so that although the exact distance could not be determined, it was believed he covered almost five miles.

It was 3:16 o'clock when he took the air. Five minutes later he was safe on the solid soil of Virginia a few miles north of Norfolk. Brought back on a launch and placed aboard the Roe, Mr. Ely said he was not fond of the water, but he had conquered his fears long enough to remain over it in a fog and accomplish his purpose.

When he struck the water on diving off the 80-foot platform erected on the bow of the Birmingham, a propeller blade was broken and salt water dashed into the aviator's face and goggles, so that he could not see for several minutes in which direction he was going. He had planned to take a somewhat different course from that which he actually followed and land a little further to the north. The highest altitude he attained was estimated at about 500 feet. His striking the water, he said afterwards, was due to a slight miscalculation. The damage to the propeller blade did not appreciably affect the machine.

Ely went back to Norfolk immediately after the flight and, if weather conditions are favorable, will attempt today a flight over the city. Tomorrow he is away to show his prowess at Raleigh.

It is understood that Ely by his flight yesterday, has won a $5000 prize offered by John Barry Ryan for the first flight of a mile or more from any ship to land.

Further experiments of a similar nature, it is expected, will be conducted in the near future by the navy department.

The opinion was freely expressed yesterday that the aeroplane must be taken seriously in naval warfare of the future.

SALEM, Nov. 15.—Vahan Nalbandian, the Lynn Armenian, charged with the murder of his room-mate last year, is in a serious condition in the Salem jail. His trial is set for the present term of court here, but physicians who have attended him express doubt whether he will be able to appear in court, and state that it is possible that he may not live to be tried since he was brought back from Bulgaria, to which country he fled after the alleged murder, Nalbandian has fallen rapidly and the physicians say that he is a nervous wreck.

COUGHLIN.—The funeral of Edward Coughlin, son of Edward and Winifred, took place yesterday afternoon from the home of his parents, 824 Broadway and was largely attended. There were many beautiful floral tributes, including a large pillow inscribed "Good Bye, Teddie," from the parents; spray of chrysanthemums, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Walker; spray of chrysanthemums inscribed "Teddie," from Aunt Ann; spray of pinks from Uncle Joe. Burial was in St. Patrick's cemetery in charge of Undertakers J. F. O'Donnell & Sons.

LEDFOUR.—The funeral of the late Catherine Ledford took place from her late home, 714 Lawrence street this morning at 8:30. High mass was sung in the Sacred Heart church by Rev. J. P. Flynn, O. M. I. The funeral was largely attended by relatives and friends of the deceased, who was highly esteemed by all that knew her. The choir rendered the plain chant. Mrs. Muldoon presided at the organ. There were many beautiful floral offerings, among them being the following: A wreath from Cregg family; pillow from Margaret and Winifred Healy; pillow from family of deceased. The bearers were Thomas Cuff, Thomas Lacy, Timothy Curry, Edward Flannigan, Patrick Flannigan and Thomas Kennedy. Rev. Fr. Flynn read the committal prayers in St. Patrick's cemetery. Funeral in charge of Undertaker Davey.

DEATHS

HOWARTH.—Frederick M. Howarth died yesterday at his home in North Billerica, aged 45 years. He leaves a widow and three children.

BANCROFT.—Mrs. Mary Bancroft, aged 67 years, died yesterday at her home, 14 Alder street. Deceased is survived by two sons, John J. and Kirk H. and a daughter, Mrs. John A. Osgood, all of this city.

WRIGHT.—Nahum Harwood Wright died suddenly at his home in Westford yesterday, aged 73 years. Deceased was town treasurer for 23 years, resigning that position in 1909. He was also a selectman of the town and was a member of William North lodge of Masons and also of the chapter and commandery. He lived in Westford for 40 years.

Mr. Wright was connected with the grocery business in Granville for several years, and was also associated with the firm of Wright & Fletcher, quartermen of Westford. He is survived by two sons, Harwood L. of Westford and Henry M. Wright of Quincy, the latter the principal of the English High school of that place.

MAGUIRE.—Francis J. Maguire, a well known resident of Centralville, died last night at St. John's hospital, following the effects of an operation. The body was removed to his home at 4 Clifton place, off West Third street, by Undertakers C. H. Molloy & Sons. Mr. Maguire leaves besides his wife, Ida, one daughter, Miss Mary; his father, Mathew; two sisters, Mrs. B. S. Gordon of Haverhill and Mrs. F. A. Spear of Danvers, and one brother, Hugh. Mr. Maguire was prominent in fraternal affairs, being a member of Court City of Lowell of the Foresters, and the Lowell nest of Owls.

ROSE.—Word was received in Lowell last night that Frank G. Rose, son of Mrs. Annette Sumner Rose, who formerly lived in Andover street, this city, died very suddenly Sunday at his home in Brooklyn, N. Y. The funeral will take place Wednesday at the home of an uncle, Cornelius Van Brock of Long Island.

HENRY.—Patrick Henry died at Rutland, Mass., Monday. He leaves to mourn his loss his father, Peter Henry, and one sister and a daughter in Ireland, and one sister of Lowell, Mrs. Wm. Hornby. The body was brought to this city by Undertaker John F. Rogers today.

HOWARTH.—The many friends of Mr. Frederick Howarth of North Billerica will be pained to hear of his death which occurred at his home, 9 Rogers street, North Billerica, yesterday. He leaves a wife and daughter to mourn his loss.

POPULATION OF MAINE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—The population of Maine is 743,371, according to the 13th census statistics made public today. This is an increase of 47,905, or 6.9 per cent over 695,466 in 1900. The increase from 1890 to 1900 was $3,350, or 5 per cent.

The population of the counties containing the principal cities: Androscoggin county, 53,822, compared with 54,242 in 1900. Cumberland county, 112,014, compared with 100,589 in 1900.

PARLIAMENT ADJOURNS

LONDON, Nov. 15.—An adjournment of parliament was taken till Friday at the request of Chancellor Lloyd George, who said that circumstances had arisen which in the judgment of the government rendered it undesirable to proceed with the business set down for today. He added that Premier Asquith would be in a position on Friday to make a statement of the government's plans.

The house of commons was crowded to its capacity and a nervous tension was noticeable during the preliminaries. These over, the chancellor at once sought and secured a postponement of the inevitable crisis.

A NERVOUS WRECK

FREEMAN, N. J., Nov. 15.—Thomas Williams, the negro suspect in the Marie Smith child murder and assault case was brought from Asbury Park in an automobile and safely lodged in the county jail here. The guard accompanying him was heavily armed and it was reported that every road leading to Freehold was being watched by a crowd of would-be lynchers. The journey, however, was made without interruption.

A HOWLING MOB

Wanted to Lynch a Negro at Asbury Park

ASBURY PARK, N. J., Nov. 15.—Following an abortive attempt by a mob to lynch Thomas Williams, the negro charged with the horrible murder of a few days ago of Marie Smith, a child of this town, the accused man was taken from the local police station and, trembling with fear and on the verge of collapse, was rushed in an automobile to the county jail at Freehold. The mob had been scattered and the streets were comparatively clear so that the officers in charge of the prisoner had little difficulty in getting him out of town.

Williams, whimpering and cowering presented a pitiable spectacle when he was brought from the jail which a short time before had been surrounded by a howling mob. The police had been able to drive the crowd back with their clubs capturing a sledge hammer and several crowbars. Williams denied all knowledge of the crime and from official sources it was learned that he had apparently established a good alibi. He is being held without bail for further examination and to await the inquest.

The mutilated body of the Smith child was found in the woods near her home on Sunday and Williams, who had been missing since Wednesday last, the day the girl disappeared, was arrested Sunday evening.

Managers and team owners were engaged today in the annual conferences for trading players and looking up new material of every kind. There were several points which the board of arbitration decided to refer to the main body but these are now being forgotten in the fight over re-classification.

CATHOLIC FEDERATION

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 15.—Reports by committees on social, religious and educational questions were expected to claim attention at today's session of the American Federation of Catholic societies.

Under the social question the so-called "white slave" traffic and the divorce evil came in for consideration. The matter of the establishment of more parochial schools was one of the principal features of the committee on education report.

WOMAN ARRESTED

BOSTON, Nov. 15.—Miss Flora White, formerly of Brandon, Vt., was arrested today on an indictment charging her with aiding her mother, Mrs. Rosie Adams of Brandon in making out fraudulent pension papers.

COUNT TOLSTOI

Is Very Ill In a Railroad Station

TULSA, Russia, Nov. 15.—Broken down by the hardships of a winter journey, mental strain and a rupture with his family, Count Leo Tolstoy lies with a high fever in the little railroad station at Astapova, barely eight miles from his home at Yasnaya Polyana.

COUNT TOLSTOI

Tolstoy is attended by Dr. Makovetsky, who was his sole companion when he left his peasant house a few days ago and who carried along with him medicaments for just such an emergency. Tolstoy's daughter Alexandra is acting as his nurse.

Telegraphic reports of his condition are far from favorable. Indeed, they are considered extremely pessimistic. His temperature is 104, indicating probably a serious congestion, and of itself an alarming symptom in one of Tolstoy's years. Moreover, the mental anguish of the patient handicaps the efforts of the physician to reduce the fever. Even if he recovers, there can be no question of his continuing the journey to the Caucasus, where he planned to end his life among the Tolstoyan colony on the shores of the Black sea.

The count had hoped to escape notice after his hasty departure from Yasnaya Polyana, and spend a quiet week of farewell with his sister Maria, a nun in the ancient cloister of Shmarino, in the province of Kaluga, but he insisted upon leaving immediately he found his retreat had been discovered. He drove in a carriage on Sunday evening from Shmarino to Kozelak, accompanied by his daughter Alexandra and Dr. Makovetsky, in order to cover his movements, and announced that he was going to Moscow, where he has a house. Later, however, the party changed cars and boarded a slow local train proceeding in the direction of the Caucasus. The count, with his two companions made his way to an unventilated third class compartment, which already was crowded with peasants. The atmosphere was stifling and he developed such a fever that Dr. Makovetsky thought it unwise to attempt to reach Tula, the first town of any considerable size along the route. They left the train at Astapova, which is merely a flag station. There is no hospital there, and only a few peasant huts. The count was taken into the station building, where he remained during the night.

NEW YORK CLOAK AND SUIT CO., 12-18 John Street

FOR NEW CHARTER

Board of Trade Committee Presents Report

The charter committee of sixty is making commendable progress, as was evidenced last evening, when at its meeting in the board of trade rooms, suggestions, pro and con, were heard from several well known citizens. William H. Wilson, president, and the opening business consisted of the appointment of several sub-committees to attend to the details of the work. An executive committee of nine, authorized to advise and co-operate with all other committees, was nominated as follows: Henry F. Harris, Dr. Frank McAviney, Fred C. Weld, J. H. Beaulieu, Henry A. Smith, Dr. Hugh Walker, Prof. Hugh J. Molloy, Carl M. Pihl, William F. Sproule, with President H. B. Greene of the board of trade, and Secretary Murphy added as members of the same body, ex-officio. A finance committee of fifteen members, to have charge of financing the charter revision movement, was named as follows: Dr. J. E. Lamoureux, Frederick A. Platter, Royal P. White, Chas. S. Proctor, Walter H. Howe, George F. Harrigan, Murray H. Pratt, Daniel F. Carroll, Edward B. Carney, Michael Lee, Frank H. Ricard, John E. Drury, John J. Mahoney, A. E. O'Heir and C. Marshall Forrest.

A publicity committee of six was nominated, to include Rev. Charles T. Billings, Edward Gallagher, Phillip S. Marden, P. J. Parent, Irving D. Kimball and Cyrus Durgin. At the previous meeting a legal committee was appointed to examine the law relating to charter powers now existing and to consider a new draft. Reporting for this committee at last evening's meeting, John W. McEvoy said that the several aspects of the case had met with careful attention, and that the committee felt the need of general instructions before proceeding further. He therefore submitted four questions relating to the subject, which the committee desired answers upon from the general "committee of sixty." The questions were taken up seriatim as follows:

1: "Shall a form of government be based on the general plan of the Haverhill charter be recommended?" To this the answer was in the affirmative after a general discussion in which many took part and which developed but one article of the Haverhill plan—Mr. Sproule—who inclined not to believe it an improvement.

2: "Shall party designations of candidates upon all ballots on election days be retained?" The answer was in the negative, discussion being deemed apparently needless.

3: "Shall some form of procedure securing the right of recall be recommended?" The answer was in the affirmative—unanimously.

4: "Shall some form of procedure designed to secure the privileges of initiative and referendum be recommended?" Answer, Yes.

President Wilson reminded the committee that of course all this was suggestive—not final at all. Secretary Murphy spoke of his experiences in Lynn and Haverhill, where he interviewed citizens at random relative to the workings of the new charters in those cities. In Lynn he found that the new form was too new to afford much definite ground for opinion, although the general opinion was favorable. In Haverhill all were in favor of the new charter and he failed to find any adverse criticism. It was recommended to the legal sub-committee in charge of a proposed draft that the general plan of the Haverhill (Des Moines) charter be followed. It was also recommended that party designations be dropped from all ballots; that a provision designed to secure the right of recall be included; and also some provision to insure the privilege of initiative and referendum.

RUMOR IS DENIED

That Count Boni is to Wed

PARIS, Nov. 15.—The duchess de Talleyrand, who was Anna Gould, was informed yesterday that she had been quoted in New York as saying that Count Boni de Castellane, whom she divorced, is engaged to marry a New York woman whose father, a banker, is immensely wealthy. Plainly the

106 YEARS OLD CAN WALK 4 MILES A DAY

Josiah Zeitlin Danced on His 106th Birthday and Was As Lively As a Cricket.

He Has Seen Much of This World, and He Declares He Hopes to See More—Tells How He Kept Well.

Old Mr. Josiah Zeitlin, of 136 Lexington Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y., hasn't much time to think about how he has lived to be 106 years old. He is too busy planning what he shall do for many more years. He laughs at those who decry drinking and smoking, and points with pride to the fact that he has always done just what he pleased, and has never had a sick day in his life.

"I don't let anything worry me, though," he says. "There isn't enough time in the world for worry, and besides it makes people old. I don't think there is anything worth worrying over, anyhow. What I say is: If you want to eat, eat, and if you want to drink, drink."

"Although I was 106 years old on July 3d last, I still feel that I am good for several years. I was born at Lodz, in Poland, and after a lengthy business life in the old land came to this country in 1852 to reside with my daughter. I have used Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey for many years and find it very beneficial. It invigorates and gives me strength. I feel that it has helped me to live the 106 years. Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey is the very medicine old people need to restore their falling health and strength."

duchess was surprised that she had been made the authority for such a statement.

"Naturally, I am not in the confidence of the persons concerned, so I cannot know the truth of this rumor, which I have heard repeatedly," said the duchess to a correspondent yesterday.

"Recently I said to a friend who asked me about the report, that I had heard it. I added then, and I say to you now, that if there is any truth in the rumor, I would suggest to the woman in question that before engaging herself she call on my sister, Helen Gould, and learn something more about that de Castellane."

The duchess de Talleyrand is much more concerned about a dispatch from Rome, published a day or two ago, than about Boni de Castellane's matrimonial projects. The dispatch stated that she asked the Vatican to annul her marriage with Count Boni in order that she may go through a religious marriage ceremony with her husband, whom Americans know better as Prince Helle de Sagan.

"Such an announcement implies that I was not married to my present husband by a ceremony in church," said the duchess yesterday. "That is false; we were married in the Huguenot church, London. I have always been a Protestant. I am a Protestant now."

"I have never renounced my religion. Therefore, the marriage ceremony in the Huguenot church was just as much of a religious ceremony as would be one in any other church."

"The count de Castellane tried to persuade the Vatican to annul our marriage on the ground that on the very day of our wedding, even at the wedding breakfast, I told Count Jean de Castellane and another of Count Boni's friends that I expected to divorce him."

"The Vatican did not believe this absurd, impossible story. Now Count Boni is renewing his plea to the Vatican to annul the marriage on alleged technical grounds."

FRANKIE BURNS

DEFEATED SHEA IN A 15 ROUND BOUT

NEW HAVEN, Nov. 15.—In a 15-round bout before the Edgewood A. C. last evening, Frankie Burns of Brooklyn had the better of Joe Shea of Waterbury. Burns, by his persistent fighting, wore Shea out, but the latter is the better boxer. Burns kept punning Shea's ribs and face in the clinches.

Shea was very groggy in the middle of the fight, but came back toward the end. Nevertheless, Burns had the popular decision.

Jack Doyle of New York and Alf Lynch of New Haven met in a 12-round go, which they fought in to a draw. Neither had any advantage and a closer bout has seldom been seen here.

In the preliminary between Jackie Rollinson of Shelton and Joe Marks of Highwood, the latter had Rollinson all in after the third round, and in the fifth Referee Fitzpatrick stopped the fight. There was a large crowd present at the Casino, where the bouts were held.

DUNN'S BOUT

AMSTERDAM, N. Y., Nov. 15.—In the 10-round bout last night between Jimmy Dunn of Amsterdam and Johnny Daly of Brooklyn, in this city, the local candidate for the bantamweight championship had the better of it. Dunn has improved wonderfully, especially in fighting. Charley White, the veteran referee of Boston, was the third man in the ring.

GOLDEN EAGLE

WAS CAPTURED BY A BRATTLEBORO, VT. MAN

BRATTLEBORO, VT., Nov. 15.—H. E. White of Hallowell, without the usual pinch of salt to deposit upon the tail of the bird, captured a denizen of the air Monday, and it was no less a personage among the feathered tribe than a magnificent golden eagle. He captured the bird without assistance and with his bare hands. To show that he can catch birds, eagles at that, alive, Mr. White has the eagle in captivity and will probably take it with him to his winter home in New York city.

Monday while Mr. White and William Morrison, a neighbor, were watching the eagle on a nearby tree the bird suddenly swooped down, and with incredible swiftness into a flock of ducks and guinea fowl in the yard. Both men rushed at the bird as it drove its talons into a guinea hen and started to leave the ground. The eagle measured nine feet from tip to tip and was slow in ascending.

Mr. White grasped both feet of the eagle and brought the bird back to the ground, where it was bound and carried to the house. Mr. Morrison has made a cage for the eagle and many persons have called to see the bird.

The bird is a glossy black, with the exception of the golden head and shield around its neck, which gives the bird its name. Across the shoulders is a white spot.

LIBERAL MEMBERS

Warned to Expect Dissolution of British Parliament

LONDON, Nov. 15.—Public attention is engrossed by the political crisis. At the political clubs last night there was feverish excitement over the prospect of an immediate dissolution of parliament, for which both parties are actively preparing. It is said liberal members have been warned by the government to expect dissolution Nov. 23, two weeks from yesterday, and the first borough pollings would come on Saturday, Dec. 3.

Election prophecies credit the liberals with a gain of 20 seats. The most sanguine Tories only claim that they will reduce the present liberal majority in parliament by that number. In any event Redmond will hold the balance of power.

No political leader ever before got the advertising that the Tory papers, hoping to arouse anti-Irish prejudice, are giving John Redmond. His arrival in London last night was greeted by editorials acclaiming him as the absolute dictator of British politics returning from America with $200,000 to extract home rule from the fears and self-interest of the ministerial party.

It is evident that in default of any other slogan, the conservatives intend to pound vigorously the anti-Irish note. Already they are predicting humiliation and disaster for Great Britain in consequence of Redmond's power to compel the cabinets to obey his behests.

When seen last night, Mr. Redmond smiled at the violent diatribes of the conservative press, and said: "The truth is that in this crisis the interests of the British and the Irish democracies are entirely one. They are both resolved to gain their political liberty by ending the dictatorial pretensions of the house of lords."

"I have seen no one yet and am incompletely informed of the facts in the situation, but I can say that the Irish party is for an immediate general election on every ground. There is no reason why the crisis should be allowed to drag on. We are ready for an election in Ireland any moment."

The Irish party will meet today in Westminster to decide upon a course of action after hearing Chief Premier Asquith's statement.

Lord Knolly, the king's political secretary, conferred two hours yesterday with Asquith, who was declining upon the form in which he shall announce the king's promise to create peers provided the liberals are again returned to power with a sufficient majority.

The constitutional position of the king makes it an extremely delicate matter for the prime minister to mention him in any way to connect him with party politics.

Knolly, who is a liberal himself, thoroughly discussed the question with King Edward a few weeks before the king's death, and the late king consented to give the promise now being demanded from him.

STEAM ENGINEERS
ARRANGED FOR THEIR CONVENTION IN LAWRENCE

The international steam engineers met last night and elected delegates to the semi-annual convention in Lawrence on Dec. 11: William E. Konefick, John H. Smith and A. L. Hersome. The delegates chosen were William Davis, Archie Bell and C. J. Shaw. After the business session, a social hour was enjoyed and later in the evening refreshments were served. The program consisted of songs by John Mutter, John Smith, Michael Ryan and Michael Hildge. There were remarks by Mr. Konefick and President Anguavine of the local organization. The committee in charge consisted of L. H. Butterfield, John Mutter and John H. Smith.

THANKS JUDGE
FOR SENDING HIM TO THE STATE FARM

BROCKTON, Nov. 15.—John H. Conley, 57, of Roxbury, walked from Boston to Brockton yesterday in search of work. When he came to the Montello fire station he went in and told Capt. John Thompson that he wanted a warm place for the winter. Capt. Thompson telephoned the police and Conley was arrested as a tramp. In police court he told Judge Reed he wanted a warm home for the winter, and the court sent him to the state farm.

"Thank you," said Conley when Clerk Harry W. Flagg read the sentence.

HUNTING BILL

New Measure in Vermont Legislature

MONTPELIER, Vt., Nov. 15.—The Vermont legislature reconvened last evening with an evident determination of putting in a solid week's work before the Thanksgiving recess. Although the time for the introduction of bills except through committees expired last week, the revision committee still has in its hands more than 100 bills that will come in during the present week.

About 20 of these were introduced last evening. Senator Darling of Caledonia county put in one authorizing the trustee at Waterbury to erect a building to be used as a criminal ward at an expense not to exceed $20,000.

Mr. Bowles of Woodford introduced a bill which again touches on the Sunday hunting question. It provides for a fine if $200 for hunting or discharging firearms within 100 rods of a church on Sunday.

Mr. Fletcher of Caledonia introduced a measure which raises the salary of the bank commissioner from $200 to $3000 and provides that the commissioner shall devote all his time to the duties of his office.

Mr. Burbank of Cabot introduced a bill which establishes a state agency for distributing intoxicating liquors for medical, chemical and mechanical purposes. This bill follows very closely the South Carolina dispensary law.

Mr. Hunt of New Haven, one of the champions in the house for female suffrage, does not believe in taxation without representation. He introduced a bill which exempts which provides that unmarried women 21 or more years old shall not be required to pay taxes if they are denied the right to vote.

Mr. Stafford of Brattleboro introduced a bill which appropriates $10,000 for the use of the several agricultural fairs of the state.

FIGHT WITH DOG

Brooklyn Man Choked
Brute to Death

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—Thomas Meehan, 28 years old, of 126 Wyckoff street, Brooklyn, is in a serious condition at the Long Island college hospital as the result of a fierce battle with a big bull terrier early today. After being frightfully bitten on the hands and throat, Meehan strangled the dog at death. There is no indication that the dog was suffering from rabies, but a thorough examination of the body has been ordered.

Meehan was on his way home, when he came upon the dog gnawing a bone directly in his path at the corner of Bond and Hoyt streets. He kicked at the terrier, who sprang at his throat. Meehan beat the dog off, but was bitten on the hand. Again the animal sprang at Meehan's throat, but was beaten off again, after tearing the man's other hand.

The but made another leap for Meehan's throat, this time fastening its teeth in the flesh. In vain did Meehan try to shake the dog off, and finally, he realized that his only chance was to choke the terrier to death. He clasped both hands about the terrier's throat and with the strength of desperation finally strangled the animal to death.

Meehan was found unconscious, the body of the dog beside him. Meehan was soon restored to consciousness at the hospital, and the physicians said that he would probably recover unless rabies developed.

WOMAN PASTOR

SHE WAS SAVED BY A SIGNAL IN WINDOW

BOSTON, Nov. 15.—Lying in a semi-conscious condition, the kitchen floor of her home on Winthrops road, Malden, the Rev. Mrs. Elizabeth M. Bruce, pastor of the Wayside chapel in Maplewood, was found by Mrs. Silas M. Spencer, a neighbor, early yesterday. Her attention was attracted to the house by a prearranged signal, the manipulation of a curtain. Mrs. Bruce was found suffering from a fracture of the right hip, caused by a fall about 3 a. m., when she arose to fix the fires in the house where she lives alone.

The woman lay on the floor for five hours, suffering excruciating pain, but managed to arrange the curtain as a sign of distress before she became too weak to move. Each morning Mrs. Spencer made a practice of looking from her window to see if there was any signal from Mrs. Bruce, who is 81 years of age.

Doctors found Mrs. Bruce in a serious condition, owing to her advanced age.

A Regular Tom Boy was Susie, climbing trees and fences, jumping bushes, whistling, always getting scratches, cuts, bruises, bumps, burns or scalds. But her mother just applied Bucklen's Arnica Salve and cured him quick. He is everything healthy—Hollis, Mass. Write Old Sore, Corns or Piles. Try it. 25c at A. W. Dows & Co.

HEARING HELD HORSE DISEASE

On Receivership for St. Jean Baptiste Union

PROVIDENCE, Nov. 15.—A hearing was held in the superior court yesterday afternoon in the receivership proceedings against St. Jean Baptiste Union, the largest French-Canadian organization in the country.

The society is an insurance and fraternal order, with a membership of $5,000 throughout New England and New York. Recently the association was severely censured by the insurance commissioners of Massachusetts and New York for irregularities in its insurance business. The resignation of Supreme Secretary J. Adelard Caron and the appointment of a temporary receiver followed.

The corporation is now cited to show cause why a permanent receiver should not be appointed, on the petition of John B. Brindamour, a member of the finance committee which found deficits in the accounts of several of the officers of the union. In order that a scandal might not be stirred up by the investigations of new officers.

It is also planned to change the headquarters from Woonsocket to Providence, Boston or Worcester. While the organization is supposed to be a Roman Catholic society, it is not recognized as such by the church authorities.

A movement has been started to hold a new convention to annul the proceedings at the last meeting in Manchester, N. H., at which the officers were elected. In the order of the charges against them, it is stated that a scandal might not be stirred up by the investigations of new officers.

It is also planned to change the headquarters from Woonsocket to Providence, Boston or Worcester. While the organization is supposed to be a Roman Catholic society, it is not recognized as such by the church authorities.

THE RIVER SEINE

Is Rising at a Rapid Rate

PARIS, Nov. 15.—The Seine rose at the rate of 12 1/2 centimeters an hour today. The official statement that the maximum flood would be reached on Thursday next has not reassured the riverside dwellers in this city and in the suburbs, who see the waters advancing slowly in the streets bordering the stream and fear another disaster.

The return of flood conditions has convinced the government that the raising of the parapets is but a makeshift measure and accordingly it will push the big project of a canal to divert the waters in times of flood. The building of this canal will be a matter of years.

Fogel explained to Herrmann that the right of the matter was all on the Philadelphia side of the fence and that if the Phillies did not agree to allow Hohlitzel to come to the Philadelphia trade would be blocked. After much argument Herrmann is said to have agreed.

Fogel today broke into print with a statement regarding the Phillies-Red deal, in which he said in substance that he believed the Phillies had all the best of Herrmann, but that he did not propose to be ignored and if Herrmann had not recognized him in the deal he would have called the whole trade off.

Pres. Fogel's statement in part follows: "When I blocked the original deal of Grant, Bates, McQuillen and Moran for Lobert, Paakeri, Rowan and Beethle, I did so because I had not been consulted and had not given anyone authority to make the trade. Mr. Herrmann contended, however, that as the trade had been made public, it must stand. After Mr. Herrmann had explained matters to me and I had done the same to him, the way was paved for an amicable agreement between us, but not until he had assured me that he had never stated that he would force this case before the national commission or ever said anything about 'syndicate ball' and the ownership of the Philadelphia club to anyone in connection with this matter."

While I have this opportunity I want to, for the benefit and I hope the last time, to assure the public that Charles W. Murphy does not own a single share of stock in the Philadelphia club and hasn't a dollar invested in it, directly or indirectly."

BASEBALL DEAL

Fogel Says He Got Best of It

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 15.—Dick Hohlitzel, star first baseman of the Cincinnati Reds, will play with the Phillies next season, and Mike Doolan, the first shortstop of the Phillies, will go to Cincinnati in exchange, is the statement made here by an authority that hardly may be questioned.

According to the statement in circulation, Pres. Fogel of the Phillies "put something over" on Pres. Herrmann of the Reds when he agreed to the eight-man trade.

THREE DOLLARS PER YEAR. TWENTY-FIVE CENTS PER MONTH

The sworn daily average circulation of The Lowell Sun for the year 1909 was

Sworn to by John H. Harrington, proprietor, Martin H. Reidy, business manager, and Alfred Pilote, pressman, of The Sun, before me, January 1, 1910. J. JOSEPH HENNESSY, Notary Public.

This is by far the largest average circulation of any newspaper in Lowell.

Tolstoi's philosophy does not seem to be doing him much good in his last days.

These festive occasions that wind up in a fight with deadly weapons should be permitted only under police supervision.

With the two Lynn bandits on trial at Salem, it would seem that only the legal forms are to be gone through in order to impose the severest penalty of the law.

The silence of Roosevelt is getting extremely intense. Can it be that he contemplates following Tolstoi into retirement? That would be contrary to the record of his past life.

One of the world's greatest artists has passed away in the death of John La Farge at Providence, R. I. He was one of the most versatile painters this country has produced.

The feat of flying an aeroplane from the deck of a warship has been performed, and for the first time by an American, thus demonstrating the practical value of aircraft in naval warfare.

THE VACUUM STREET CLEANER

When will the vacuum method of cleaning smooth-paved streets be available in Lowell? This has already been adopted in many cities to the delight of the people along the streets who no longer see the old revolving sweeper raise the dust and rubbish in the air, spreading the germs in all directions. The success of the vacuum street cleaner proves that on a large scale it would be admirably adapted for cleaning smooth-paved streets.

AVIATION MEETS UNPROFITABLE

The aviation meets in different parts of the country are not proving as successful as was anticipated. That just held at Baltimore has been a disappointment financially and otherwise. The wind on Friday was too high to permit the airman to give even a decent exhibition. The managers of the Baltimore meet state that they will go deeply in the hole financially on this meet. One of them, speaking of the results, said: "Our present deficit is about $60,000, and we expect to take in $20,000 today and tomorrow." That was on Friday. It is safe to say that such reports will not encourage others to rush into the aviation business. The meet held at Squantum this fall was the most successful ever held in this country. The aviators demand such large amounts for entering prize contests or for giving exhibitions that there is little chance to make money on them.

THE GREAT BARRINGTON ROBBERY

That robbery near Great Barrington shows that men who carry large sums of money about in public will have to be more careful. Where a man, even in company with a deputy sheriff, is known to carry the payroll of a mill along a highway at a fixed hour every week, he is taking serious chances by continuing the practice regularly. It would be well to employ an auto and to go at irregular periods. The perpetrators of this crime were not as desperate or as reckless of human life as were the Lynn highwaymen. The latter came up behind Landrigan and Officer Carroll, killing them instantly. The Great Barrington robbers did not shoot to kill but simply got the money and made their escape.

The robbery was well planned and in all probability the highwaymen were members of the gang employed on the electric railway near where the robbery occurred. They wore masks and were clad as workmen and they spoke as foreigners of whom the railway gang was composed. They may have been able to join the gang which went as a searching party and pass undetected. It is quite probable that some member of the gang knows who the robbers are.

SOME PRESIDENTIAL POSSIBILITIES

Much curiosity is felt over what course Mayor Gaynor of New York will take in the politics of the state and nation. Since the attempt upon his life he has been freely mentioned as a candidate for the presidency, but on this question he has not indicated his intentions in any way. In another quarter he is being boomed for the United States senate to succeed that political nincompoop, Chauncey Depew. There was a time when Depew could make a good speech or tell a good story, and that was his highest accomplishment. There never was much behind his speeches as he apparently paid more attention to the rhetoric than the ideas expressed or the stand taken upon public questions. It is time he were retired to give the place to a man of force and ability who will stand up for the people's rights.

There are men in New York who would like to take Gaynor out of the presidential contest by shelving him in the United States senate.

The presidential possibilities to be found among the reactionaries are Foss, Dix, Harmon, Wilson and Baldwin. These are all able and modest men. Their election has brought to the front in the democratic party a band of men whose names will command respect and wide support for any office to which they may be advanced.

It is not likely that Bryan will be considered in relation to the presidential contest in 1912, nor is it probable that Governor Folk of Missouri will be a leader in the race, although first in the field.

The result of the recent election has greatly strengthened the democratic party and improved its chances of electing a president in 1912. The eastern states are strong in presidential timber. Governor Foss of Massachusetts and Governor Dix of New York can bring strength to the party. Foss could carry the state as candidate for president, something that only a political catynism can make possible.

SEEN AND HEARD

"That intelligent looking boy there," said the pedagogical to the top-hatted parent he was showing over the school premises, "is Smith." "I am proud of Smith," I have inculcated in him the love of learning to such an extent that he now prefers study to play. I expect at this moment he is writing Timmin's Latin prose on that sheet of paper there, while all the other pupils are at play. I will ascertain."

"Smith," he said, "let us see the result of your industry."

"I'd rather not, sir," blushed Smith.

"Note his modesty," whispered the schoolmaster. "Come, Smith, let me see what you have been writing."

Still the boy demurred. But the schoolmaster insisted, and forcefully appropriated the paper. And there, in neat imitation of feminine handwriting he read the following:

"Please excuse my son James from school today. He is wanted at home."

Those who bring sunshine to the lives of others cannot keep it from themselves.

BURNING LEAVES

Such scented censer smoke—it weaves Up from the burning autumn leaves And trails away in aimless style While lazy breezes loiter on! And though each wondrous golden white Of all the summer-time is gone, We do not sigh as one who grieves When drifts the scent of burning leaves.

It is as cinnamon and musk, And mint and myrrh that scents the dusk And pungent clove, and nutmeg, too, And allspice buds, all daffily bleat And intermingled through and through With berries of the Orient— So do we stand and know all these As echoes of our memories.

So does the smoke that drifts away Bring back each singing summer day, And make us see the wide blue sky, With ivory clouds that slowly sail Across the sea that is on high, With soaring birds to give them hail— And forest shades and laughing streams, And all the wondrous stuff of dreams.

And as the smoke-wreath lifts and veers, It takes us down the path of years, Through other summers, other springs, Until we live again the days That had been with us forgotten things, Until we tread again the ways Long since grown dim as is this dusk Where drift the spice and mint and musk.

Such scented censer smoke—it weaves Up from the blazing autumn leaves, And yonder trees become tall spires, And streets become cathedral aisles Illumined by fitful altar fires. That light our retrospective smiles, And through it all these glints and gleams The glory of our olden dreams.

CHILDREN'S HAIR TROUBLES

Much harm results from washing a child's head with common soaps and shampoos, as most of them contain too much alkali. This makes the scalp rough and dry, and often leads to a diseased condition, which causes the hair to fall out. A safe thing to use is a shampoo made of pure Refined Soap, White of Eggs, Coconut Oil, Glycerin and Salicylic Acid. Birt's Head Wash is made of these ingredients. It removes the dirt and disease germs that settle in the hair and on the scalp, and makes the hair vigorous and glossy. Drug and department stores sell tubes at 25c, jars 50c.

"What did Mr. Locke say when he found himself safe after those hours of danger?" asked a friend of the family of another friend who had accompanied Mr. Locke on his journey. "He never says the ordinary thing."

"No," said the other, with a smile, "he didn't that time. I said to him, 'James, we could do something more of our lives from having them spared to us in this way.' For I felt pretty solemn, I can tell you. I've no doubt James did, too, but what he said was, 'William, a good share of the rest of my life will be spent in explaining to Theodora how I happened to choose that steamer when there were dozens of others that reached home without any accident.'"

THE JUNGLE FOLK
The jungle folk were waiting as they crouched around the fire.

"What news?" they asked the monkey on the telegraphic pole.

He raised his paw for silence with his ear against the wire.

The zeeb grew so excited that it sat upon a coal.

"What news?" they asked the monkey on the gibbored at the staff.

"What news?" the diddle echoed as he kicked the leaves about.

"By jinks!" the monkey chattered with a shrill and sudden laugh, "They've jumped upon the colonel and they say they've smoked him out!"

They're dancing 'round the jungle with the hippo in the lead; The springbok and the rhino, and the little beasts and all, They're singing and they're shouting— They have all forgot to feed; And the big and tawny lion shouts the loudest 'em all.

PHANTOM SHIP Said to Haunt Conception Bay

ST. JOHNS, N. F., Nov. 15.—A new "Flying Dutchman," a schooner of mysterious lights that suddenly illuminated the surrounding waters, only to vanish and leave nothing behind, haunts Conception bay. The story is told by the truth is solemnly maintained by the story says every one of the crew of the schooner Victor, according to Captain Humby, a fellow skipper, who arrived here yesterday from Bay of Bulls.

The phantom ship was seen as all such ships should be seen, on the mid-watch of a dark night. Captain Noah Ralph, who vouches for the story, says that a few nights ago, while crossing Conception bay, his lookout saw two lights ahead. They were apparently schooner's lights and appeared to be stationary. The lookout called the mate's attention and he in turn called the captain's. The mate then pointed out the lights in the sky. As they watched, a third light appeared and while they wondered, other lights sprang up in unexpected places. The mate thereupon promptly called the captain and hardly had the skipper tumbled on deck than the craft of mystery became ablaze with a galaxy of brilliant illuminations.

Skipper Ralph fears nothing that shows a light, and bearing down on the stranger he ordered his men not to halt anyone on board and to approach as quickly as possible. If the "Flying Dutchman" were going to invade Conception bay Captain Ralph was going to show it the stuff of which a New Foundland crew is made.

Silently the Victor crept up to the schooner of many lights. Figures in strange's dress, as they were plainly seen that her main boom was broken. No sound came from the unknown. There was no audible voice of command and there was no flapping of canvas or creaking of rigging. Awe-stricken, Captain Ralph and his men looked on when, without warning, the lights vanished and with it the phantom ship. The tense gaze of the keen-eyed New Foundland fishermen could see nothing of the form that a moment ago was within hail. Not a man on the Victor could sleep that night. The light of day was welcome.

Well Known Artist is Shot Dead By Sheriff's Posse

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 15.—After an illness extending over a period of several months, following a minor operation performed in New York last spring John Lafarge, the artist of New York and Newport, died at the Butler hospital here last night. He had been at the hospital since last July but it was only within the past two weeks that he had been confined to his bed or even to his room. Death was due to a general nervous breakdown and a complication of diseases.

Mrs. Lafarge was with her husband when the end came last night. The couple had seven children.

No arrangements have been made for the funeral.

GRAND OPERA SEASON

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—The fall New York social and musical seasons came into bloom last night when the Metropolitan Opera company, an institution which now belongs alike to Chicago, Philadelphia and New York, rendered Christopher Gluck's opera "Armide" written over a century and a quarter ago and never produced in America before. The first performance of the year brought a brilliant audience to the Metropolitan and the great "golden horseshoe" sparkled in social splendor.

"Armide" is the first Metropolitan offering since the ending of the four years' war with the Hammerstein forces, and last night's production showed that the standard of production was in no way affected by ending of competition. An all-star cast interpreted the graceful old world melodies of Gluck.

BAD JAKE NOBLE

Shot Dead By Sheriff's Posse

LEXINGTON, Ky., Nov. 15.—"Bad Jake" Noble, who shot and killed Judge Wesley Turner of "Bloody" Breathitt county in Jackson last Tuesday night, was shot dead by a sheriff's posse in Knott county yesterday. Only meagre details have been received, but it is reported that when the posse, led by the sheriff of Knott county, called on Noble to surrender, he made a demonstration to resist, and was promptly killed with bullets.

Rewards aggregating $700 had been offered by the authorities of Breathitt county for the capture of Noble, dead or alive. In his 22 years he had killed three men. After the shooting of Turner, he escaped into the mountains and several hands had been searching for him.

When he knew he was hunted he sent back word: "If you send a posse, ship a coffin for each man."

LAWYER HELD

IS CHARGED WITH CONSPIRACY TO CHEAT WOMAN

BOSTON, Nov. 14.—Charged with conspiring with a teamster in his attempt to cheat Catherine Paulson of 238 Northampton street in the sale of coal, Martin Gilbert, a coal and wood dealer at 600 Shawmut avenue, who was admitted to the Massachusetts bar in 1908, was yesterday held in $1000 bail for trial.

It is charged that Inspector Sweeney of the department of weights and measures saw the teamster, who is missing, load 3500 pounds of coal at the yard, drive to the home of Mrs. Paulson and deliver a bill for two tons before starting to unload.

The inspector had the teamster drive to a public scales, where the load was weighed. Gilbert later sent a corrected bill to Mrs. Paulson, saying that a mistake had been made.

SOCIAL AND FRATERNAL

The degree staff from Haverhill and Boston, 30 strong, will be present to work the degree on about 20 candidates.

SENATOR LODGE

WAS ARRAIGNED BY REV. ADOLF A. BERLE

BOSTON, Nov. 15.—Declaring Senator Henry Cabot Lodge had exerted a "most immoral influence over the Bay State for the last 20 years," Rev. Adolf A. Berle arraigned the Massachusetts senior senator in an address last night before the South End Congress at the Shawmut Congregational church.

"His re-election would mean a continuation of the degradation, debauchery and wallowing in the mire of politics which have been in vogue," added Dr. Berle.

The meeting was called for a public discussion of the subject, "Shall Senator Lodge be Re-elected?"

But one of the speakers of the evening defended the senator.

Where Millions Join With Science

In the Warfare Against Disease

THROUGH recent gifts of John D. Rockefeller the enlightening and enlightening power of eight and a quarter millions of dollars, focused through the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research in New York, is to be concentrated on the study of disease. Mr. Rockefeller's latest gifts to the institute raise its permanent endowment fund to about $4,500,000 in income producing property. The rest of the institute's money is invested in nonincome producing property, such as site, buildings and equipment.

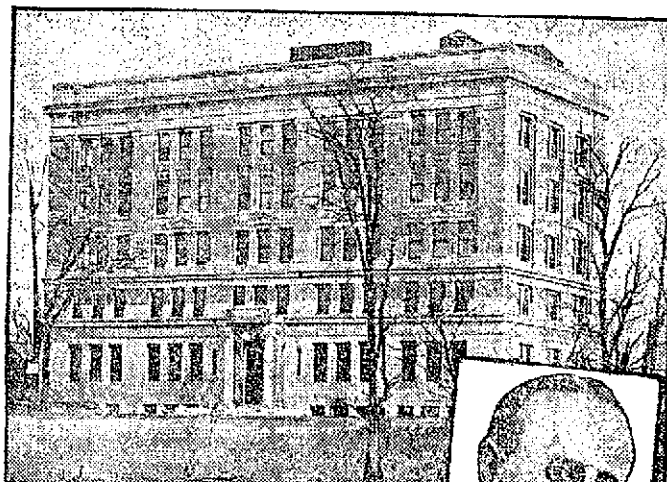

The latest development of the institute's activities is the establishment of a hospital for the study of selected diseases which the medical experts admit are baffling in their difficulty of treatment. In its character and its equipment it is unique among the hospitals of the world. Its primary purpose is the study of the diseases selected for investigation, through the cases admitted to its beds, but the interests of the patients are to be neglected in nowise, and they are not to be made the subjects of experimentation. In other words, while the whole world will be benefited by the results of the hospital's researches, the first gainers by its efforts will be the patients.

The number of beds in the hospital is limited, and the number of diseases selected for investigation is still more limited. There are forty beds, and they are devoted to the use of patients suffering from one or another of the following maladies: Pneumonia, heart disease in certain forms, infantile paralysis and diseases due to disturbed metabolism or breaking down of the tissues. Concentrated on the study of these diseases are the time and the intellects and the unremitting efforts of men who are more than specialists—medical men of the very highest standing who devote to the work of the institute all their energies, being forbidden by the terms of their engagement with the institute to engage in private practice or even to act as consulting physicians.

Naturally only cases presenting unusual difficulties, beyond the reach of the ordinary practitioner or the ordinary hospital, are to be admitted to the Rockefeller Institute's hospital. Effective methods of treatment and cure are the objects sought by the carefully chosen medical staff, and cases coming within the compass of the outside physician's ability are necessarily rejected. Speaking recently of the hospital and its purposes, Dr. C. C. Robinson, the resident physician, said:

ROCKEFELLER INSTITUTE.

For instance, in the isolation pavilion the glass doors leading to the glass enclosed rooms are opened and shut with the elbows instead of with the hands, and the air from the room passing from the outlet to the roof is sterilized before it gets there. After examining the patient in the pavilion the doctor hurries to a small room, where he washes his hands, and he turns the water on with his feet, not with his hands. In every other respect similar precautions are taken to insure the safety of the patients and to obviate any possibility of the carrying of disease by the physician. The hospital adjoins the main building of the institute, shown in the accompanying picture. The establishment occupies a site in Manhattan on scourge which takes the lives of so many little ones. The efforts of the very best medical talent in America proved unavailing to save the life of the boy, and it was a realising sense of the doctors' helplessness to combat the disease and other scourges of mysterious origin which led Mr. Rockefeller to give millions to the institute. Before its establishment America had no institution for medical research as distinguished from hospitals established primarily for the treatment of cases of disease. Mr. Rockefeller's action filled a gap in the structure of American medicine, which held otherwise an honorable place in the estimation of the world's scientists.

The director of the institute is Dr. Simon Flexner, a scientific investigator who has devoted his life to researches into the origin and treatment of disease. There is probably no higher authority on serum therapy and pathological and bacteriological investigation. He is a man of forty-seven and has had long experience in his chosen line of work. Before his selection to direct the Rockefeller Institute Dr. Flexner was professor of pathology in the medical school of the University of Pennsylvania. He is especially noted for his discovery of a serum to be employed against cerebrospinal meningitis.

AMERICAN FARMERS INVADE MEXICO.

P. Merrill Griffith, the United States consul to Pernambuco, Brazil, who served this government in consularships in Mexico, first at Matamoras and latterly at Tampico, said not long ago in an interview:

"Tampico is a cosmopolitan sort of place. There are so many foreigners there. It is one of the two ports for Mexico City and is the gateway of most of the merchandise imported from New York. They have recently completed a new customs house and new wharves at a cost of $6,000,000, and the latter are equipped with all the most modern appliances for handling freight. There is a great deal of heavy mining and other machinery brought into the port from New York."

"With its suburbs Tampico has a population of about 25,000. Its importance and attractiveness have greatly increased during the last few years because of the discovery of oil in the vicinity. None of the oil produced there is shipped, but is consumed by the railroads or otherwise used in the country."

"There has recently been a wonderful development of agriculture in the vicinity of Tampico. Many American farmers from the middle west are going down there and going in for raising citrus fruits or henequen and sugarcane, a fiber similar to henequen. The price of land runs from $5 an acre up. There are about 1,500 Americans in the consular district."

"Matamoras, which had a population of 60,000 during the civil war, has dwindled to about 12,000. Importations to Mexico by way of Texas now mostly go through Laredo, Eagle Pass and El Paso."

Something Very Old and Very New From Africa.

Paper Made From the Papyrus Plant

SOURCES of good available material for the making of paper, especially print paper, having become scarce through the destruction of the forests of spruce and other woods, the thoughts of papermakers and their hired scientists have been turned toward other places of supply. The search has led into the waste places of the earth, and weeds of various sorts have found their way into the pulp digesters, only to be rejected as unfit for use. Now the search has led to Egypt. Perhaps "led back" would be a better term, for Egypt is the ancient home of paper. Its very name is derived from the famous papyrus of the Egyptian Nile.

Papyrus alone or combined with other pulps, is a material from which our print paper may be made in the sheet of papyrus, the process being aided by the natural gum of the plant. When the sheet dried it was the papyrus of commerce and literature.

If the papyrus plant should stand the tests and should prove good raw material for the papermaker there is little likelihood of any shortage of supply. Near Khartoum vast masses of the plant choke the Nile for many miles. Mixed with other vegetation it forms the famous "sudd" or floating mass which has defied the efforts of engineers directed toward its removal.

At times navigation of the river is quite impossible, and boats have been held for weeks until a method of cutting or burning a way through the "sudd" could be devised. Conversion of this vegetation, or a major portion of it, into paper pulp would prove a aromatic, creeping root, long, sharp leaved leaves and naked, leafless, triangular, soft and cellular stems, as thick as a man's arm at the lower part and at their upper extremity bearing a compound umbel of extremely numerous drooping spikelets with a general involucre of eight long siliform leaves. The part of the plant which was used for papermaking in the past and which has been the subject of experiment in modern times is the woody pith of the stalk.

Making paper is not the only use to which the papyrus plant has been put. From its more slender stalks may be woven baskets, and light boats have for framework thicker stalks. Cordage, sails, awnings and matting, tents, etc., may be made from the fibers. The pith forms a food when boiled, and the dried root may be utilized for fuel. It will be seen that in variety of use the papyrus rivals its cousin, the versatile bamboo.

Taken individually the papyrus plant is striking in appearance and has won some favor as a decorative grass. In the mass it is also not unbecomingly beautiful, but its beauty is monotonous. Writing of the papyrus country in his latest book, "Africa Game Trails," Colonel Roosevelt says:

"The papyrus along the channel rose like a forest, thirty feet high, the close growing stems knit together by vines. As we drifted down the green wall was continually broken by openings, through which side streams from the great river rushes, whirling and winding down narrow lanes and under low archways into the dim, mysterious heart of the vast reed beds where dwelt bird and reptile and water beasts. . . . A broad belt of papyrus fringed the lagoons and jutted out between them. The straight green stalks with their feathery heads rose high and close, forming a mass so dense that it was practically impenetrable, save where the huge bulk of the hippos had made tunnels—indeed, even for the hippos it was not readily penetrable. The green monotony of a papyrus swamp becomes wearisome after awhile, yet it is very beautiful."

From Egypt to the southwestern section of the United States is a far cry geographically, but the two countries are alike in being made the subject of the paper manufacturer's experiments. Efforts are being made to ascertain whether the leaves of the cactus plant which grows so abundantly in some of our western states and in Mexico may not be of considerable value as paper pulp material. An experimenter who has devoted considerable time to the study of the cactus has declared his belief that a good paper may be made from the leaves of the cactus.

WILLIAM HENDERSON.

IN THE PAPYRUS COUNTRY.

near future. Experimenters see in its ancient fame as a papermaker a warrant of their success, although the methods employed in ancient papyrus making and those used in the modern manufacture of paper differ very widely. The papyrus makers who prepared the writing material for the Ptolemies and their scribes knew nothing of the making of sulphite pulp, the use of the soda process or other present day methods. They made their paper, or papyrus, in a simpler way. They laid down rows of the pith of the papyrus plant, laid other rows of pith over them at right angles and then rolled or pressed the whole until the two layers of pith amalgamated into a doon not only to the harassed papermaker, haunted by thoughts of a pulpless future, but also to the ancient land of Egypt. The papyrus formerly erected its upright stem in the waters of the upper Nile—that is, near the Mediterranean sea—but it has been eradicated there. Despite its fame the Egyptians were not sorry to see its departure.

Cutting papyrus is not an easy task. Interspersed with its stalks are other plants, and among them is a wicked sort of grass known as "oom soot" which has blades as keen as a knife. The papyrus itself is described botanically as "a kind of sedge three to ten feet high, with a very strong, woody,

COAL LAND CLAIMS

Pinchot to File Brief in Relation to Patents

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—President Taft, responding to the request of Gifford Pinchot, former forester of the United States, and his brother, Amos Pinchot, for permission to submit a brief on the question of issuing patents in the Cunningham-Alaskan coal land claims, has informed Mr. Pinchot that he may submit such a brief and advised him to forward it to the executive office before December 1.

Mr. Pinchot was thus informed in a letter authorized by Pres. Taft written by the secretary to the president, Charles D. Norton, and made public today. The letter is in reply to the recent communication to the president from Mr. Pinchot and his brother expressing fear that the interior department will recommend the patenting of the Cunningham claims. Following is the text of the letter.

"Nov. 9, 1910.

"Gentlemen:

"I am directed by the president to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of November 7 and to reply as follows:

"On the first of June last the secretary of the interior invited the attention of the president to the Cunningham coal claims, consisting of thirty-three coal entries in the Juneau and district of Alaska, of approximately 160 acres each, and suggested that in view

BOSTON, Nov. 15.—Drawn by stories of the several miraculous cures wrought at the little church of Our Lady of the Cedars of Mt. Lebanon, 66 Tyler street, South End, during the novena to St. Anne, which has been going on there for the past week, a large number of people visited the church last evening. The lame, blind, paralyzed and otherwise afflicted came to the little church and knelt in prayer before the shrine of the saint, repeating the prayer obtained for the occasion and at the same time, doubtless, adding one of their own.

One man, grievously afflicted with paralysis that rendered his whole right arm useless, his right leg crippled and bent, his right arm withered and disjointed and the traces of the shock plainly written upon his pain-drawn features, knelt at the very back of the church and repeated the prayers many times in a half audible voice. Another man, aged and pale, whose wrinkled visage showed his suffering to all, hobbled into the church between a pair of crutches and knelt before the altar rail in prayer.

A blind man, carrying a light cane and led by a small boy, a woman whose strained facial expression and fidgeted, timid movements betrayed all too plainly the fact that she was deaf, a tiny boy whose spine was crooked and whose back was pitifully lunched and twisted were also among the supplicants.

There was a man, however, who knelt in one of the front pews, a look of happiness lighting his face. Inquiry developed the fact that he was John J. Duggan of 441 Dudley street, Dorchester, and at the end of the services he was quite willing to relate how he had been cured of an affliction by making the novena.

"I was a traveling salesman," said Mr. Duggan, "and had dealt in most every line of goods. I was happy and fairly prosperous. Then, one day, suddenly, and without the slightest warning, I completely lost the use of my voice. Last Tuesday I recovered my power of speech.

"I have always been a church member, attending regularly every Sunday. I was attracted to the Maronite church by seeing a notice of the novena, and having heard of the miraculous cures wrought by St. Anne at other places, I determined to make the novena. When I first came here I tried vainly to make Rev. Fr. Gabriel Karakas, the pastor, understand me by means of signs, a form of communication with which the clergyman was not very well acquainted.

"As I knelt in prayer before the altar, in front of the shrine of St. Anne, I wept, as I thought of the happiness of speech, of the joy of being able to communicate with my fellow men. Being unable to talk I could not, of course, secure a place as a salesman, and in consequence my lot has been anything but an easy one. For one thing I have a large family—a wife and six children. But it is useless to talk of that now, for I am cured, and am once again able to return to my work, and win back the happiness that will seem so sweet after the miseries of the past few years.

"I came again to the novena the next night. Fr. Karakas by this time understood that the seal of my affliction was somewhere in the throat or mouth, and as I knelt before the altar rail he gently rubbed the relic of St. Anne across my throat. It is useless to ask what my feelings were at that time. I don't know. I was conscious of any, I had but one thought, to be able to speak. Again I bowed my head in prayer.

"My devotions made. I arose and passed through the church. Fr. Karakas was standing near the door and asked me how I felt. Many times in the last few years I have tried in vain to speak. Something prompted me to try again, then and there. I did so. And I was able to answer, not in a perfect manner, it is true, but still to answer in an intelligible manner. And I said that I was better.

"I spoke truly. I have made the novena every night since then, and every night I can detect an improvement in my speech. Fr. Karakas told me of his efforts to organize a society to St. Anne, and I have my name inscribed among the first to join. Those who have never known what it means to lose their power of speech cannot realize for a moment what I have been through, and the joy that I feel at my recovery. There is not the slightest doubt in my mind but that the application of the relic and the prayers of this novena were the active factors of my recovery."

The church was founded in this city through the efforts of Archbishop Yasko, some years ago, and it is now being renovated by Fr. Karakas, the present pastor. The sanctuary and the shrines of St. Anne and Our Lady of the Cedars of Mount Lebanon are but recently installed. The last named shrine is the only one of its kind in the world, and is especially revered by the Syrians, who never forget the water cedar trees that line the valleys of their native land.

The novena will end tonight when prayers for the heavenly protection of His Holiness, the Pope, and Archbishop O'Connell will be said. Tomorrow morning there will be a high mass at the church, celebrated by Fr. Karakas in the Syrian fashion, the mass being chanted in the Syro-Chaldean with a cantor participating.

The newly formed society of St. Anne has already enrolled nearly 100 members, many of whom are Americans. Miss Downes is at the head of the organization.

COMMANDANT OF MARINES

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—Secretary Meyer is going to ask congress to limit the term of service of the commandant of marines to four years. At present the commandant serves until his retirement or death. When Gen. Elliot is placed on the retired list at the end of the present month, a temporary successor will be appointed, pending action by congress upon the proposed legislation.

PRICE OF MEATS

Has Taken a Big Drop in Chicago and Other Cities

CHICAGO, Nov. 15.—The prices of beef and pork are falling. Within the last week the price of beef has been reduced between four and five cents a pound by the meat packers. The price of pork has declined about three cents from the price of 18 and 20 cents a week ago and wholesale meat dealers say that mutton and veal and other products of the packing houses may take a downward turn within the next few days.

"Prices of the first grades of beef have been falling for about a week," said Frank A. Froehling. They did not go off all at once, but the packing houses have been coming down about half a cent at a time until now the price of prime beef is between four and five cents lower than it was last week at this time and that of the best grades of pork are two to three cents lower. This applies of course to the finer roast beef and steaks, for the ordinary quality has not fallen off and I do not think it will."

PORK SHOWS GREAT DROP

are reflected by similar reports from local dealers. They say the decline has already begun, the wholesale price of beef having gone on an average of 3 cent in the last week. This was regarded as significant by them, since no such price cutting has been experienced in the last year.

One of the leading dealers said that sirloin steak that had brought 24 cents a pound was now selling at 22 cents. Porterhouse steak, he said, was down three cents a pound, from 28 cents to 25 cents. Fresh pork products, however, show the greatest drop, the market dealers selling cuts for roasting at 18 cents a pound that have within a short time been bringing 22 cents. Lard is down two cents a pound, the price yesterday being 18 cents. The best grades of ham and bacon, on the contrary, show hardly any change. The dealers say that the stocks of cured meats are very light and it will naturally be some time before the increased production of hogs offsets this condition.

The market men attribute the relief from high prices to the enormous crop and the consequent low price in the cereal. Low prices of feed, combined with the past high prices of pork, they say, have resulted, as was to be expected, in an increased raising of hogs.

By seeing a notice of the novena, and having heard of the miraculous cures wrought by St. Anne at other places, I determined to make the novena. When I first came here I tried vainly to make Rev. Fr. Gabriel Karakas, the pastor, understand me by means of signs, a form of communication with which the clergyman was not very well acquainted.

"I DON'T CARE"

where a cigar is made," said a wise old smoker. "All I care about is really first-class FLAVOR at the RIGHT PRICE." Cigars made in Cuba are good, not because they are made there, but because of the tobacco that's in them. The 3-20-S Cigar is made of select Havana tobacco. It is made in America to save a duty about half of the Cuban price. This means more smoke for your money. Today is the day to try it.

The Girl Who Lives Alone

whether she attends college or goes to business, needs the Perfection Oil Heater. It will heat a cold, cheerless boarding house or dormitory room and make it livable. It is always a ready help in the many things women do for themselves in their rooms. With the damper top opened it will heat water for tea or cocoa; it will dry the small articles that a woman prefers to wash herself in her own room. It will quickly heat an iron or curling tongs; quickly dry wet shoes or skirts—an ever ready help for the woman who lives alone, dependent on her own resources. The is invaluable in its capacity of quickly giving heat. It will burn nine hours with one filling. It is safe, smokeless and odorless, has a cool handle and a damper top. An indicator shows the amount of oil in the font. The filler-cap is put in like a cork in a bottle, and is attached to the font by a chain. It has an automatic-locking flame spreader, which prevents the wick from being turned high enough to smoke, and is easy to remove and drop back so the wick can be quickly cleaned.

The burner body or gallery cannot become wedged, and can be unscrewed in an instant for reworking. Finished in Japan or nickel, strong, durable, well-made, built for service, and yet light and ornamental.

MURRY LIVINGSTON AND COMPANY AT THE HATHAWAY.

HATHAWAY THEATRE

Hathaway's theatre is supposed to be a vaudeville amusement house, and it is in every sense of the word, but those who attended the performances yesterday afternoon and evening were of the opinion that they were getting two shows for the price of one admission. Prior to the last act an excellent bill was presented, and then came "The Photo Shop" with sixteen people in the cast, and those Photo girls certainly made their act look like a musical extravaganza on a big scale.

"The Photo Shop" is the title of the piece. It is presented by Jesse L. Lasky and is called a snappy musical comedy (and it is if you take it from the writer). The book is written by Edward Clark, the music is contributed by Karl Hoschna and the lyrics by Otto Hauerbach.

Charles J. Stine and Mamie Fleming are the principal characters in the act and what they do not know about the show business is not worth knowing. Stine is the avowed dolt of the show—or in other words he is the heavy man, despite the fact that he hands out comedy while Miss Fleming is "the girl behind the counter," and if the latter has not got the gift of the gab and the comeback it is hard to find out where her retorts could be improved upon. Besides her talk, singing, etc., she shows something that is worth the price of admission alone—dresses.

There is much catchy music, beautiful costumes, well rendered songs and pretty girls and men. Mr. Eugene Redding as "Count De Chapeau," and a whole bunch of other characters which he has attached to his real name, does some very clever acting and amuses the audience.

But for the girls and the male members who assist them—there are six girls and six men in the chorus. The opening chorus is "It's a Very Busy Day" and then comes "The Phot Sextette," which is one of the best numbers of the show.

There is another act on the bill which is something out of the ordinary. It is entitled "Those College Boys" and Shriner and Willis do the work which brings forth the applause.

They have the git-up-and-git which makes a hit and what one cannot do in the singing line and the other cannot do in the titling of the lyrics is not worth mentioning. The two boys are all to the merry, they do a clever stunt, have an excellent appearance and get the applause. What more is wanted?

Murry Livingston & Co. give a very clever interpretation of "The Man From Italy," a one act comedy playlet by William Bonelli. The play has to do with the heart feelings of a young man and young woman who are living in the slums of New York and the man who comes from Italy and finds that the girl who protected him from the abuse of boys by calling him into her house, is his daughter. The acting is very clever. Mr. Livingston portrays the part of the Italian while Miss Helen Harriet takes the part of the daughter, and Birdie Lewis is the "tough kid" who is in love with the daughter.

Then there is Olie Young and April—Oh you classy college clothes, what is it, a case of Harvard and Radcliffe? Well leaving all joking aside, the man and woman do a stunt which is certainly a novelty. They do some very clever stunts with hoops, but their manipulation of the spool on the cord, known as diabolos, is certainly interesting.

Brown and Brown are down as "Just Kids." They are all to the merry and do a very clever stunt while Arthur Stuart and Hazel Keely present a class dancing novelty.

Larry Sharkey, who is touted as "The Irish Wit" is very clever and tells many funny stories which bring forth much applause from the audience. The show winds up with moving pictures. Performances will be continued every afternoon and evening during the remainder of the week.

BRITISH PARLIAMENT

Lords Will be Asked to Accept Veto Resolution

LONDON, Nov. 15.—Parliament assembled today, but in the absence of Premier Asquith, the proceedings lacked the acute interest that had been anticipated and the political crisis is delayed until tomorrow. By that time the premier will have seen King George again and laid before his majesty the decisions reached by the cabinet at today's session, which was unusually prolonged.

The fact that the ministers were in conference for two and a half hours was taken to indicate that two or three of them were favorable to the plan of asking the lords to accept or reject the veto resolution before the dissolution of parliament. These members are said to have made a hard fight in support of their views.

PUSHING THE WORK

Twenty Additional Teams on the Walker Street Crossing

The Plain street bridge will be ready for travel in a few days and in Lincoln street the roads will be put to grade and the water pipes laid so that everything will be in readiness for the iron when it arrives.

The work of driving piles in the quicksand for the Lawrence street bridge was begun last Saturday afternoon. The sands obtain for a depth of 20 feet after which a good foundation is found. While both the Lawrence street and Congress street bridges cross Hale's brook, the foundation at the Congress street bridge was solid gravel, all that could be destroyed, and at the Lawrence street bridge quicksand held the foundations.

Twenty additional teams were set to work on the Walker street grade crossing job yesterday morning. City Engineer Bowers says that so big a force he believes that one side of the crossing will be graded at the end of the week.

SERIOUSLY INJURED

Man's Leg Fractured and He Was Badly Burned

Lawrence Bonicorsi, an employee of Frank J. Weaver & Son, tar roofers, today met with an accident while at work on one of the new mills of the Massachusetts Cotton Co., which may result in his death. He is at the Lowell hospital suffering from a fracture of the left leg, injury to the back and burns about the face, head and arms.

The accident happened about 10.30 o'clock and while at first it was thought that the man fell from the top of the building it was afterwards learned that he fell from an elevator which was near the top of the building.

From one of the employees it was learned that the man was working on the new mill on the bank of the Mer-

BOARD OF POLICE

To Hear Complaint Against the Merrimack House

The regular meeting of the board of police will be held tonight and if the program of events is carried out there will be something doing. There is plenty of routine business to be transacted and outside of that there are two hearings scheduled.

The licensees of the Merrimack hotel, Messrs. Victor K. Robert and Wilfred Gilbert, have been summoned to appear before the board to give cause why their license should not be revoked or suspended as a result of the allegation that they or their agents or servants sold to a minor.

The other hearing is relative to the application of Morris Shapiro for an appointment as a special police officer for the vicinity of Howard and Railroad streets. There are several remonstrances against the granting of this license.

TOLSTOI'S WIFE

Reported to be Dying of a Broken Heart

TULSA, Russia, Nov. 15.—The condition of both Count Leo Tolstoy and the countess is reported today as critical. The count appears to be succumbing to a fever, brought on by mental distress and exposure incident to his voluntary exile from home, while his devoted wife is dying of a broken heart.

The imaginative mind of the great novelist scarcely could have conceived a more tragic ending of two lives than have been interwoven for half a century.

Tolstoy, overcome with fatigue while attempting yesterday to continue his pilgrimage from the monastery at Sharmadino to the Caucasus, where he had hoped to spend his last days in the Tolstoyan colony on the shores of the Black sea, lies in a miserable hut at the railroad flag station at Astapova, at which point he was removed from the train when his physician and companion, Dr. Makovetsky, realized that a continuation of the journey would result in certain death. Today Dr. Makovetsky and consulting physicians declared that the state of the aged man was very serious.

DARING THIEVES

Stole Diamonds From a Woman

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—Mrs. Sarah Schwartz, in her little shoe store at No. 548 First avenue, was attacked by two young men yesterday, who tore from her ears a pair of diamond earrings for which she says she paid the earnings of the last half year. The robbers covered the poor woman with a revolver, threatened to blow out her brains, knocked her to the floor, and then rushed out into the street. They escaped under the docks of the East River.

For years Mrs. Schwartz had a yearning for a pair of real diamond earrings. She at first thought they wanted them only for Sundays or

Got Clarence J. Cornell in Bad With His Wife

There was material for a farce-comedy written in the session of the probate court for contested cases before Judge Lawton, this morning, although there was nothing farcical about the case itself nor the evidence introduced.

The case was that of Mrs. Ruth Cornell, who is suing her husband, Clarence J. Cornell, for separate maintenance and which was opened before Judge Lawton, at the last session of the probate court in this city.

It seems that just before the Cornells separated the wife found a letter on the floor which had fallen from her husband's coat. The envelope was her husband's business stationery and it was addressed to a "Miss" in Boston. Mrs. Cornell drew forth the contents and the first words that greeted her eyes were "My Darling." The letter went on to state that the writer hoped to see her in Boston the following Sunday and he enclosed the sum of $1 for "refreshment money."

The letter was signed by three initials, not her husband's, but was written on a typewriter that she believed to be her husband's.

The letter of course was a conspicuous exhibit in the case.

Mr. Cornell on the witness stand today explained the why and wherefore of the letter and the explanation is what would make material for a play.

He stated that upon looking into his mail box one day he found the letter in question which was enclosed in one of his envelopes and which had been sent back to his address by the postal authorities on account of the fact that the sender had mailed it to the wrong address. He opened it, believing it to be a business letter sent from his office and upon reading it and looking at the initials signed knew at once that it had been written by a friend of his who had used his office and his stationery and typewriter in writing the letter. The initials signed to the letter were those of a fictitious name that his friend sometimes assumed. He placed the letter in his coat pocket together with the money, one dollar, intending to return it to his friend when he should see him again.

When he met his friend he looked in his pocket for the letter and found it gone. Then he learned that his wife had the letter and he demanded its return without success. He then went to the friend and explained the situation at home, whereupon the friend wrote a letter to Mrs. Cornell explaining that he had written the letter and that her husband was innocent in the matter. The friend took the witness stand and swore that he wrote the letter but evidently had misdirected it. He said that he had used Mr. Cornell's stationery because it was most

AVERILL CASE

Summing up in Murder Case

ST. ALBANS, Vt., Nov. 15.—The summing up for the state in the trial of Mrs. Frank Averill, who is charged with the murder of her husband, began today after four witnesses had given their testimony. The principal witness this forenoon was Captain H. M. Bell of Swanton, a chemist and ballistic engineer. Captain Bell testified that he had experimented with a gun of the same type as that which killed Averill and that his opinion was that such a

RAIN IS NEEDED

Low Water is Affecting the Mills

Despite the fact that we had quite a considerable fall of rain a short time ago we are still in need of more rains from the sky. The fall was not sufficient to make any perceptible showing in the Merrimack river and at the office of the Locks and Canals, today, it was stated that the river is about as it was a week ago and that a steady rain of several hours' duration is badly needed. The mills are still running a little short because of low water.

W.C. RHINELANDER

Answers Wife's Suit for Alimony

SARATOGA, Nov. 15.—William C. Rhinelander, the eldest son of the late William C. Rhinelander, who was disinherited in the will of his father because he married a maid in his parent's home, is being sued by his second wife for separation and alimony.

Rhinelander, who is fighting the case, has set up the plea that the woman, who has been known for thirteen years as Mrs. W. C. Rhinelander, is not his wife, and never has been. He says that at the time he married her he had a wife living from whom he never had been divorced. Admitting bigamy, Rhinelander, whose first marriage cost him his one-third share of an estate of $50,000,000, pleads the statute of limitations.

The answer made to the wife's charge of non-support is that she is receiving through Mr. Dan, the executor of his father's estate, $45 a month, and that is sufficient to support her, as when he married her she was a waitress in a restaurant and getting only $6 per week. He says he gave her $500 in the past year, that she has $1000 of her money and $1700 in the bank. His income, he says, is $2000 and not $5000 a year.

That Rhinelander's first wife is still living will be news to a great many persons, except those who have to do with the affairs of the Rhinelander family. The public has believed that William C. Rhinelander and Maggie McGinnes were divorced or that she was dead.

It was in 1876 that William Coleman Rhinelander gave a shock to society by marrying Maggie McGinnes, a very pretty maid in the employ of his father, Mr. John Coleman, who was the direct descendant of an Irish king, but the father turned the couple out of doors, and the family lawyer, John Drake, saw that they received $100 a week. The grandfather of Rhinelander died two years later, and the young man named after him was cut off in that estate, worth a million.

THE B. & M. ROAD

Wants to Issue $10,000,000 More Stock

BOSTON, Nov. 15.—President Chas. S. Mellen of the Boston & Maine railroad asked the approval of the railroad commission today for an additional issue of $10,000,000 of stock, authorized by the stockholders for the purpose of improving equipment, abolishing grade crossings and permanent improvements of the roadbed.

After Mr. Mellen had explained that the company desired to issue the stock at $10 a share to stockholders, E. J. Rich, attorney for the company read a schedule of the expenditures projected under the new issue. Mr. Rich said that $3,250,000 was for locomotives and $4,194,000 for track work already completed. The company has already contracted for $2,335,000 in locomotives, $2,100,000 for passenger cars, and $1,222,000 for freight cars. With a four track drawbridge over the Sagadahoc river and additions to track and freight yard facilities the company has planned expenditures of $12,210,000.

William Lawrence, a stockholder, who has frequently appeared before the legislature in opposition to the recent merger of the Boston & Maine with the New Haven system, urged the railroad commission to investigate every item and learn if it is necessary.

State Chairman Hall stated that experts would examine the schedule submitted by Mr. Mellen and Mr. Rich.

MR. HARRINGTON WINS

Jury Returned Sealed Verdicts Last Evening—Suit Growing Out of Milk Wagon Accident in Pawtucketville on Trial Today

The jury in the cases of John H. Harrington vs. Dennis A. Long, for libel, this morning announced two verdicts, awarding the sum of $1500 in one case and $500 in the other, both aggregating $2000.

The jury retired about 10.45 o'clock yesterday forenoon and returned a sealed verdict shortly after 7 o'clock last evening. The verdict was opened and announced at the opening of court this morning.

Jury Goes to Charlestown

A jury was empaneled in the cases of William H. Sexton and Morris O'Brien, for personal injuries, against the Boston Elevated company. The men employed as blacksmith and helper, respectively, in the repair shop of the defendant company in Charlestown at the time of the accident, and while in the employ of the company and in the exercise of due care they claim an air hammer fell on them, catching their hands, causing in one other the loss of two fingers and in the other the loss of one finger. F. Hunt of Boston and John J. Harvey of Lowell appear for the plaintiffs, and Lawyer Sears of Boston for the defendant. The jury upon being empaneled was taken to Charlestown for a view of the premises.

Pawtucketville Accident Case

The case of Fred M. Reed, a minor, through his father, Henry B. Reed, and of the father personally, against the Boston & Northern street railway was then opened. The plaintiffs claim that on the morning of November 15, 1907, while the boy was driving his father's milk wagon along Mammoth road, and was turning out of the car tracks he was run into from behind by an electric car in such a manner as to drive the wagon into a telegraph pole with force sufficient to cause the pole to stand against the pole in a perpendicular position. The boy brings suit for personal injuries while the father sues for the injuries to the horse and wagon. F. B. Garland appears for the child and Trull and Wier for the defendant.

Case is Settled

The case of Louisa Lafond admx. vs. Boston & Maine to recover for the death of her husband, Joseph R. Lafond, which went to trial yesterday morning was settled out of court during the noon recess.

CITY SOLICITOR

Gives Out Opinion on the Laws of Settlement

Office of City Solicitor,
Lowell, Mass.

November 14, 1910.

Mr. Martin P. Conley, Superintendent of Chelmsford Street Hospital, Lowell, Mass.

Dear Sir:—I have your request for an opinion as to whether the city can refuse pay for relief furnished an individual and thereby prevent such person from attaining a settlement.

It is that of a woman whose husband (since deceased) had a settlement in the town of Westford and the woman herself now resides in Lowell.

Under the provisions of Revised Laws, chap. 80, sec. 1, cl. 6, "A widow who resides in any place within this commonwealth for five consecutive years, shall thereby acquire a settlement in such place."

But sec. 2 of said chapter provides that "No persons shall acquire a settlement, or be in process of acquiring a settlement, while receiving relief as a pauper, unless within five years after the time of receiving such relief, he reimburses the cost thereof to the city or town furnishing the same."

Therefore, in this particular case, until the person referred to has repaid the city for relief furnished she cannot acquire a settlement here. Upon her offer of payment, however, the city has no alternative but to accept the same as under our law, with one or two exceptions which are not material in this case, a woman may acquire a settlement wherever she pleases.

Very truly yours,
Wm. W. Duncan,
City Solicitor.

FOUND NOT GUILTY

Man Was Accused of Murder of Senator Carmack

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 15.—Robin U. Cooper, charged with the murder of U. S. Senator Carmack, Nov. 9, 1908, was given a verdict of not guilty in the criminal court today on recommendation of Attorney-General A. B. Anderson. Thus was brought to a close one of the most celebrated court cases in the annals of Tennessee. In the first trial of this case when the courtroom was packed almost to suffocation, by those eager to hear every word of the evidence, only a few persons were present.

Attorney-General Anderson stated that he would like to have a jury for the disposition of the case and jury number 1 was called.

The attorney said: "This defendant and Colonel Duncan Cooper and John S. Sharp were indicted jointly for the murder of Senator Carmack. The case resulted in the acquittal of Sharp. Colonel Cooper and this defendant were found guilty in the first degree. The supreme court affirmed the case of Col. Cooper, but as to this defendant there was a reversal."

Judge Neil then stated to the jury that in view of the statement of the attorney and in view of the fact that there is no further effort being made to prosecute the case the jury would return a verdict of not guilty, which was accordingly done.

STATUS OF TAP LINES

Several Interesting Cases Heard by Judge Hadley

There are too many cases being settled out of court, according to Judge Samuel P. Hadley, of the municipal court, and this morning when Alfred Moehenger, charged with the larceny of $15 from Wilfred Blouin, announced that he had settled the complaint proffered against him, and refused to enter a plea of guilty, the court ordered the man to be remanded to trial.

The only witness heard was the complainant, and at the conclusion of his testimony Judge Hadley ordered the case continued until more witnesses could be secured.

According to the testimony offered, Blouin conducts a grocery store at 404 Moody street, and recently Moehenger called at his place of business and represented himself as an agent of the American Cash Register Co. The defendant, it is alleged, sold a cash register to the complainant, the latter giving the defendant a check for $25, and in return the defendant gave the complainant $10 in cash, the $15 being as the complainant supposed a deposit on the cash register which he was to receive.

The cash register, however, was not delivered, according to the testimony of the complainant, and while it was not brought out in the testimony that the check for $25 had been cashed, the police claim that the check was cashed.

Inasmuch as the defendant would not enter a plea of guilty in order to make a settlement, as had been suggested to the court, Judge Hadley ordered the case continued till Saturday.

Arrested in Dover
Antonios Trapatsas was charged with the larceny of an overcoat, watch and pair of shoes belonging to C. Coolidge, the alleged larceny having occurred on October 13. The defendant entered a plea of not guilty despite the fact that the latter admitted that the coat in question had been found in his room.

According to the testimony offered by the complainant, the goods were taken out of his room at 1 Coolidge street. He learned that the defendant, whom he claimed to know, took the articles, had gone to Dover, N. H., and reporting the matter to the police the latter sent Special Officer John Regis to Dover and Regis located Trapatsas and going to his room found the overcoat, but failed to find the watch and shoes.

MURDER TRIAL
Jury Went to Scene of Crime
SALEM, Nov. 15.—The jury in the trial of Wassili Ivankowski and Andrei Ipson, charged with the murder of Thomas Landregan and James H. Carroll in a sensational holdup in Lynn last June, went to Lynn today on a special trolley car to view the scene of the crime. They were expected to return early in the afternoon.

Edson Lewis of Salem, who was chosen foreman of the jury yesterday, was relieved from former service today because of illness. Herman Perkins of Amesbury was chosen to fill his place on the jury, and Herbert B. Batchelder of Haverhill was appointed foreman.

SKETCH SHOWING HOW EUGENE B. ELY FLEW FROM THE DECK OF THE CRUISER BIRMINGHAM IN A CURTISS BIPLANE

The dotted line shows the course of the flight, the aeroplane gliding off the bow of the ship, plunging down to the water, then rising in successful flight.

Eugene B. Ely Makes First Flight From Deck of Ship

FORT MONROE, Va., Nov. 15.—Aerial navigation proved yesterday that it is a factor to be dealt with in the naval tactics of the future. From Hampton Roads, where 15 years ago the first biplane was launched, the back waters in one battle all the wooden navies of the world, Eugene B. Ely rose from the deck of the cruiser Birmingham in a Curtiss biplane and, skimming across the lower end of Chesapeake bay landed on the shore opposite this fort, five miles away.

Weather conditions were unfavorable for flying. Intermittent rain showered out the day, several small hail showers and a continuous fog almost compelled the aviator to postpone his attempt. But he was determined to prove, as he said afterwards, that he could accomplish more than had been expected of him. Furthermore, he did not wait for the Birmingham to get into motion, which would have aided him greatly in rising, but seizing an opportune moment between showers, he was off before those on the ship were aware that he was ready for his flight, the first of his kind the world has ever seen.

Ely proved yesterday that it is possible to fly safely from a ship and after having done this, asserted with emphasis that it would be an easy matter for an aeroplane to alight on a vessel, either while the latter was moving or standing still.

Naval experts who witnessed the flight expressed their belief that the navies of the world in the future must take the aeroplane into consideration. Captain Washington I. Chambers, who has been detailed by the navy department as chairman of a board for aeronautical investigation, declared that the flight was more impressive than he had expected and he is confident that the time is near when all scout cruisers will be equipped with a number of aeroplanes. They would not be for all battleship use, he believed, but for supplementary scout work in connection with navy cruisers.

"When Mr. Ely flew with such ease from a standing ship," he said, "it showed beyond doubt that his task would have been simpler if the Birmingham had been moving." Starting out from the Norfolk navy yard at 11:30 o'clock yesterday morning on the Birmingham, closely followed by the swift greyhounds of the navy, the two torpedo boat destroyers Ross and Tenner and by the torpedo boats Bailey and Stringham, it was fully four hours later before Ely's machine was working to his full satisfaction.

The Birmingham was lying in the Roads only a quarter of a mile from the Hotel Chamberlain, but in making his flight to Willoughbyspout, Ely flew in a curve, so that although the exact distance could not be determined, it was believed he covered almost five miles.

It was 3:16 o'clock when he took the air: five minutes later he was safe on the solid soil of Virginia a few miles north of Norfolk. Brought back on a launch and placed aboard the Ross, Mr. Ely said he was not fond of the water, but he had conquered his fears long enough to remain over it in a fog and accomplish his purpose.

When he struck the water on diving off the 33-foot platform erected on the bow of the Birmingham, a propeller blade was broken and salt water dashed into the aviator's face and goggles, so that he could not see for several minutes in which direction he was going. He had planned to take a somewhat different course from that which he actually followed and land a little further to the north. The highest altitude he attained was estimated at about 500 feet. His striking the water, he said afterward, was due to a slight miscalculation. The damage to the propeller blade did not appreciably affect the machine.

Ely went back to Norfolk immediately after the flight and, if weather conditions are favorable, will attempt today a flight over the city. Tomorrow he is away to show his prowess at Raleigh.

It is understood that Ely by his flight yesterday, has won a $5000 prize offered by John Barry Ryan for the first flight of a mile or more from any ship to land.

Further experiments of a similar nature, it is expected, will be conducted in the near future by the navy department.

BASEBALL MEN MEET

CHICAGO, Nov. 15.—This is the first "big day" for the minor league owners and officials who have gathered here for the annual meeting of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues. Today the first session of the association was scheduled to begin in the Auditorium hotel and the disturbing question of re-classification was expected to be one of the chief matters brought up.

Although the Western league was given to understand yesterday by the national board of arbitration which will be in session for several days settling disputes between players and clubs that it would not consent at this time to re-classify the league from class A to class B, members of the Western league were not entirely at their ease today, due to the report current that the executive board would refer all matters pertaining to re-classification to the general meeting of the association.

Managers and team owners were engaged today in the annual conferences for trading players and looking up new material of every kind. There were several points which the board of arbitration decided to refer to the main body but these are now being forgotten in the fight over re-classification.

The Eastern league and the American association seek to be put into a class by themselves, class AA. This the others are fighting.

CATHOLIC FEDERATION
NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 13.—Reports by committees on social, religious and educational questions were expected to claim attention at today's session of the American Federation of Catholic societies.

Under the social question the so-called "white slave" traffic and the divorce evil came in for consideration. The matter of the establishment of more parochial schools was one of the principal features of the committee on education report.

WOMAN ARRESTED

A HOWLING MOB

Wanted to Lynch a Negro at Asbury Park

ASBURY PARK, N. J., Nov. 15.—Following an abortive attempt by a mob to lynch Thomas Williams, the negro charged with the horrible murder a few days ago of Marie Smith, a child of this town, the accused man was taken from the local police station and, trembling with fear and on the verge of collapse, was rushed in an ambulance to the county jail at Freehold.

The mob had been scattered and the streets were comparatively clear so that the officers in charge of the prisoner had little difficulty in getting him out of town.

Williams, whimpering and cowering presented a pitiable spectacle when he was brought from the jail which a short time before had been surrounded by a howling mob. The police had been able to drive the crowd back with their clubs capturing a sledge hammer and several crowbars. Williams denied all knowledge of the crime and from official sources it was learned that he had apparently established a good alibi. He is being held without bail for further examination and to await the inquest.

The mutilated body of the Smith child was found in the woods near her home on Sunday and Williams, who had been missing since Wednesday last, the day the girl disappeared, was arrested Sunday evening.

A NERVOUS WRECK
FREDHOLD, N. J., Nov. 15.—Thomas Williams, the negro suspect in the Marie Smith child murder and assault case was brought from Asbury Park in an automobile and safely lodged in the county jail here. The guard accompanying him was heavily armed and it was reported that every road leading to Freehold was being watched by a crowd of would-be lynchmen. The journey, however, was made without interruption.

At the Freehold station a crowd of 200 men were waiting in the belief that Williams would be brought here by train. Loud threats were made that he would never enter the jail alive but the use of the automobile followed the mob.

Williams, when the jail door closed behind him, almost collapsed in the reaction from the fear he had suffered during the speedy journey across country. "Thank God that's all over. I sure thought they would get me," he exclaimed. The man is a nervous wreck and a complete collapse would not surprise his custodians.

NERVOUS WRECK

Lynn Man is Charged With Murder

SALEM, Nov. 15.—Valian Nalbandian, the Lynn Armenian, charged with the murder of his room-mate last year, is in a serious condition in the Salem jail. His trial is set for the present term of court here, but physicians who have attended him express doubt whether he will be able to appear in court, and state that it is possible that he may not live to be tried since he was brought back from Bulgaria, to which country he fled after the alleged murder. Nalbandian has failed rapidly and the physicians say that he is a nervous wreck.

FUNERALS

COUGHLIN—The funeral of Edward Coughlin, son of Edward and Winifred, took place yesterday afternoon from the home of his parents, 624 Broadway and was largely attended. There were many beautiful floral tributes, including a large pillow inscribed "Good Bye Teddie," from the parents; spray of chrysanthemums, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Walker; spray of chrysanthemums, inscribed "Teddie," from Aunt Ann; spray of plinks from Uncle Joe. Burial was in St. Patrick's cemetery in charge of Undertakers J. F. O'Donnell & Sons.

LEDFORD—The funeral of the late Catherine Ledford took place from her late home, 711 Lawrence street, this morning at 8:30. High mass was sung in the Sacred Heart church by Rev. J. P. Flynn, O. M. I. The funeral was largely attended by relatives and friends of the deceased, who was highly esteemed by all that knew her. The church rendered the plain chant. Mrs. Muldoon presided at the organ. There were many beautiful floral offerings, among them being the following: A wreath from Gregg family; pillow from Margaret and Winifred Healy; pillow from family of deceased. The bearers were Thomas Cuff, Thomas Leary, Timothy Gurry, Edward Finnigan, Patrick Flanagan and Thomas Kennedy. Rev. Fr. Flynn read the communal prayers in St. Patrick's cemetery. Funeral in charge of Undertaker Davey.

DEATHS

HOWARTH—Frederick J. Howarth died yesterday at his home in North Billerica, aged 48 years. He leaves a widow and three children.

BANCROFT—Mrs. Mary Bancroft, aged 67 years, died yesterday at her home, 14 Alder street. Deceased is survived by two sons, John J. and Kirk H. and a daughter, Mrs. John A. Osgood, all of this city.

WRIGHT—Nahum Harwood Wright died suddenly at his home in Westford yesterday, aged 79 years. Deceased was town treasurer for 23 years, resigning that position in 1909. He was also a selectman of the town, and was a member of William North lodge of Masons and also of the chapter and commandery. He lived in Westford for 40 years.

Mr. Wright was connected with the grocery business in Granvilleville for several years, and was also associated with the firm of Wright & Fletcher, quarrymen of Westford. He is survived by two sons, Harwood L. of Westford and Henry M. Wright of Canby, the latter the principal of the English High school of that place.

MAGUIRE—Francis J. Maguire, a well known resident of Centralville, died last night at St. John's hospital, following the effects of an operation. The body was removed to his home at 4 Clifton place, off West Third street, by Undertakers C. H. Mollay & Sons. Mr. Maguire leaves besides his wife, Ida, one daughter, Miss Mary; his father, Mathew; two sisters, Mrs. B. S. Gordon of Haverhill and Mrs. F. A. Speard of Andover, and one brother, Hugh. Mr. Maguire was prominent in fraternal affairs, being a member of Court City of Lowell of the Foresters, and the Lowell nest of Owls.

ROSE—Word was received in Lowell last night that Frank G. Rose, son of Mrs. Amette Sumner Rose, who formerly lived in Andover street, this city, died very suddenly Sunday at his home in Brooklyn, N. Y. The funeral will take place Wednesday at the home of an uncle, Cornelius Van Brock of Long Island.

HENRY—Patrick Henry died at Rutland, Mass., Monday. He leaves to mourn his loss his father, Peter Henry, and one sister and a daughter in Ireland, and one sister of Lowell, Mrs. Wm. Hornby. The body was brought to this city by Undertaker John F. Rogers today.

HOWARTH—The many friends of Mr. Frederick Howarth of North Billerica will be pained to hear of his death which occurred at his home, 9 Rogers street, North Billerica, yesterday. He leaves a wife and daughter to mourn his loss.

POPULATION OF MAINE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—The population of Maine is 743,371, according to the 13th census statistics made public today. This is an increase of 47,905, or 6.5 per cent over 691,466 in 1900. The increase from 1890 to 1900 was 32,380, or 5 per cent.

The population of the counties containing the principal cities: Androscoggin county, 68,822, compared with 64,242 in 1900. Cumberland county, 112,014, compared with 100,659 in 1900.

PARLIAMENT ADJOURNS

LONDON, Nov. 15.—An adjournment of parliament was taken till Friday at the request of Chancellor Lloyd George, who said that circumstances had arisen which in the judgment of the government rendered it undesirable to proceed with the business now on the order. He added that Premier Asquith would be in a position on Friday to make a statement of the government's plans.

The house of commons was crowded to its capacity and a nervous tension was noticeable during the preliminary business of the day. The speaker at once sought and secured a postponement of the inevitable crisis.

COUNT TOLSTOI

Is Very Ill In a Railroad Station

TULA, Russia, Nov. 15.—Broken down by the hardships of a winter journey, mental strain and a rupture with his family, Count Leo Tolstol lies with a high fever in the little railroad station at Astapova, barely eight miles from his home at Yasnaya Polyana.

COUNT TOLSTOI

Tolstol is attended by Dr. Makovitsky, who was his sole companion when he left his peasant house a few days ago and who carried along with him medications for just such an emergency. Tolstol's daughter Alexandra is acting as his nurse.

Telegraphic reports of his condition are far from favorable. Indeed, they are considered extremely pessimistic. His temperature is 104, indicating probably a serious congestion, and of itself an alarming symptom in one of Tolstol's years. Moreover, the mental anguish of the patient handicaps the efforts of the physician to reduce the fever. Even if he recovers, there can be no question of his continuing the journey to the Caucasus, where he planned to end his life among the Tolstol colony on the shores of the Black sea.

The count had hoped to escape notice after his hasty departure from Yasnaya Polyana, and spend a quiet week of farewell with his sister Maria, a nun in the ancient cloister of Shmarino, in the province of Kaluga, but he insisted upon leaving immediately he found his retreat had been discovered. He drove in a carriage on Sunday evening from Shmarino to Kozelz, accompanied by his daughter Alexandra and Dr. Makovitsky, in order to cover his movements, and announced that he was going to Moscow, where he has a house. Later, however, the party changed cars and boarded a slow local train proceeding in the direction of the Caucasus. Tolstol with his two companions made his way to an unventilated third class compartment, which already was crowded with peasants. The atmosphere was stifling and he developed such a fever that Dr. Makovitsky thought it unwise to attempt to reach Dankov, the first town of any considerable size along the route. They left the train at Astapova, which is merely a flag station. There is no hospital there, and only a few peasant huts. The count was taken into the station building, where he remained during the night.

NEW YORK CLOAK AND SUIT CO., 12-18 John Street

FOR NEW CHARTER RUMOR IS DENIED

That Count Boni is to Wed

PARIS, Nov. 15.—The duchess de Talleyrand, who was Anna Gould, was informed yesterday that she had been quoted in New York as saying that Count Boni de Castellane, whom she divorced, is engaged to marry a New York woman whose father, a banker, is immensely wealthy. Plainly the duchess was surprised that she had been made the authority for such a statement.

"Naturally, I am not in the confidence of the persons concerned, so I cannot know the truth of this rumor, which I have heard repeatedly," said the duchess to a correspondent yesterday.

"Recently I said to a friend who asked me about the report, that I had heard it. I added then, and I say to you now, that if there is any truth in the rumor, I would suggest to the woman in question that before engaging herself she call on my sister, Helen Gould, and learn something more about that de Castellane."

The duchess de Talleyrand is much more concerned about a dispatch from Rome, published a day or two ago, than about Boni de Castellane's matrimonial prospects. The dispatch stated that she asked the Vatican to annul her marriage with Count Boni in order that she may go through a religious marriage ceremony with her husband, whom Americans know better as Prince de Sagan.

"Such an announcement implies that I was not married to my present husband by a ceremony in church," said the duchess yesterday. "That is false; we were married at the Huguenot church, London. I have always been a Protestant. I am a Protestant now."

Therefore, she renounced my religion. The Huguenot church was just as much of a religious ceremony as would be one in any other church. "The count de Castellane tried to persuade the Vatican to annul our marriage on the ground that on the very day of our wedding, even at the wedding breakfast, I told Count Jean de Castellane and another of Count Boni's friends that I expected to divorce him."

"The Vatican did not believe this absurd, impossible story. Now Count Boni is renewing his plea to the Vatican to annul the marriage on alleged technical grounds."

FRANKIE BURNS

DEFEATED SHEA IN A 15 ROUND BOUT

NEW HAVEN, Nov. 15.—In a 15-round bout before the Edgewood A. C. last evening, Frankie Burns of Brooklyn had the better of Joe Shea of Waterbury. Burns, by his persistent fighting, wore Shea out, but the latter is the better boxer. Burns kept punting Shea's ribs and face in the clinches.

Shea was very groggy in the middle of the fight, but came back toward the end. Nevertheless, Burns had the popular decision.

Jack Doyle of New York and Alf Lynch of New Haven met in a 12-round bout, which they fought in a draw. Neither had any advantage and a closer bout has seldom been seen here.

In the preliminary between Jackie Rollinson of Shelton and Joe Marks of Highwood, the latter had Rollinson all in after the third round, and in the fifth Referee Fitzpatrick stopped the fight. There was a large crowd present at the Casino, where the bouts were held.

DUNN'S BOUT

AMSTERDAM, N. Y., Nov. 15.—In the 10-round bout last night between Jimmy Dunn of Amsterdam and Johnny Daly of Brooklyn, in this city, the local candidate for the bantamweight championship had the better of it. Dunn has improved wonderfully, especially in fighting. Charley White, the veteran referee of Boston, was the third man in the ring.

GOLDEN EAGLE

BRATTLEBORO, Vt., Nov. 15.—H. E. White of Halifax, without the usual pinch of salt to deposit upon the tail of the bird, captured a denizen of the air Monday, and it was no less a personage among the feathered tribe than a magnificent golden eagle. He captured the bird without assistance and with his bare hands. To show that he can catch birds, eagles at that, alive, Mr. White has the eagle in captivity and will probably take it with him to his winter home in New York city.

Monday while Mr. White and William Morrison, a neighbor, were watching the eagle on a nearby tree the bird suddenly swooped downward with incredible swiftness into a flock of ducks and guinea fowl in the yard. Both men rushed at the bird as it drove its talons into a guinea hen and started to leave the ground. The eagle measured nine feet from tip to tip and was slow in ascending.

Mr. White grasped both feet of the eagle and brought the bird back to the ground, where it was bound and carried to the house. Mr. Morrison has made a cage for the eagle and many persons have called to see the bird.

The bird is a glossy black, with the exception of the golden head and shawl around its neck, which gives the bird its name. Across the shoulders is a white spot.

MINORITY LEADER

Opposed to Extra Session to Re- vise the Tariff Law

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—"The chances are 100 to 1 against an extra session of congress. Grover Cleveland once complained that he had no congress on his hands, and I guess the only reason why President Taft would not say the same thing is that he is too good natured to do so."

Champ Clark, minority leader and the most formidable of the democratic candidates to succeed Speaker Cannon, who arrived yesterday, thus dismisses the talk of an extra session of congress to revise the Payne-Aldrich tariff law. Moreover, he sees little prospect for any move in this direction at the coming short session of congress.

Even if an agreement could be reached in the house to pass an amendment to the Payne law lowering the rates on wool, to which Mr. Taft is half-way pledged, the Missouriian believes that it would be difficult to get the bill through on account of personal opposition that might be encountered in the house or senate.

Mr. Clark is of an open mind on the method of revising the tariff. He believes that the country has demanded a revision. Just how to bring this about he has not decided.

"It may be wise," he says, "to have a general bill lowering duties, or specific bills—perhaps bills they call them. Again, it may be the sliding scale of duties, like the law of 1890, might prove to be the best. There is no one man who can take the initiative and formulate a program, neither I nor anybody else. This will have to be decided by a consensus of opinion of both houses."

"The democratic party is responsible. This is the party's golden opportunity, and the party will have to decide what course is best to pursue. I for one favor the lowering of duties so that we can collect some revenue from the tariff, and I believe if the democratic party is to keep the confidence of the people it will have to redeem the promises it made in its platform."

There is one thing that cannot be made too plain. No man of any sense of any party wants to do anything whatsoever that will injure the legitimate business of the country in the slightest degree."

In the coming session of congress Mr. Clark expects to see the time fully occupied with the 14 appropriation bills. The calendar Wednesday adopted as a rule in the last session will bring in other legislation which will take up some time.

Mr. Clark recalls that the ship subsidy crowd has attempted to pass a subsidy law in the short sessions and he is on guard to stop such a bill should it be brought on the floor of the house.

As for the rules of the coming congress, Mr. Clark is saying nothing.

"It will be a democratic house, the democratic party is responsible, and the house will make its own rules," he said. He was asked what stand the democrats would take if the insurgents proposed to take the power of appointment committees from the speaker.

"That will have to be decided in caucus or in conference. I cannot decide it for the democratic side and will not attempt to do so. That shall be taken up when the time comes."

ISAAC PORTER MOON ECLIPSE

Pleaded Not Guilty to Larceny Charge

BOSTON, Nov. 15.—Isaac Porter, former treasurer of the Massachusetts Hide Co., pleaded not guilty today to an indictment charging him in eight counts of larceny through alleged fraudulent bills of lading of $65,000 from Brown Bros. of this city. Porter, who was arrested last week, was held in $40,000 for trial.

NATIONAL MUNICIPAL LEAGUE.
BUFFALO, Nov. 15.—Reports of officers and committees and the election of officers today occupied the attention of the members of the National Municipal league attending its combined annual meeting and national conference in this city. Clinton R. Woodruff of Philadelphia, secretary of the league, reviewed municipal events and developments of the past year in the light of the new municipal ideals.

"The most conspicuous single development during the past year in the realm of city government," said Mr. Woodruff, "has been the continued, rapid and widespread interest in the commission form of government and in the question of city charter reform. Municipal home rule is the most important development in this field."

Mr. Woodruff outlined the achievements of the administration of Mayor Gaynor in Greater New York. "The significance of this remarkable record lies, however, he said, not only in its decreases of its expenditures and increase in efficiency, but in the fact that it constitutes a concrete example of an advocate of a new municipal idea making good."

Will Take Place Tomorrow Night

There will be an eclipse of the moon tomorrow evening, beginning at 5.44 o'clock and continuing until 8.55 o'clock. The eclipse will be total at 6.55, and the moon will remain wholly in the shadow of the earth until 7.47 o'clock. The eclipse will be plainly visible from all parts of the city if the weather is clear.

The average distance of the moon from the earth is about 239,000 miles. The average length of the shadow of the earth is 867,000 miles. At the time of the total eclipse, the moon passed through that part of the earth's shadow which is 5700 miles wide, or about 2-3 times the diameter of the moon.

If it were possible to see the earth's shadow, it would be seen tapering off to a point about 518,000 miles beyond the moon. This being impossible, however, the presence of the shadow of the earth is inferred from its effect upon the moon.

About half an hour before the moon reaches the shadow of the earth, its eastern limb will be darkened and the edge of the shadow will seem black when contrasted with the bright surface of the moon. The outline of the shadow will appear sharp to the naked eye, but is indistinguishable when a telescope of high magnifying power is used.

When the moon is completely within the shadow it probably will have a copper-colored light, due to the sunlight being refracted around the earth into the shadow by the refraction of that part of the atmosphere of the earth which lies within ten or fifteen miles of the earth's surface.

To anyone on the moon observing the eclipse, the earth would seem to be surrounded by a narrow ring of sunlight, colored with the same hues that are seen out with double power, because the light has traversed a considerable thickness of the earth's atmosphere. The spectator on the moon would see a glow at every point on the edge of the earth, at which the sun was rising or setting. It would look like a great fire to him, great enough to be seen 239,000 miles away. At other points the light would be of red or yellow tints, more faint, but completing the circle about the globe.

If the weather happens to be clear tomorrow, the moon will appear strongly illuminated. The dark markings on its surface will stand out against the background of copper. When it is passing through the darkest part of the earth's shadow. If, on the other hand, the weather is stormy at the portions of the earth where the sun is rising or setting, the clouds will cut off nearly all the light and the moon will be invisible to the naked eye.

CITY HALL MEETINGS.
The city hall meetings scheduled for this evening include a regular meeting of the board of aldermen, a meeting of the board of charities and a water board meeting. The aldermen will have quite a list of business to consider including the mayor's veto of the joint order to sell the Fayette street school property and his recommendation for a temporary foot bridge in Lawrence street until the bridge now under construction has been built.

FUNERAL NOTICES.
BANCROFT.—Died, in this city, Nov. 14, Mrs. Mary M. Bancroft, aged 67 years. Funeral services will be held Thursday afternoon from the residence, 14 Alder street, at 2 o'clock. Friends invited. Funeral in charge of Undertaker J. A. Weinbeck.

McGURK.—The funeral of Mrs. Mary McGurk will take place at 9.30 tomorrow morning from the funeral parlors of Undertaker T. J. McDermott. High mass of Requiem at St. Peter's church at 9 o'clock.

A daughter was born recently to Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hancome of Nashua. Mrs. Hancome was formerly Miss Marion C. Kennedy of Warwick street, this city.

STOCK MARKET.
IRREGULAR AND DULL AT THE CLOSE TODAY.
Several Stocks Took a Jump—The General List Was Indifferent—Other Features of the Trading Today.

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—The opening stock market showed strength and animation, a brisk demand carrying prices upward throughout the list. Union Pacific was a conspicuous feature with opening sales of 2500 shares at 177 and 177 1/2, compared with 176 1/2 last night. Its gain was afterwards extended to 2 points. American Smelting rose 1 1/2. American Cotton Oil 1 1/2. Reading 1 1/2. St. Paul, New York Central, Amalgamated Copper, Western Union and Pittsburgh Coal & Iron and U. S. Steel, Ches. & Ohio, Interboro-Metropolitan and several others large fractions. Canadian-Pacific started 1 1/2 lower. The buying was brisk for a half hour and then slackened. None of the important stocks made any substantial additions to their opening gains but neither did they fall off to any extent when the rise ceased. Wells Fargo Express declined 5.

Strength and activity were confined to so few stocks that traders were suspicious. Reactions followed under profit taking. The advance was unexplained by news and was largely in response to the declared intention of operators to put prices up. The easing money market and the favorable trade were helpful factors. The Hill stocks were heavy on poor earning comparisons. Great Northern fell a point under "last night." The other Pacifics, except Union, were under pressure also. Bonds were steady.

Aside from a further slight drop in prices, there was nothing of interest to the market. Del. & Hudson advanced 1 1/2. While there was very little stock sold, prices continued to work lower and a number of stocks ruled below yesterday's closing.

The market closed irregular and dull. The market lay fallow until the last half hour, U. S. Steel, U. P. and Reading were then bid up again, the last named rising 2 over last night. The general list showed itself indifferent.

VETOED BY MAYOR.
CONTINUES HIS INSPECTION OF CANAL WORK.
PANAMA, Nov. 15.—President Taft was up bright and early today to continue his inspection of the canal work. His plans included a close scrutiny of the big Gatting dam. The president was delighted to find that the engineers here do not regard any of the canal problems as serious. They say that the whole question of construction is one of magnitude rather than of engineering difficulties and that many more obstacles than are presented here have been overcome in construction work in New York city.

Mr. Taft also inspected the re-located section of the Panama railroad. Tonight he will be tendered a reception by the Young Men's Christian Association and the Red Cross society at Culebra. All of the president's party are well.

LIABILITIES OF $174,011.
BOSTON, Nov. 15.—Liabilities of $174,011 and no assets were shown in the schedule of Frank E. Brooks, a real estate broker of Quincy, who filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy in the United States district court today. Of the claims against Brooks an aggregate of $168,065 is unsecured. The principal creditors are the Realty Improvement Association of Boston, $52,665 from notes; National bank of the Republic, Boston, $22,789 from notes; Bartlett Bros. & Co., Boston, $10,550 for loans; Federal Trust Co., Boston, $1474, from notes; Union Market National Bank, Watertown, $6000 for loans; and National City Bank of Cambridge, the institution wrecked by its bookkeeper, George Coleman, $1356 from notes.

GOLDEN JUBILEE.
The young girls of St. Joseph's convent will, on Friday, celebrate the golden jubilee, or 50th anniversary of the taking by Rev. Sister McMillan, superior of the convent, of her final vows in the order of the Grey Nuns of the Cross.

MGR. BREYNAT.
Lectured on the Indian Missions.

The Indian Missions of the Oblate order in the Canadian Northwest was the subject of a very interesting address by Mgr. Breynat, O. M. I., bishop of Athabaska and Mackenzie, at St. Jean Baptiste church last night. The church was crowded and the bishop's story of the hardships endured by the missionaries who are doing the Master's work among the Indians of cold regions of the north. The little band of missionaries in charge of Mgr. Breynat is made up of 20 priests who work among 7000 Indians who are scattered over miles and miles of territory. The journey between missions which are very far apart is made mostly on sledges drawn by dogs. The hardships borne by these faithful servants of God are almost unendurable.

MONITOR BADLY DAMAGED.
FORT MONROE, Va., Nov. 15.—In an experiment to test the effect of an unconfined explosion of high explosive nitro glycerine, the monitor Puritan was badly damaged in Hampton roads today after two charges of 200 pounds each had been exploded against her after turret. In a sinking condition the vessel was rushed to the Norfolk navy yard.

HOTEL MANAGER DISAPPEARED.
BOSTON, Nov. 15.—H. N. Mason, formerly a hotel manager, disappeared from this city two weeks ago. He had spent the summer at a hotel in Bethlehem, N. H. and recently was engaged by the Tennis and Racquet club, T. H. club, to be a waiter. He was greatly surprised Nov. 1 when he left a note announcing his departure from this city.

Mason was popular among hotel owners. He was at the Parker house, Boston, for eight years. He had also been employed by the owners of the Pimment hotel, Atlanta, Ga. and Hotel terville, Augusta, Ga. His wife lives in Boston.

CORRUPTION ALLEGED.
CHICAGO, Nov. 15.—A new phase of legislative corruption was taken up today by State's Attorney Wayman. He summoned Representative Charles White, H. J. Brockmeyer and Michael S. Link to testify before the November grand jury.

The three men summoned were the state's chief witnesses in the trial of Minority Leader Lee O'Neil Brown from whom White confessed having received $1000 for voting to elect William Lorimer as United States senator.

W. C. T. U. CONVENTION.
BALTIMORE, Nov. 15.—The National Women's Christian Temperance union entered on the fourth day of its annual convention here today. Organization reports continue to occupy the attention of the delegates for the greater part of the sessions. Rev. Mr. Varney, national superintendent of the W. C. T. U., reported that most effective work had been done in woman suffrage campaigns in Washington, Oregon, and South Dakota.

LIBERAL MEMBERS

Warned to Expect Dissolution of British Parliament

LONDON, Nov. 15.—Public attention is engrossed by the political crisis. At the political clubs last night there was feverish excitement over the prospect of an immediate dissolution of Parliament, for which both parties are actively preparing. It is said liberal members have been warned by the government to expect dissolution Nov. 28, two weeks from yesterday, and the first borough pollings would come on Saturday, Dec. 3.

Election prophecies credit the liberals with a gain of 50 seats. The most sanguine Tories only claim that they will reduce the present liberal majority in parliament by that number. In any event Redmond will hold the balance of power.

No political leader ever before got the advertising that the Tory papers, hoping to arouse anti-Irish prejudice, are giving John Redmond. His arrival in London last night was preceded by editorials acclaiming him as the absolute dictator of British politics returning from America with $250,000 to extract home rule from the fears and self-interest of the ministerial party.

It is evident that, in default of any other slogan, the conservatives intend to bound vigorously the anti-Irish note. Already they are predicting humiliation and disaster for Great Britain in consequence of Redmond's power to compel the cabinets to obey his behests.

When seen last night, Mr. Redmond smiled at the violent diatribes of the conservative press, and said: "The truth is that in this crisis the interests of the British and the Irish democracies are entirely one. They are both resolved to gain their political liberty by ending the distasteful pretensions of the house of lords."

"I have seen no one yet and am completely informed of the facts in the situation, but I can say that the Irish party is for an immediate general election on every ground. There is no reason why the crisis should be allowed to drag on. We are ready for an election in Ireland any moment."

The Irish party will meet today in Westminster to decide upon a course of action after hearing Chief Premier Asquith's statement.

Lord Knollys, the king's political secretary, conferred two hours yesterday with Premier Asquith, who was deciding upon the form in which he shall Harry W. Plagg read the sentence.

STEAM ENGINEERS

ARRANGED FOR THEIR CONVENTION IN LAWRENCE

The international steam engineers met last night and elected delegates to the semi-annual convention in Lawrence on Dec. 11. William E. Kenefick, John H. Smith and A. L. Horsman, the alternates chosen were William Davis, Archie Bell and C. J. Shaw. After the business session, a social hour was enjoyed and later in the evening refreshments were served. The program consisted of songs by John Mutter, John Smith, Michael Ryan and Michael Hill. There were remarks by Mr. Kenefick and President Anguiano of the local organization. The committee in charge consisted of L. H. Butterfield, John Mutter and John H. Smith.

THANKS JUDGE

FOR SENDING HIM TO THE STATE FARM

BROCKTON, Nov. 15.—John H. Conley, 57, of Roxbury, walked from Boston to Brockton yesterday in search of work. When he came to the Montello fire station he went in and told Capt. John Thompson that he wanted a warm place for the winter. Capt. Thompson telephoned the police and police court he told Judge Reed he wanted a warm place for the winter, and the court sent him to the state farm.

"Thank you," said Conley when Clerk Harry W. Plagg read the sentence.

HUNTING BILL

New Measure in Vermont Legislature

VERMONT, Nov. 15.—The Vermont legislature reconvened last evening with an evident determination of putting in a solid week's work before the Thanksgiving recess. Although the time for the introduction of bills except through committees expired last week, the revision committee still has in its hands more than 100 bills that will come in during the present week.

About 20 of these were introduced last evening. Senator Darling of Caledonia county put in one authorizing the trustee at Waterbury to erect a building to be used as a criminal ward at an expense not to exceed $20,000.

Mr. Bowles of Woodford introduced a bill which again touches on the Sunday hunting question. It provides for a fine of $100 for hunting or discharging firearms within 100 rods of a church on Sunday.

Mr. Fletcher of Cavendish introduced a measure which raises the salary of the bank commissioner from $2000 to $3000 and provides that the commissioner shall devote all his time to the duties of his office.

Mr. Burleigh of Cabot introduced a bill which establishes a state agency for distributing intoxicating liquors for medical, chemical and mechanical purposes. This bill follows very closely the South Carolina dispensary law.

Mr. Hunt of New Haven, one of the champions in the house for female suffrage, does not believe in taxation without representation. He introduced a bill last evening which provides that unmarried women 21 or more years old shall not be required to pay taxes if they are denied the right to vote.

Mr. Stafford of Brattleboro introduced a bill which appropriates $10,000 for the use of the several agricultural fairs of the state.

FIGHT WITH DOG

Brooklyn Man Choked Brute to Death

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—Thomas Meehan, 28 years old, of 126 Wyckoff street, Brooklyn, is in a serious condition at the Long Island college hospital as the result of a heroic battle with the big bull terrier today. After being frightfully bitten on the hands and throat, Meehan strangled the dog to death. There is no indication that the dog was suffering from rabies, but a thorough examination of the body has been ordered.

Meehan was on his way home, when he came upon the dog gnawing a bone directly in his path at the corner of Bond and Hoyt streets. He kicked at the terrier, who sprang at his throat. Meehan beat the dog off, but was bitten on the hand. Again the animal sprang at Meehan's throat, but was beaten off, again, after tearing the man's other hand.

The brute made another leap for Meehan's throat, this time fastening its teeth in the flesh. In vain did Meehan try to shake the dog off, and finally he realized that his only chance was to choke the terrier to death. He clasped both hands about the terrier's throat and with the strength of desperation finally strangled the animal to death.

Meehan was found unconscious, the body of the dog beside him. Meehan was soon restored to consciousness at the hospital, and the physicians said that he would probably recover unless rabies developed.

WOMAN PASTOR

SHE WAS SAVED BY A SIGNAL IN WINDOW

BOSTON, Nov. 15.—Lying in a semi-conscious condition on the kitchen floor of her home on Windemere road, Malden, the Rev. Mrs. Elizabeth M. Bruce, pastor of the Wayside chapel in Maplewood, was found by Mrs. Silas M. Spencer, a neighbor, early yesterday. Her attention was attracted to the house by a prearranged signal, the manipulation of a curtain. Mrs. Bruce was found suffering from a fracture of the right hip, caused by a fall about 3 a. m., when she arose to fix the fires in the house where she lives alone.

The woman lay on the floor for five hours, suffering excruciating pain, but managed to arrange the curtain as a sign of distress before she became too weak to move. Each morning Mrs. Spencer made a practice of looking from her window to see if there was any signal from Mrs. Bruce, who is 81 years of age.

Doctors found Mrs. Bruce in a serious condition, owing to her advanced age.

HEARING HELD HORSE DISEASE

On Receivership for St. Dr Daniels Tells About Jean Baptiste Union Treatment

PROVIDENCE, Nov. 15.—A hearing was begun in the superior court yesterday afternoon in the receivership proceedings against L'Union St. Jean Baptiste d'Amerique, the largest French-Canadian organization in the country.

The society is an insurance and fraternal order, with a membership of 85,000 throughout New England and New York. Recently the association was severely censured by the insurance commissioners of Massachusetts and New York for irregularities in its insurance business. The resignation of Supreme Secretary J. Agard, Caron of Woonsocket and the appointment of a temporary receiver followed.

The corporation is now cited to show cause why a permanent receiver should not be appointed, on the petition of John B. Brindamour, a member of the finance committee which found deficits in the accounts of several of the supreme officers, and as both sides have engaged able counsel a stubborn legal contest is expected.

A movement has been started to hold a new convention to annul the proceedings, at the last meeting in Worcester, N. H., at which the supreme officers were elected, in the face of the charges against them. It is feared that a scandal might not be stirred up or at least preventing further formation of the deposit or how they are applying hot or cold water or even both alternating one with the other freely for an extended time, adding some astringent like alum, sugar of lead or similar effective adjunct, while if any has occurred the application of the remedy absent may disperse or reduce the tendency to degeneration or necrosis or the bony enlargement so common to the coronet, cannon bone, etc.

Is Rising at a Rapid Rate

PARIS, Nov. 15.—The Seine rose at the rate of 12 1/2 centimeters an hour today. The official statement that the maximum flood would be reached on Thursday next has not reassured the river-side dwellers in this city and in the suburbs, who see the waters advancing slowly in the streets bordering the quay and fear another disaster.

The return of flood conditions has convinced the government that the raising of the parapets is but a makeshift measure and accordingly it will push the big project of a canal to divert the water in times of flood. The building of this canal will be a matter of years.

BASEBALL DEAL

Fogel Says He Got Best of It

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 15.—Dick Hoblitzel, first baseman of the Cincinnati Reds, will play with the Phillies next season, and Mike Doolan, the fast shortstop of the Phillies, will go to Cincinnati in exchange, is the statement made here by an authority that hardly may be questioned.

According to the statement in circulation, Pres. Fogel of the Phillies "put something over" on Pres. Herrmann of the Reds when he agreed to the eight-man trade.

Fogel explained to Herrmann that the right of the matter was all on the Philadelphia side of the fence and that if Herrmann did not agree to allow Hoblitzel to come to the Philadelphia side the trade would be blocked. After much argument Herrmann is said to have agreed.

Fogel today broke into print with a statement regarding the Phillies-Red deal, in which he said in substance that he believed the Phillies had all the best of Herrmann, but that he did not propose to be ignored, and if Herrmann had not recognized him in the deal he would have called the whole trade off.

Pres. Fogel's statement in part follows:

"When I blocked the original deal of Grant, Bates, McQuillen and Moran for Lobert, Paskert, Rawan and Beethle, I did so because I had not been consulted and had not given anyone authority to make the trade. Mr. Herrmann contended, however, that as this trade had been made public, it must stand. After Mr. Herrmann had explained matters to me and I had done the same to him, the way was paved for an amicable agreement between us, but not until he had assured me that he had never stated that he would force this case before the national commission or over a sold anything about 'syndicate ball' and the ownership of the Philadelphia club to anyone in connection with this matter."

"While I have this opportunity I want to, for the hundredth and I hope the last time, to assure the public that Charles W. Murphy does not own a single share of stock in the Philadelphia club and has not a dollar invested in it, directly or indirectly."

For information leading to the arrest and conviction of the man claiming to represent the Riker-Jaynes Drug Stores, and who is canvassing homes in outlying towns about Boston, selling some blood and nerve remedies, which he calls Dr. Bowman's New Blood Remedy and Dr. Hilton's Pure Blood and Nerve Remedy.

This person, evidently acquainted with the well-known Riker-Jaynes method of guaranteeing every preparation bearing our label, represents himself as an agent of ours, claiming that he is selling these preparations for us, that we guarantee satisfaction, and in case the remedies do not give satisfaction that we will refund the purchase price.

We take this opportunity of stating most emphatically that we do not employ this method of selling our goods. We never have had, nor will we ever have, anyone representing us selling goods through house canvassing. All of our goods are sold from our retail stores only.

The man has been described as about 40 to 45 years of age, 5 feet 10 inches in height, stockily built, about 165 to 190 pounds; carries bag; hair black or dark brown, and mustache cut short; appears either on foot or in buggy; fluent talker, and generally invents some plausible story to suit the occasion.

Has been seen in Whitman, Hanson, North Woburn, Woburn and South Weymouth.

THREE DOLLARS PER YEAR. TWENTY-FIVE CENTS PER MONTH

16,828

Sworn to by John H. Harrington, proprietor, Martin H. Reidy, business manager, and Alfred Pilotte, pressman, of The Sun, before me, January 1, 1910. J. JOSEPH HENNESSY, Notary Public.

This is by far the largest average circulation of any newspaper in Lowell.

Tolstoi's philosophy does not seem to be doing him much good in his last days.

These festive occasions that wind up in a fight with deadly weapons should be permitted only under police supervision.

With the two Lynn bandits on trial at Salem, it would seem that only the legal forms are to be gone through in order to impose the severest penalty of the law.

The silence of Roosevelt is getting extremely intense. Can it be that he contemplates following Tolstoi into retirement? That would be contrary to the record of his past life.

One of the world's greatest artists has passed away in the death of John La Farge at Providence, R. I. He was one of the most versatile painters this country has produced.

The feat of flying an aeroplane from the deck of a warship has been performed, and for the first time by an American, thus demonstrating the practical value of aircraft in naval warfare.

THE VACUUM STREET CLEANER

When will the vacuum method of cleaning smooth-paved streets be available in Lowell? This has already been adopted in many cities to the delight of the people along the streets who no longer see the old revolving sweeper raise the dust and rubbish in the air, spreading the germs in all directions. The success of the vacuum carpet cleaner proves that on a large scale it would be admirably adapted for cleaning smooth-paved streets.

AVIATION MEETS UNPROFITABLE

The aviation meets in different parts of the country are not proving as successful as was anticipated. That just held at Baltimore has been a disappointment financially and otherwise. The wind on Friday was too high to permit the airmen to give even a decent exhibition. The managers of the Baltimore meet state that they will go deeply in the hole financially on this meet. One of them, speaking of the results, said: "Our present deficit is about $60,000, and we expect to take in $20,000 today and tomorrow." That was on Friday. It is safe to say that such reports will not encourage others to rush into the aviation business. The meet held at Squantum this fall was the most successful ever held in this country. The aviators demand such large amounts for entering prize contests or for giving exhibitions that there is little chance to make money on them.

THE GREAT BARRINGTON ROBBERY

That robbery near Great Barrington shows that men who carry large sums of money about in public will have to be more careful. Where a man, even in company with a deputy sheriff, is known to carry the payroll of a mill along a highway at a fixed hour every week, he is taking serious chances by continuing the practice regularly. It would be well to employ an auto and to go at irregular periods. The perpetrators of this crime were not as desperate or as reckless of human life as were the Lynn highwaymen. The latter came up behind Landrigan and Officer Carroll, killing them instantly. The Great Barrington robbers did not shoot to kill but simply got the money and made their escape.

The robbery was well planned and in all probability the highwaymen were members of the gang employed on the electric railway near where the robbery occurred. They wore masks and were clad as workmen and they spoke as foreigners of whom the railway gang was composed. They may have been able to join the gang which went as a searching party and pass undetected. It is quite probable that some member of the gang knows who the robbers are.

SOME PRESIDENTIAL POSSIBILITIES

Much curiosity is felt over what course Mayor Gaynor of New York will take in the politics of the state and nation. Since the attempt upon his life he has been freely mentioned as a candidate for the presidency, but on this question he has not indicated his intentions in any way. In another quarter he is being boomed for the United States senate to succeed that political nincompoop, Chauncey Depew. There was a time when Depew could make a good speech or tell a good story, and that was his highest accomplishment. There never was much behind his speeches as he apparently paid more attention to the rhetoric than the ideas expressed or the stand taken upon public questions. It is time he were retired to give the place to a man of force and ability who will stand up for the people's rights.

There are men in New York who would like to take Gaynor out of the presidential contest by shelving him in the United States senate.

The presidential possibilities to be found among the reactionaries are Foss, Dix, Harmon, Wilson and Baldwin. These are all able and modest men. Their election has brought to the front in the democratic party a band of men whose names will command respect and wide support for any office to which they may be advanced.

It is not likely that Bryan will be considered in relation to the presidential contest in 1912, nor is it probable that Governor Folk of Missouri will be a leader in the race, although first in the field.

The result of the recent election has greatly strengthened the democratic party and improved its chances of electing a president in 1912. The eastern states are strong in presidential timber. Governor Foss of Massachusetts and Governor Dix of New York can bring strength to the party. Foss could carry the state as candidate for president, something that only a political catfeyson can make possible.

SEEN AND HEARD

"That intelligent looking boy there," said the pedagogue to the top-hatted parent he was showing over the school premises, "is Smith." "I am proud of Smith," I have inculcated in him the love of learning to such an extent that he now prefers study to play. I expect at this moment he is writing Thucydides Latin prose on that sheet of paper there, while all the other pupils are at play. I will ascertain."

"Smith," he said, "let us see the result of your industry."

"I'd rather not, sir," blushed Smith.

"Note his modesty," whispered the schoolmaster. "Come, Smith, let me see what you have written."

"I'll show you," said the boy demurely. But the schoolmaster insisted, and forcefully appropriated the paper. And there, in neat imitation of feminine handwriting he read the following:

"Please excuse my son James from school today. He is wanted at home."

Those who bring sunshine to the lives of others cannot keep it from themselves.

BURNING LEAVES

Such scented censer smoke—it weaves Up from the burning autumn leaves And trails away in aimless style While leaf breezes loiter on! And though each wondrous golden white Of all the summer-time is gone, We do not sigh as one who grieves When drifts the scent of burning leaves.

It is as cinnamon and musk, And mint and myrrh that scents the dusk, And pungent clove, and nutmeg, too, And allspice buds, all deftly blent And intermingled through and through With berries of the Orient—So do we stand and know all these As echoes of our memories.

So does the smoke that drifts away Bring back each singing summer day, And make us see the wide blue sky, With ivory clouds that slowly sail Across the sea that is on high, With sailing birds to give them hall—And forest shades and laughing streams, And all the wondrous stuff-o'-dreams.

And as the smoke-wreath lifts and veers, It takes us down the path of years, Through other summers and other springs, Until we live again the days That had been with forgotten things, Until we tread again the ways Long since grown dim as it is dusk Where drift the spice and mint and musk.

Such scented censer smoke—it weaves Up from the blazing autumn leaves, And yonder trees become tall spires, And streets become cathedral aisles Illumined by fitful altar fires That light our retrospective smiles. And through it all there glints and gleams The glory of our olden dreams.

CHILDREN'S HAIR TROUBLES

Much harm results from washing a child's head with common soaps and shampoos, as most of them contain too much alkali. This makes the scalp rough and dry, and often leads to the diseased condition which causes the hair to fall out. A safe thing to use is a shampoo made of pure Refined Soap, White of Eggs, Coconut Oil, Glycerin and Salicylic Acid. Dirts Head Wash is made of these ingredients. It removes the dirt and disencases germs that settle in the hair and on the scalp, and makes the hair vigorous and glossy. Drug and department stores sell tubes at 25c, jars 50c.

STEAMER THAT MET WITH AN ACCIDENT

was very much delayed. "What did Mr. Locke say when he found himself safe after those hours of danger?" asked a friend of the family of another friend who had accompanied Mr. Locke on his journey. "He never says the ordinary thing," "No," said the other, with a smile. "He didn't that time," I said to him. "James, we ought to make something more of our lives from having them spared to us in this way," for I felt pretty solemn. "Can you tell me, I've no doubt James did, too, but what he said was, 'William, a good share of the rest of my life will be spent in explaining to Theodore how I happened to choose that steamer when there were dozens of others that reached home without any accident!'"

THE JUNGLE FOLK

The jungle folk were waiting as they crouched around the fire. "What news?" they asked the monkey on the telegraphic pole. He raised his paw for silence with his ear against the wire. The zeek grew so excited that it sat upon a coal.

"What news?" they asked the monkey as he gibbered on the staff. "What news?" the diddle echoed as he kicked the leaves about. "By jinks!" the monkey chattered with a shrill and sudden laugh. "They've jumped upon the coal and they say they've smoked him out!"

They're dancing round the jungle with the hippo in the lead, The springbok and the rhino, and the little beasts and all, They're singing and they're shouting—they have all forgot to feed; And the big and tawny lion shouts the loudest of 'em all! —Cleveland Leader.

PHANTOM SHIP

Said to Haunt Conception Bay

ST. JOHNS, N. F., Nov. 15.—A new "Flying Dutchman," a schooner of mysterious lights that suddenly illuminated the surrounding waters, only to vanish and leave no trace behind, haunts Conception bay. The story is not a myth—its truth is solemnly maintained by Captain Smith and every one of the crew of the schooner Victor, according to Captain Humby, a fellow skipper, who arrived here yesterday from Bay of Bulls.

The phantom ship was seen as all such ships should be seen, on the mid-watch of a dark night. Captain Noh Ralph, who vouches for the story, says that a few nights ago, while crossing Conception bay, his lookout saw two lights ahead. They were apparently schooner's lights and appeared to be stationary. The lookout called the mate's attention and he in turn called the helmsman's notice to the strange ship which was dimly lined against the sky. As they watched, a third light appeared and while they wondered, other lights sprang up in unexpected places. The mate promptly called the captain and hardly had the skipper tumbled on deck than the craft of mystery became ablaze with a galaxy of brilliant illuminations.

Skipper Ralph fears nothing that shows a light, and bearing down on the stranger he ordered his men not to hail anyone on board and to approach as quietly as possible. If the "Flying Dutchman" were going to invade Conception bay, Captain Ralph was going to show it the stuff of which a New Foundland crew is made. Silently the Victor crept up to the schooner of mystery. Figures of oil skins moved silently about the stranger's decks. It was plainly seen that her main beam was broken. No sound came from the unknown. There was no audible voice of command and there was no flapping of canvas or creaking of rigging. Awe-stricken, Captain Ralph and his men looked on when, without warning, the lights vanished and with it the phantom ship. The tense gaze of the keen-eyed New Foundland fishermen could see nothing of the form that a moment ago was within hail. Not a man on the Victor could sleep that night. The light of day was welcome.

COURT MIDDLESEX

WILL OBSERVE ITS ANNIVERSARY JAN. 20

A well attended meeting of Court Middlesex, Foresters of America, was held last night in Masters hall, Chief Ranger Charles J. Martin, occupying the chair. A class initiation of ten candidates was held and there were many visitors from the other local courts in attendance. The degree staff which performed the work was composed of the following: Obligator, John H. Condon; instructor, James J. Dunn; defender, Patrick J. Kennedy; lecturer, William J. Varley, color bearer, John J. Magee; guides, John B. Kenefick and Terrence Quinn; captain of guards, John J. Higgins; soldiers, John W. Downing, John H. Farley, James J. Savage, Thomas Magee, Michael H. McNiff, John F. Harrington, Patrick J. Flynn, William J. Keenan and John J. Rourke; Indians, James H. Hickey, Charles J. Martin, Frank Brick, Frank Donovan, and Daniel H. Quinn; pianist, Henry Scanlon.

The committee appointed to revise the by-laws submitted a number of amendments which were acted upon. At the conclusion of the business meeting refreshments were served. The 25th anniversary of the organization will be observed on January 20, 1911.

DEMOCRAT WON

BOSTON, Nov. 15.—As a result of the recount in ward 24 yesterday Boston's republican representative in the next lower body of the general court will be eight out of a possible 60. While Leonard G. Roberts, republican, was given the election over Thomas P. Curtin, democrat, by one vote, the recount gives Curtin a lead of 15 votes.

SUNDAY SCHOOL CLASS

ROOSEVELT TO BREAK SILENCE

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—Col. Theodore Roosevelt is expected to break his post-election silence when he comes to his editorial office in this city from Oyster Bay on Thursday. It will be his first trip to town since the day before election. Since that time he has been trying to rest, but his correspondence will not permit much loafing. Since election day, he estimates that he has received 16,000 letters and several hundred telegrams. Some were sarcastic and others complimentary.

JOHN LAFARGE BAD JAKE NOBLE

Well Known Artist Is Shot Dead By Sheriff's Posse

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 15.—After an illness extending over a period of several months, following a minor operation performed in New York last spring John Lafarge, the artist of New York and Newport, died at the Butler Hospital here last night. He had been at the hospital since last July but it was only within the past two weeks that he had been confined to his bed or even to his room. Death was due to a general nervous breakdown and a complication of diseases.

Mrs. Lafarge was with her husband when the end came last night. The couple had seven children. No arrangements have been made for the funeral.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Nov. 15.—"Bad Jake" Noble, who shot and killed Jailer Wesley Turner of "Bloody" Breathitt county to Jackson last Tuesday night, was shot dead by a sheriff's posse in Breathitt county yesterday. Only meagre details have been received, but it is reported that when the posse, led by the sheriff of Knott county, called on Noble to surrender, he made a demonstration to resist, and was promptly killed with bullets.

Rewards aggregating $700 had been offered by the authorities of Breathitt county for the capture of Noble, dead or alive. In his 22 years he had killed three men. After the shooting of Turner, he escaped into the mountains and several bands had been searching for him.

When it was known he was hunted he sent back word: "If you send a posse, ship a coffin for each man."

LAWYER HELD

IS CHARGED WITH CONSPIRACY TO CHEAT WOMAN

BOSTON, Nov. 14.—Charged with conspiring with a tumbler in his employment to cheat Catherine Paulson of 239 Northampton street in the sale of coal, Martin Gilbert, a coal and wood dealer at 600 Shawmut avenue, who was admitted to the Massachusetts bar in 1908, was yesterday held in $1000 bail for trial.

It is charged that Inspector Sweeney of the department of weights and measures saw the tumbler, who is missing, load 3600 pounds of coal at the yard, drive to the home of Mrs. Paulson and deliver a bill for two tons before starting to unload.

The inspector had the tumbler drive to a public scales, where the load was weighed. Gilbert later sent a corrected bill to Mrs. Paulson, saying that a mistake had been made.

SOCIAL AND FRATERNAL

The members of Gen. Ames command, United Spanish War Veterans, was held last night at Memorial hall. As usual there was a large attendance and Commander George Sutherland presided. Three applications for membership were received and other routine business was considered. The Order of the Serpents is preparing for class initiation which it is to be held next Saturday night at Elks hall. The degree staff from Haverhill and Boston, 50 strong, will be present to work the degree on about 20 candidates.

SENATOR LODGE

WAS ARRAIGNED BY REV. ADOLF A. BERLE

BOSTON, Nov. 15.—Declaring Senator Henry Cabot Lodge had exerted a "most immoral influence over the Bay State for the last 20 years," Rev. Adolf A. Berle arraigned the Massachusetts senator in an address last night before the South End Congress at the Shawmut Congregational church.

"His re-election would mean a continuation of the degradation, debauchery and wallowing in the mire of politics which have been in vogue," added Dr. Berle.

The meeting was called for a public discussion of the subject, "Shall Senator Lodge be Re-elected?" But one of the speakers of the evening defended the senator.

EAGLE OR TURKEY OR 'PLANE?

(WHICH IS OUR NATIONAL BIRD?)

IN days of yore our fathers sought
A bird to serve as symbol.
They found him in the eagle bald,
A flier bold and nimble.
But "other days and other ways"
May alter their provision.
'Tis needful now to choose a bird
With scientist's precision.

THE HISTORIC EAGLE

By ROBERTUS LOVE

MY vote is for the eagle,
A fowl exceeding regal,
A bird of royal might.
He aviates the azure
So high he simply has your Men birdies put to flight.
For altitude, you take my word,
The eagle is the national bird!

THE TOOTHsome TURKEY

By CHARLES N. LURIE

THE turkey's right upon our shield
Needs no support from fables,
A noble figure on the ground
And also on the tables!
A native son, he roamed our wilds
And don't forget the ladies!

THE REALLY MODERN BIRD

He is right up to the minute,
While the eagle and the turkey
Are back numbers and not in it.
He is looking for the very

Where Millions Join With Science In the Warfare Against Disease

THROUGH recent gifts of John D. Rockefeller the enlightening and enlightening power of eight and a quarter millions of dollars, focused through the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research in New York, is to be concentrated on the study of disease. Mr. Rockefeller's latest gifts to the Institute raise its permanent endowment fund to about $6,000,000 in income producing property. The rest of the Institute's money is invested in non-income producing property, such as site, buildings and equipment.

The latest development of the Institute's activities is the establishment of a hospital for the study of selected diseases which the medical experts admit are baffling in their difficulty of treatment. In its character and its equipment it is unique among the hospitals of the world. Its primary purpose is the study of the diseases selected for investigation, through the cases admitted to its beds, but the interests of the patients are to be neglected in nowise, and they are not to be made the subjects of experimentation. In other words, while the whole world will be benefited by the results of the hospital's researches, the first gainers by its efforts will be the patients.

the microscopical tests which may lead to its undoing and its extinction. Everything within the walls is sterilized to the very last degree of bacteriological safety. For instance, in the isolation pavilion the glass doors leading to the glass inclosed rooms are opened and shut with the elbows instead of with the hands, and the air from the room passing from the outlet to the roof is sterilized before it gets there. After examining the patient in the pavilion the doctor hurries to a small room, where he washes his hands, and he turns the water on with his feet, not with his hands. In every other respect similar precautions are taken to insure the safety of the patients and to obviate any possibility of the carrying of disease by the physician.

The hospital adjoins the main building of the Institute, shown in the accompanying picture. The establishment occupies a site in Manhattan on the bank of the East river at the foot of East Sixty-sixth street, overlooking the river and the Queensboro bridge. Since its establishment six years ago the Institute has become one of the sights of New York, and it is one of the objects most sought for by the river traveler passing up the East river on his way to Long Island sound. "A little child shall lead them" might well be inscribed over the portals of the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research and its hospital. They owe their being to the death of little Jack McCormick, John D. Rockefeller's favorite grandson, who died in 1901 of summer complaint, the terrible distinguished from hospitals established primarily for the treatment of cases of diseases. Mr. Rockefeller's action filled a gap in the structure of American medicine, which held otherwise an honorable place in the estimation of the world's scientists.

The director of the Institute is Dr. Simon Flexner, a scientific investigator who has devoted his life to researches into the origin and treatment of disease. There is probably no higher authority on serum therapy and pathological and bacteriological investigation. He is a man of forty-seven and has had long experience in his chosen line of work. Before his selection to direct the Rockefeller Institute Dr. Flexner was professor of pathology in the medical school of the University of Pennsylvania. He is especially noted for his discovery of a serum to be employed against cerebrospinal meningitis.

AMERICAN FARMERS INVADE MEXICO.

P. Merrill Griffith, the United States consul to Pernambuco, Brazil, who served this government in consularships in Mexico, first at Matamoros and latterly at Tampico, said not long ago in an interview:

"Tampico is a cosmopolitan sort of place. There are so many foreigners there. It is one of the two ports for Mexico City and is the gateway of most of the merchandise imported from New York. They have recently completed a new customs house and new wharves at a cost of $6,000,000, and the latter are equipped with all the most modern appliances for handling freight. There is a great deal of heavy mining and other machinery brought into the port from New York.

"With its suburbs Tampico has a population of about 25,000. Its importance and attractiveness have greatly increased during the last few years because of the discovery of oil in the vicinity. None of the oil produced there is shipped, but is consumed by the railroads or otherwise used in the country.

"There has recently been a wonderful development of agriculture in the vicinity of Tampico. Many American farmers from the middle west are going down there and going in for raising citrus fruits or henequen and agave, a fiber similar to henequen. The price of land runs from $5 an acre up. There are about 1,500 Americans in the consular district.

"Matamoros, which had a population of 50,000 during the civil war, has dwindled to about 12,000. Importations to Mexico by way of Texas now mostly go through Laredo, Eagle Pass and El Paso."

Something Very Old and Very New From Africa. Paper Made From the Papyrus Plant

SOURCES of good available material for the making of paper, especially print paper, having become scarce through the destruction of the forests of spruce and other woods, the thoughts of papermakers and their hired scientists have been turned toward other places of supply. The search has led into the waste places of the earth, and woods of various sorts have found their way into the pulp digesters, only to be rejected as unfit for use. Now the search has led to Egypt. Perhaps "led back" would be a better term, for Egypt is the ancient home of paper. Its very name is derived from the famous papyrus of the Egyptian Nile.

Papyrus alone or combined with other pulps, is a material from which our print paper may be made in the sheet of papyrus, the process being aided by the natural gum of the plant. When the sheet dried it was the papyrus of commerce and literature.

If the papyrus plant should stand the tests and should prove good raw material for the papermaker there is little likelihood of any shortage of supply. Near Khartoum vast masses of the plant choke the Nile for many miles. Mixed with other vegetation it forms the famous "sudd" or floating mass which has defied the efforts of engineers directed toward its removal. At times navigation of the river is quite impossible, and boats have been held for weeks until a method of cutting or burning a way through the "sudd" could be devised. Conversion of this vegetation, or a major portion of it, into paper pulp would prove a aromatic, creeping root, long, sharp keeled leaves and naked, leafless, triangular, soft and cellular stems, as thick as a man's arm at the lower part and at their upper extremity bearing a compound umbel of extremely numerous drooping spikelets with a general involucre of eight long filiform leaves. The part of the plant which was used for papermaking in the past and which has been the subject of experiment in modern times is the woody pith of the stalk.

Making paper is not the only use to which the papyrus plant has been put. From its more slender stalks may be woven baskets, and light boats have for framework thicker stalks. Cordage, sails, awnings and matting, tents, etc., may be made from the fibers. The pith forms a food when boiled, and the dried root may be utilized for fuel. It will be seen that in variety of use the papyrus rivals its cousin, the versatile bamboo.

Taken individually the papyrus plant is striking in appearance and has won some favor as a decorative grass. In the mass it is also not unbecomingly beautiful, but its beauty is monotonous. Writing of the papyrus country in his latest book, "African Game Trails," Colonel Roosevelt says:

"The papyrus along the channel rose like a forest, thirty feet high, the close growing stems knit together by vines. As we drifted down the green wall was continually broken by openings, through which side streams from the great river rushes, whirling and winding down narrow lanes and under low archways into the dim, mysterious heart of the vast reed beds where sweet bird and reptile and water beasts. . . . A broad belt of papyrus fringed the lagoons and luted out between them. The straight green stalks with their feathery heads rose high and close, forming a mass so dense that it was practically impenetrable, save where the huge bulk of the hippo had made tunnels—indeed, even for the hippos it was not readily penetrable. The green monotony of a papyrus swamp becomes wearisome after awhile, yet it is very beautiful."

From Egypt to the southwestern section of the United States is a far cry geographically, but the two countries are alike in being made the subject of the paper manufacturer's experiments. Efforts are being made to ascertain whether the leaves of the cactus plant which grows so abundantly in some of our western states and in Mexico may not be of considerable value as paper pulp material. An experimenter who has devoted considerable time to the study of the cactus has declared his belief that a good paper may be made from the leaves of the cactus.

near future. Experimenters see in its ancient fame as a papermaker a warrant of their success, although the methods employed in ancient papyrus making and those used in the modern manufacture of paper differ very widely. The papyrus makers who prepared the writing material for the Ptolemies and their scribes knew nothing of the making of sulphite pulp, the use of the soda process or other present day methods. They made their paper, or papyrus, in a simpler way. They laid down rows of the pith of the papyrus plant, laid other rows of pith over them at right angles and then rolled or pressed the whole until the two layers of pith amalgamated into a been not only to the harassed papermaker, haunted by thoughts of a pulpless future, but also to the ancient land of Egypt. The papyrus formerly erected its upright stem in the waters of the upper Nile—that is, near the Mediterranean sea—but it has been eradicated there. Despite its fame the Egyptians were not sorry to see its disappearance. Cutting papyrus is not an easy task, interspersed with its stalks are other plants, and among them is a wicked sort of grass known as "boom roof," which has blades as keen as a knives. The papyrus itself is described botanically as "a kind of sedge three to ten feet high, with a very strong, woody,

Pinchot to File Brief in Relation to Patents

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—President Taft, responding to the request of Gifford Pinchot, former forester of the United States, and his brother, Amos Pinchot, for permission to submit a brief on the question of issuing patents in the Cunningham Alaskan coal land claims, has informed Mr. Pinchot that he may submit such a brief and advised him to forward it to the executive office before December 1.

Mr. Pinchot was thus informed in a letter authorized by Pres. Taft written by the secretary to the president, Charles D. Norton, and made public today. The letter is in reply to the recent communication to the president from Mr. Pinchot and his brother, expressing fear that the interior department will recommend the patenting of the Cunningham claims. Following is the text of the letter.

Nov. 9, 1910.

"Gentlemen:

"I am directed by the president to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of November 7 and to reply as follows: "On the first of June last the secretary of the interior invited the attention of the president to the Cunningham coal claims, consisting of thirty-three coal entries in the Juneau land district of Alaska, of approximately 160 acres each, and suggested that in view of the unusual character of these claims and in view of the public interest relating to the disposition of these claims the president direct that no final action be taken by the general land office looking to the issuance of patents therein without first advising the president of the action contemplated. Under date of June 9, 1910, the president issued the direction recommended and on June 8, 1910, this order was communicated to the commissioner of the general land office and that official issued orders to his subordinates in accordance with this direction. The president further directs me to say that if you desire to submit a brief on the question of issuing these patents you may do so and forward the same to this office. He is not advised when the evidence will be submitted to him, but he thinks it would be well if your brief were presented before the first of December.

"Very truly yours,
(Signed) "Charles D. Norton,
"Secretary to the President."

Lame and Blind Visit Syrian Church in Boston

BOSTON, Nov. 15.—Drawn by stories of the several miraculous cures wrought at the little church of Our Lady of the Cedars of Mt. Lebanon, 65 Tyler street, East End, during the novena to St. Anne, which has been going on there for the past week, a large number of people visited the church last evening. The lame, blind, paralyzed and otherwise afflicted came to the little church and knelt in prayer before the shrine of the saint, repeating the prayer ordained for the occasion and at the same time, doubtless, adding one of their own.

One man, grievously afflicted with paralysis that rendered his whole right side useless, his right leg crippled and bent, his right arm withered and discolored and the traces of the shock plainly written upon his pain-drawn features, knelt at the very back of the church and repeated the prayers many times in a half audible voice. Another man, aged and pale, whose wrinkled visage showed his suffering to all, hobbled into the church between a pair of crutches and knelt before the altar rail in prayer.

A blind man, carrying a light cane and led by a small boy, a woman whose strained facial expression and frightened, timid movements betrayed all too plainly the fact that she was deaf, a tiny boy whose spine was crooked and whose back was pitifully hunched and twisted were also among the supplicants.

There was a man, however, who knelt in one of the front pews, a look of happiness lighting his face. Inquiry developed the fact that he was John J. Duggan, of 411 Dudley street, Dorchester, and at the end of the services he was quite willing to relate how he had been cured of an affliction by making the novena.

"I was a travelling salesman," said Mr. Duggan, "and had dealt in most every line of goods. I was happy and fairly prosperous. Then, one day, suddenly, and without the slightest warning, I completely lost the use of my voice. Last Tuesday I recovered my power of speech."

"I have always been a church member, attending regularly every Sunday. I was attracted to the Maronite church

PRICE OF MEATS

Has Taken a Big Drop in Chicago and Other Cities

CHICAGO, Nov. 15.—The prices of beef and pork are falling. Within the last week the price of beef has been reduced between four and five cents a pound by the meat packers. The price of pork has declined about three cents from the price of 18 and 20 cents a week ago and wholesale meat dealers say that mutton and veal and other products of the packing houses may take a downward turn within the next few days.

"Prices of the first grades of beef have been falling for about a week," said Frank A. Froehling. They did not go off all at once, but the packing houses have been coming down about half a cent at a time until now the price of prime beef is between four and five cents lower than it was last week at this time and that of the best grades of pork are two to three cents lower. This applies of course to the finer roast beef and steaks, for the ordinary quality has not fallen off and I do not think it will."

PORK SHOWS GREAT DROP

are reflected by similar reports from local dealers. They say the decline has already begun, the wholesale price of beef having gone off on an average of 2 cent in the last week. This was regarded as significant by them, since no such price cutting has been experienced in the last year.

One of the leading dealers said that sirloin steak that had brought 24 cents a pound was now selling at 22 cents. Porterhouse steak, he said, was down three cents a pound, from 35 cents to 32 cents. Fresh pork products, however, show the greatest drop, the market dealers selling cuts for roasting at 18 cents a pound that have within a short time been bringing 22 cents. Lard is down two cents a pound, the price yesterday being 15 cents. The best grades of ham and bacon, on the contrary, show hardly any change. The dealers say that the stocks of cured meats are very light and it will naturally be some time before the increased production of hogs offsets this condition.

The market men attribute the relief from high prices to the enormous corn crop and the consequent low price in the cereal. Low prices of feed, combined with the past high prices of pork, they say, have resulted, as was to be expected, in an increased raising of hogs.

by seeing a notice of the novena, and having heard of the miraculous cures wrought by St. Anne at other places, I determined to make the novena. When I first came here I tried vainly to make Rev. Fr. Gabriel Karkemas, the pastor, understand me by means of signs, a form of communication with which the clergyman was not very well acquainted.

"As I knelt in prayer before the altar, in front of the shrine of St. Anne, I wept, as I thought of the happiness of speech, of the joy of being able to communicate with my fellow men. Being unable to talk I could not, of course, secure a place as a salesman, and in consequence my lot has been anything but an easy one. For one thing I have a large family—a wife and six children. But it is useless to talk of that now, for I am cured, and am once again able to return to my work, and win back the happiness that will seem so sweet after the miseries of the past few years."

"I came again to the novena the next night. Fr. Karkemas by this time understood that the seat of my affliction was somewhere in the throat or mouth, and as I knelt before the altar he gently rubbed the relic of St. Anne across my throat. It is useless to ask what may feelings were at that time. I don't know that I was conscious of any relief, but I had but one thought, to be able to speak. Again I bowed my head in prayer.

"My devotions made, I arose and passed through the church. Fr. Karkemas was standing near the door and asked me how I felt. Many times in the last few years I have tried in vain to speak. Something prompted me to try again, then and there. I did so. And I was able to answer not in a perfect manner, it is true, but still to answer in an intelligible manner. And I said that I was better."

"I spoke truly. I have made the novena every night since then, and every night I can detect an improvement in my speech. Fr. Karkemas told me of his efforts to organize a society to St. Anne, and I have my name inscribed among the first to join. Those who have never known what it means to lose their power of speech cannot realize for a moment what I have been through, and the joy that I feel at my recovery. There is not the slightest doubt in my mind but that the application of the relic and the prayers of this novena were the active factors of my recovery."

The church was founded in this city through the efforts of Archbishop Yasko, some years ago, and of late has been renovated by Fr. Karkemas, the present pastor. The sanctuary and the shrines of St. Anne and Our Lady of the Cedars of Mount Lebanon are but recently installed. The last named shrine is the only one of its kind in the world, and is especially revered by the Syrians, who never forget the wonderful cedar trees that line the valley of the Euphrates.

The novena will end tonight when prayers for the heavenly protection of His Holiness, the Pope, and Archbishop O'Connell will be said. Tomorrow morning there will be a high mass at the church, celebrated by Fr. Karkemas in the Syrian fashion, the mass being chanted in the Syro-Chaldaic with a choir participating.

The newly formed society of St. Anne has already enrolled nearly 100 members, many of whom are Americans. Miss Downes is at the head of the organization.

COMMANDANT OF MARINES
WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—Secretary Meyer is going to ask congress to limit the term of service of the commandant of marines to four years. At present the commandant serves until his retirement or death. When Gen. Elliot is placed on the retired list at the end of the present month, a temporary successor will be appointed, pending action by congress upon the proposed legislation.

THE CIVIL SERVICE WANT MORE PAY

Petition Filed by Boston Teachers

Examinations for Teachers in the Philippines

In this city, Dec. 28 and 29, civil examinations will be held for teachers (male and female) and assistants (male only) for the Philippines. The announcement of the examinations has been made by the civil service commission.

The examinations will cover two days, and for teachers will be on the following subjects: Thesis (not less than 800 words), penmanship, arithmetic, geography, physiology and hygiene, English, history and civil government, nature study and drawings, science, experience, training and fitness. For assistants the branches to be examined in are: Thesis (not less than 500 words), correction of rough draught manuscript, mathematics, history and civil government, general history and geography, colonial government and administration, political economy, education and experience. The salaries attached range from $900 to $1200 a year.

BOSTON, Nov. 15.—Teachers in the elementary schools in Boston—1228 of them—have asked for more pay, insisting that owing to the high cost of living an increase in salary is absolutely necessary. The names of the 1228 teachers are on a petition, started by Miss Adeline Murphy of the Washington school, presented at a meeting of the school committee last night.

In the petition there are several reasons for this request for more money among which, besides the "great increase in the cost of living," are "the increase in the cost of study, which necessitates an added expenditure of time and energy in the preparation for their fulfillment, and the public acknowledgment of his honor the mayor, the members of the school board and the superintendent that the assistants are at present underpaid."

Boston business men appeared at the school committee meeting last night to hear what the business men's advisory committee had to offer in regard to the petition for the new High School of Commerce. Bernard J. Rothwell of the advisory committee, also president of the chamber of commerce, spoke at length on the proposition and won the endorsement of every speaker who followed him by standing firmly for the selection of a downtown site for the building.
